REPAIRED AND GUARANTEED

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1 1/2 c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use, WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacture. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

A Stumbling Block in Charter Revision

After many months of quiet work, unheralded by press agents, the commission appointed by Governor Miller to revise the City Charter made public this week a report of its progress. The Governor's Commission has prepared a document for the future direction of municipal activities which is described by its proponents as a Home Rule Charter, but which immediately drew the fire of Comptroller Craig. This does not necessarily signify, of course, that the commission's charter is no good, but the prompt attack made upon it by so important an official of the City Administration does signify that the path for early revision of the existing charter is not yet cleared. The absence of two members of the commission from Tuesday's meeting, and the request of another member to be excused from voting on a division called for by Comptroller Craig, seem to demonstrate the fact that vital differences of opinion exist in the minds of the charter revisionists. This development is bound to prove disappointing to all who had hoped that a new charter, workable and satisfactory in its main aspects, would be adopted with practical unanimity and be ready for presentation to the new Legislature which will meet in Albany in January.

The results of the recent election probably are reflected in the week's developments. The shadow of politics seems cast over the situation. It is only fair to believe that the men who have been working for nine months on the problem feel they have been laboring for genuine Home Rule in the new charter, and quite as earnestly as those who express dissatisfaction with the result. The trouble probably lies in the fact that Home Rule is a difficult principle to define,—what one group regards as Home Rule does not square with the view of another group. Then, too, Home Rule has come to be regarded by many politicians as a useful smoke screen with which to obscure the purposes they are striving to accomplish.

Enough has come out, following Tuesday's meeting of the charter revisionists, to indicate that the traction problem is playing a very important part in the deliberations of the commission. In a way this is unfortunate, because there are many important points aside from the city's traction policy which must be considered in the work of charter revision. If the commission could agree on plans for the scrapping of useless city departments and bureaus, abolition of duplicated county offices, and increased efficiency and reduced expenditures through various consolidations of offices and the firing of many unnecessary employes, a great step toward charter reform would be taken. This done, all hands could then concentrate on the difficult task of finding the proper solution of the traction problem. But, as long as the traction problem continues to hold first place in the minds of charter revisionists the prospects for genuine charter reform continue discouraging.

Upon Governor-elect Smith now rests the chief responsibility, not only as to solving the traction muddle, but also as to the ultimate fate of charter revision. Fortunately, he knows New York and he knows the city government from the inside out, so that when the new Legislature meets he will be expected to point the way which Father Knickerbocker may safely follow in seeking relief from the existing perplexities.

Common Sense Solving the Coal Crisis

Clamorous advocates of municipal, state and federal ownership and operation or control of public utilities, railroads, the meat industry and crops, and those who would like to have Congress pass a bill providing each family in the land with a sewing machine and a radio outfit at public expense might do well to consider what has been accomplished by co-operation between governmental agents and representatives of business organizations in effectively solving the menacing situation due to the almost total suspension of coal mining for five months this Summer. The Chamber of Commerce of the United States, which has adequate machinery for obtaining accurate information on matters affecting the industrial welfare of the community at large, is authority for the statement that the coal crisis has passed and that the solution of the very difficult problems resulting from the strikes of miners and railroad shopmen was found in the participation of officials and businessmen in a campaign for quickening the natural processes of trade, production and distribution, the balancing of demand to supply by self-restraint, and by the dissemination of accurate information which guarded against undue apprehension on the part of the public. The Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the fact that "these natural processes, if they can be set in motion, can be relied upon as remedies far more effective than rigid legislation and regulation, and therein lies the great value of this effort and of the large scale demonstration in this case."

Although clothed with autocratic powers, the Federal and State Fuel Administrations have not resorted to force except in a few individual cases in bringing about an orderly and speedy adjustment of prices at mines and retail depots, and of distribution. That they had power to enforce their program no doubt made it effective with the comparatively few recalcitrants who would have liked to profit at the expense of the public. But they prevailed generally by the use of moral force in securing stability of prices, efficient handling of the distribution of coal by the railroads and equitable deliveries to such widely-diverse consumers as are represented by the people in the regions served by shipping on the Great Lakes, who must fill their bins before ice closes navigation, and the bucket buyers on the East Side of New York City, who have no bins to fill nor money to buy by the ton.

It is, of course, still necessary to be economical in the firing of steam boilers and small-house furnaces. Reserve stocks are being accumulated slowly and are still far below normal for this time of the year. Substitutes for coal must be used whenever and wherever possible, especially as the production of anthracite cannot possibly amount to more than 60 per cent. of the usual annual output. Soft coal, coke and wood to the extent of twenty-five per cent. should be mixed in with anthracite if suffering is to be avoided when cold weather sets in.

These precautions are the physical reminders of a fight that was waged to supersede the law of supply and demand by the dictates of minorities not well informed and certainly not backed up by public opinion generally.

The admirable way in which the various public officials and the business men who have co-operated with them have worked to get the country out of the threatening position into which the strikes had brought it should indicate to those who would make over the government into a gigantic community work-shop that common sense, tried business methods and public opinion formed by widespread publicity still can be relied on to function properly, even in emergencies so critical as that which was brought about by the strikes of last summer. Exercising common sense and business methods, wise public officials and men in commercial life have pulled the country out of the hole into which greedy labor leaders and uncompromising coal operators thrust it.

Politics was not allowed to enter into the working out of a sane and highly satisfactory plan for getting coal distributed before severe weather made the task doubly hard. A disagreeable and dangerous situation has been overcome by the exercise of the commonest kind of business sense, and it ought to be possible for these same officials and merchants, having the further aid of the information now being collected by the President's Fact Finding Commission, to draw up and put into operation a plan for the mining and distribution of coal which will not only avert the strike already threatened for next Spring, but which will assure the country permanent relief from this annual attack on its pocketbook, its good nature and its well-being.

State Collects $124,000,000 Taxes Other Than Real Estate

By WALTER W. LAW, JR.

President, New York State Tax Commission

FOR fifty years the main problem in taxation has been to distribute an equitable share of the burden to intangible personal property and thus relieve the disproportionate share borne by real estate. Perhaps more progress has been made in this direction in the State of New York than in any other state of the Union.

No taxes are welcome for their own sakes. But when it is realized that more than $50,000,000 is collected from corporations, $30,000,000 from personal incomes, $15,000,000 from inheritances, $15,000,000 from automobiles and $14,000,000 from mortgages and transfers of stock, and that all these sums would otherwise have to be raised as an additional burden upon real estate, it becomes obvious that we have made some progress toward equalizing the burden.

Equity means equality. Equality in taxation means an equal proportionate burden. The constant effort of wise statesmanship is to distribute the burden of taxation fairly and proportionately upon the various forms of wealth and the holders thereof excepting only in the case of exemptions allowed by law based on well-considered reasons.

The two things that are of fundamental importance in taxation are (first) the amount of money raised by the taxing authority, and (second) the distribution of the tax burden among the various taxpayers, because even though the tax levied may be a very moderate one if it is unequally distributed the burden may fall upon the persons of the community who are least able to bear it and thus become more onerous and cause more suffering than even a larger levy which is distributed according to the ability of the taxpayers to respond.

As to the first point, it must be remembered that government orders its finances differently from individuals. Mr. Householder first determines the amount of his income and then fixes his rent and other living expenses to come within the amount that he can spare. Government does very largely the opposite. It first determines the amount of its expenditures and then looks around for sources of income and fixes the rate of tax levied sufficiently high to pay its anticipated expenditures. Consequently the control of the income is exercised when the amount of expenditures is fixed.

In 1910 the taxes paid in the State of New York amounted to an average payment of $35 per capita. By 1920 the tax per capita had grown to nearly $95. The total increase amounted to 170 per cent.

Where waste and extravagance have occurred there is, of course, no excuse that should be accepted. One fruitful source of high taxes in some localities is the heritage from an overfree use of municipal credit, that is, of issuing long term bonds to pay for improvements and services which will not outlast the life of the bonds. Some mayors have been allured by the idea of having the credit of constructing municipal improvements during their terms of office, the cost of which will be borne by subsequent administrations, and it has been calculated that for every dollar realized from the sale of long term municipal bonds it will ultimately cost the taxpayers in principal and interest about $3.

Any city that will keep as closely as it can to the pay-as-you-go policy will ultimately be in better circumstances than the city that too freely resorts to the use of her credit even though the former has to wait longer to secure the desired improvements.

It should be borne in mind that the money levied by taxation is taken from the citizens by sovereign authority and is withdrawn from the channels of business, when probably if it was left with the individual it would find its way into investment in railroads, factories or other industrial use, by which it would give employment to labor and increase the total wealth of the community.

We are all taxpayers, whether we realize it or not. Some of us pay taxes directly to the tax gatherer and some do not, but those who do are very alert and astute in passing on their taxes to the ultimate consumer. The landlord can do this by including it in the rent he charges the tenant; the factory owner can recoup himself for his taxes by adding a little to the selling price of his merchandise. Indeed, no small part of the high cost of living today is explained in the rise of the per capita tax from $35 to $94 in the brief interval that has elapsed between 1910 and 1920. The cost of living affects labor, the cost of labor necessarily rises as a result of the high cost of living and the high cost of labor in turn increases still more the cost of living.

Tentative Charter Presented to Revision Commission

Draft Prepared by F. W. M. Cutcheon Will be Considered Together with "Birch Bark" Proposals of Comptroller Craig

F. W. M. CUTCHEON, counsel to the New York City Charter Commission, appointed by Governor Miller a year ago, submitted a tentative draft of a charter to the Commission at a meeting held in Comptroller Craig's office last Tuesday. The report was discussed but not adopted, the discussion giving rise to consideration, also, of the "birch bark" charter drawn up last Summer by Comptroller Craig. Both documents will be considered at other meetings of the Commission and possibly will form the basis for a new draft embodying features taken from each of them. The Commission members at the meeting were Henry De Forest Baldwin, Chairman; Comptroller Craig, Howard Lee McBain, Secretary; John J. Kellar, Lewis L. Delafield, Joseph M. Levine, Frank L. Polk, Herman A. Metz, Borough President Riegelmann of Brooklyn; George Cromwell and H. Pushae Williams. Two other members were not present. Acting Mayor Murray Hulbert represented Mayor Hylan.

Mr. Cutcheon explained that his draft was incomplete in some details, but represented four months' labor. Some of Mr. Craig's suggestions were included, he said, but he criticized the Craig plan as "simply amending the existing charter." No one but a skilled lawyer, he thought, could interpret it. He said that his proposed charter retains the present form of bi-camera government, with a Board of Estimate and a Board of Aldermen acting independently on some matters and concurrently on others. It gives the city powers which Mr. Cutcheon thought so broad that "some of the members must have been shocked and disturbed."

"The city can own and operate any public utility which concerns anything for which franchises have been granted or for common necessities such as milk, coal, ice, etc. Such powers are not limited, but provisions are made so that some check can be exercised," said Mr. Cutcheon.

"Probably some direct reference should be made at this point to the checks imposed upon the exercise of the power to commit the city to great business undertakings and upon the power of the Board of Estimate to authorize the issue of obligations. It seems reasonable considering the difficulties under which a municipality labors, practically, in the operation of public utilities and the opportunity for political abuse which is inherent in any such undertaking, that, before the city shall have the right to enter upon any such enterprise upon a very large scale, the consequences shall be ascertained as far as practicable and with a fair degree of impartiality; that there shall be ground for believing that they will not be disastrous; and that the citizens, who, after all, are the ones to gain or lose by the adoption of any such proposal, shall have an opportunity to confirm or veto the decision of the public authorities.

"For these reasons, the accompanying draft of the charter provides that before any business enterprise involving an investment of more than $50,000,000 for a single purpose, or estimated to require a gross annual expense of more than $10,000,000, shall be entered upon, a disinterested and non-political commission shall determine, after investigation, that the proposed enterprise probably will be self-supporting, taking its entire life into consideration; that both the Board of Estimate and the Board of Aldermen shall determine that the proposal is wise, and that their action shall be approved by a majority of such part of the electorate as may be sufficiently interested to cast their votes for or against the proposition.

"With respect to enterprises of less magnitude, it is provided that the ability of enterprises undertaken by the city shall be determined by engineers or, or appointed by, the Board of Estimate and that the project shall be authorized by concurrent action of that board and the Board of Aldermen. An attempt, also, to assure the financial soundness of enterprises undertaken by the city, after they come into operation, will be found in Section 2 of Article X, which directs the Board of Estimate to adjust rates and prices in such manner as (if possible) to avoid deficits, requires the establishment of a reserve fund in each case, and gives taxpayers and creditors the right to enforce the performance of its duties by the board.

"Aside from the wisdom of proceeding cautiously in matters of such moment, it is well to remember that the operation in a city like New York of great public utilities (other than a water system) would be a rather pronounced departure from any practice thus far satisfactorily demonstrated by experience to be justified, and that it can hardly be supposed that a charter provision conferring power to embark on such enterprise will prove readily acceptable either to the Legislature or to the taxpayers of the city unless so safeguarded as fairly to assure the city against abuse or mistake in its exercise."

Other features of the charter are:—

"It is provided that the proposed charter shall become operative generally on Jan. 1, 1926. No emergency seems to exist which necessitates interference with the existing City Administration, and, if proportional representation is to be resorted to, it is doubtful whether the system can be established, free from danger of attack, before an even later date. The proposed modified tax system is not to come into force until after the completion of the tax levy in March, 1926, and is not to affect matters arising in connection with that levy or assessments preliminary thereto.

"The city is empowered to engage (under the safeguards provided) not only in the operation of public utilities but in the production or distribution, or both, of articles of common necessity, e. g., ice, milk, etc.

"The City Treasury is erected into a separate department, with the Chamberlain as its head, but the Comptroller is given exclusive power to prescribe rules which must be observed in the administration of its affairs.

"The Mayor's consent to the erection and consolidation of or changes in the functions of departments is required.

"The Board of Water Supply is not abolished, but the Board of Estimate is empowered (a) to leave it in existence, (b) to consolidate it with the department charged with the control of water distribution in the city, or (c) to convert it into a department of the city government.

"The powers of the Board of Estimate as to zoning are defined and limited in general terms, but the specific details of procedure, other than by the board itself, are left to its determination.

"No provision is made for the removal of any city officer, except the Police Commissioner, by any State authority.

"Provision is made for an interim organization of departments not specifically established in the proposed charter through the medium of action by the present Board of Estimate but no provision is made for any interim action by the Board of Aldermen with respect to matters over which that board will possess jurisdiction after Jan. 1, 1926."

The question of the city's educational system has not yet been taken up by the charter makers.

Comptroller Craig declared that the proposed charter did not enlarge the city's powers but "only restricts, restrains, fetters and handcuffs" them. He argued that no matter how sound the convictions of the members of the committee of three may be, their convictions can be laid aside and made abortive. He pointed out that the presiding justice of the Appellate Division would represent only two boroughs, while all three would have the power to hold up the work which the regularly elected city officials are supposed to perform "for whatever reason that may seem important to them."

Mr. Delafield moved that the tentative charter be adopted as a basis for the Commission to work on. Mr. Craig moved

Rentals Higher, Collections Easier, Under Prohibition

Realty Expert Says Retail Stores Taking Place of Saloons Now Get Prosperous
Tenement Dwellers' Money Formerly Passed Over Bars

By WILLIAM D. KILPATRICK

Active Associate Member of the Real Estate Board of New York

A PROPHET is not without honor, save in his own country." The few realty prophets (and they were exceedingly few) who predicted the beneficial effects of Prohibition on real estate were certainly without honor in their own country. Their forecasts, based on experience and not on theory, met with scorn, derision and, to put it mildly, vigorously expressed doubt. The never-ceasing propaganda, since shown to be absolutely false, predicting the most dire results of the cessation of the sale of "booze," illustrated by the alleged loss of taxes, the 10,000 vacant, unrentable stores in the city and other fearsome consequences predicted to follow in the wake of Prohibition had its effect on the minds of owners, brokers and mortgagees, and they honestly, but thoughtlessly, believed this "booze" evangel.

The immense material benefits flowing out of the results of State or local Prohibition elsewhere in the United States, which advantages undoubtedly helped to bring about National Prohibition, were seemingly unknown in New York, and the big, outstanding results of the closing of the New York saloons on Sundays only, by Theodore Roosevelt, of revered memory, as Police Commissioner, were apparently forgotten.

The obvious is frequently overlooked and certainly nothing was more obvious than the fact that if the sale of liquor were stopped, a goodly portion of the $700,000,000 spent annually in New York for liquid refreshments would find its way into other and more useful channels. To realty men this should have been more manifest, perhaps, than to other people, for they knew full well the immense loss of rent due to the rent money going to the saloonkeeper instead of to the seller of housing space. Collections were often half cash and half hard-luck stories. They also knew that the daily receipts of the 25-foot saloon were five times and upward as great as those of other 25-foot stores occupied by other lines of business. Facts as prominent as these were entirely disregarded, and large gobs of dense realty gloom surrounded the advent of Prohibition. Even such an ordinarily astute, far-seeing body as the Real Estate Board of New York virtually joined in the Lamentations of Dire Disaster.

Perhaps it is as well that the realty prophecies anent the effects of Prohibition were painted in such sombre, funereal tints, for the actual, tangible results of Prohibition have been so startlingly salutary and profitable to real estate that the inspired character of the Anti-Prohibition realty prediction has been clearly revealed.

Prohibition is here, and although it is anything but honestly enforced, its benefits to realty have been enormous. In the increased rents of retail stores in every part of the city it is worth untold millions to property owners. The money which formerly found its way into the saloon cash register is now devoted to the buying of wearing apparel, shoes, hats, furniture, food and other necessities of life, as well as luxuries. Former saloons renting for $1,800 are now renting for $4,800 for other lines and $40 stores are producing $125. Despite these higher rents, retail dealers are at last making profits which put them in the realty purchasing class. They are buying on all the avenues for occupancy, and likewise for investment.

The big depression following the wild days of 1919 and 1920 was certainly not reflected in the retail store situation. The benefits of Prohibition to the wholesale merchant, jobber and manufacturer were reflected in the rentability of lofts, warehouses and factories. Other lines of business, professions and trades, transportation, etc., were likewise indirectly benefited. The change in the collection of tenement rents, in spite of the Rent Laws, (the vicious effects of which latter will be felt in the community for years to come) is most marked, rents being paid, as a rule, very promptly. Instead of the old, worn-out excuses and subterfuges, the collector gets real coin. Little Jimmie is no longer sent by his mother to the corner saloon on Saturday night to tell his father that "the agent's waiting for the rent." Nor does he run back from the saloon with the insolent message, "Pop says tell the agent to go to Hell." The wife and mother now has the money to pay the rent and she has the money to clothe and feed her family and thereby heavily increase the business of the retailer so that he in turn can readily pay a very much higher rent. By the same token the wife and mother can now save money and, since Prohibition came, the deposits in savings banks have most heavily increased, which deposits were placed in mortgage loans at the time when they were most sorely needed. To what extent Prohibition is responsible for these increased deposits and consequent mortgage money cannot be determined, but certainly it was a most important factor.

One fault to be found with the beneficent effects of Prohibition on real estate is the fact that it has upset former calculations of value. In the matter of income, which determines values, the so-called "poor sections" are equalling and even outstripping the more pretentious locations. When two 25-foot Second Avenue corners, located in the poorest part of that thoroughfare, produce gross annual rentals of $11,000 and $12,000 respectively, and First Avenue corner stores rent for $5,000, and inside half stores rent for $150 each or $3,600 for twenty-five feet, it becomes a difficult task to reconcile the extreme difference in values between the "poor" and "good" neighborhoods.

Any change in the Prohibition Law, except more drastic enforcement, would be a body blow to the prosperity of New York real estate and to the assessed valuation. When New York can go through a serious business depression following a period of wild inflation without a host of vacant retail stores and, in addition, the rental values of which were greatly enhanced, such abnormal but excellent condition speaks in thunder tones of the marvelous value of that most unjustly maligned national life saver, National Prohibition.

Realty men should be foremost in the field to uphold the Eighteenth Amendment from purely selfish motives, and they will be supported by the great body of the people as it begins to be realized more and more that the staggeringly big sums uselessly and harmfully handed over to the saloon keepers to enrich a chosen few are now distributed among the people at large, so that millions benefit not only financially but in every possible good and useful manner.

The abolition of slavery has heretofore been the shining star of the United States of America, but that star now has a rival in the lustre and glowing radiance of the star of National Prohibition.

Revision Commission Gets Tentative Charter

to amend the motion to have the charter "received and made part of the record." He demanded a roll call on this motion, which was lost by a vote of 7 ayes to 6 noes, one being absent and one not voting. The Comptroller pointed out that it was necessary for haste in order to get the charter in the hands of the Governor for consideration before Jan. 1. He then made a motion that his own charter be taken up for consideration, page by page.

"I know the Legislature expects to receive a new charter," said the Comptroller, "and if this one is not acceptable I will have to go direct with my own charter." It was finally agreed to hold another meeting to consider both charters.

Fifth Avenue Association Awards Medals For Buildings

Architects of New and Altered Prize Structures in Mid-Town Zone Also Given Certificates for Meritorious Work

THE Fifth Avenue Association's annual medal award for the best new and altered business buildings in the Fifth Avenue section during the year 1922, was made at the Fifteenth Anniversary Dinner of the Association, which was held at the Waldorf-Astoria on Tuesday, November 14.

Hon. Will H. Hays, President of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, presented the Association's medals to the owners of the buildings, which were erected or altered in the year 1922, and which in the opinion of the Board of Directors, upon the recommendation of its Committee on Architectural Harmony, deserved the same. The awarding of these medals was quite a hard task as there was considerable building activity in the Fifth Avenue section during the year.

The Committee on Architectural Harmony of the Association, under the chairmanship of Douglas L. Elliman, consists of Mr. Elliman, F. B. Conover and John Sloane as the lay members and Robert D. Kohn, Eliot Cross and Harry C. Ingalls, representing the New York Chapter of the American Institute of Architects, as the professional members.

The Committee inspected every building which could possibly be considered in this connection, the lay members and the professional members making their inspections separately, after which they held a joint meeting and agreed to recommend to the Board of Directors the awarding of the medals to the following:

New Buildings—First prize: Gold medal and diploma to the United States Mortgage and Trust Company for its building at 940 Madison Avenue; second prize, silver medal and diploma to the Ret Realty Company for its building known as the Thibaut Building, at 269-71 Madison Avenue.

Altered Buildings—First prize: Gold medal and diploma to Franklin Simon & Co. for their altered building, at 414-20 Fifth Avenue; second prize, silver medal and diploma to Gustavus T. Kirby for his building known as the American Art Association and Gallery, at 571-91 Madison Avenue.

The Architectural Harmony Committee in making the recommendations for the altered buildings, attached considerable importance to the locality in which the building had been altered with the view of determining the effect on the locality.

Following the usual custom, a certificate of merit was issued to the following architects for the artistic qualities produced by them in the buildings for which the awards were made: Henry O. Chapman, as architect of the United States Mortgage & Trust Company Building; Trowbridge & Livingston, as architect of the Thibaut Building; Nocsarsulmer & Lehlbach, architect of the Franklin Simon Building; Joseph D. Leland & Co, architect of the American Art Association and Gallery Building.

While the announcement of the awards was one of the principal events of the Fifth Avenue Association's dinner, Police Commissioner Enright, in analyzing the traffic problem, declared that the estimated increase in automobile traffic this year over last year is between 30 and 33 per cent. "We are at the end of our rope under present conditions," the Commissioner said. "We have cut down sidewalks, made one-way streets and formulated drastic street regulations, but the situation is getting intolerably worse. Something must be done at once."

FIRST PRIZE, NEW BUILDING, 940 MADISON AVENUE

SECOND PRIZE, ALTERED BUILDING, 571-91 MADISON AVENUE

Architect—Joseph D. Loland & Co.

"Among the suggestions which have been made is that the Sixth Avenue elevated be torn down and put underground. This would open up a thoroughfare, now impeded by elevated posts, which would take part of the overload of Broadway and Fifth Avenue. It would result in the opening up again of a territory along Sixth Avenue which has gone to seed.

"Second Avenue is the natural outlet of the Bronx and if the elevated on that thoroughfare was removed it would facilitate the movement of traffic.

"The situation along West Street and environs is intolerable.

Trucks wait in line for hours and their expense constitutes a part of the overhead which is added to the cost of commodities. It has been suggested that a viaduct eighty feet wide be constructed from the Battery to Fifty-ninth Street. The whole expense of this should not be borne by the city now, but by a bond issue extending over a period of years.

"Why not have a board empowered to take up city planning, giving attention, for example, to Queens? Paris has such a board, and the results of its work justify its existence."

Martin W. Littleton was the other speaker.

New Palatial Hospital Designed for Fifth Avenue

FIFTH AVENUE, always a center of interest, is about to add another premier building of its kind to the city's structural attractions. A group of prominent physicians and surgeons have incorporated under the name of the Physicians' Medical Hotel Company and will erect what might be characterized as a hospital de luxe at the south corner of Fifth Avenue and 103d Street. The total cost of land and building will be about $1,500,000.

It is planned to make the hospital an eight-story building that will embody the newest improvements in hospital construction and equipment. There will be four hundred rooms. No architect has yet been chosen. The site is opposite Central Park and the situation will insure permanent light and as much quietude as is obtainable in the city. The plot is 100x175.

It was sold by the Duone Realty Company, which is composed of August Heckscher, Arthur Brisbane, Louis J. Horowitz, president of the Thompson-Starrett Company; J. E. R. Carpenter, architect; and A. J. Smith.

Discussing the project, Lawrence B. Elliman, of the real estate firm of Pease & Elliman, who negotiated the sale, said: "The building will be the largest private hospital in the United States and the only one of its kind in the world. The physicians interested have banded with a group of wealthy men and philanthropists to make the project successful. There are to be no free patients. Persons from other parts of the country who, coming to this city for medical attention and who otherwise would stay at the best hotels, will be able to get the most advanced medical aid."

Queens Demands More Coal for Increased Population

QUEENS Borough should receive at least a ten per cent. greater allotment of anthracite coal for domestic use this Winter than it received last year, because its population has increased that much this year as a result of the enormous construction of new homes of every description in every section of the Borough," said Walter I. Willis, Secretary of the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, at a conference with A. J. Learoyd, District Fuel Administrator, and Samuel Drummond, Assistant District Fuel Administrator for Brooklyn and Queens, attended by many of the coal dealers in Queens Borough, representatives of the Flushing United Association, and John B. Reimer, William T. Yale, and George H. Willcockson, representing the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Willis stated that while the United States' Census of 1920 showed Queens to have 469,000 residents, its population in January, 1923, will be at least 600,000, an increase of 131,000 or 28 per cent. in three years' time. During the past three years plans have been filed for new buildings in Queens to cost nearly a quarter of a billion dollars.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Large Vacant and Improved Parcels on Washington Heights and in Bronx, Together with Varied General Dealing, Made Bulk of Business

THERE was good volume to the dealing in real estate this week, although there were no spectacular transactions.

Numerous good sized deals were effected and the general trend of the market showed a strong undertone. The selling and reselling of large vacant tracts, among them corner plots, in both Washington Heights and in the Bronx, continues to be a striking feature of the situation. Most of these purchases are for the purpose of improvement with apartment houses. A large new elevator apartment house on the upper West side was sold to an investor, while an old time builder bought a large site for a new apartment house in the same region.

A good sized building on a single lot and near Fifth Avenue found a new owner as did some choice dwellings near the same avenue, one dwelling bringing about $150,000. It develops that Marshall Field is not the buyer of the dwellings near his new home site that were recently reported sold. Among the outstanding sales were those of the Palermo apartment house in East 57th Street, numerous six-story apartment houses on Washington Heights, Bretton Court apartments in West Harlem, and some especially good sales in upper and lower Park avenue. There was good dealing in old tenement houses throughout the city. A few small business buildings figured in the general dealing. A theatre and store building in the heart of the Bronx changed hands. There were also some strong purchases of new apartment houses there as well as the sale of several good taxpayers containing stores.

Eugene Higgins closed a 95-year lease of eleven buildings in West Harlem, at a graduated rental, over a term divided into six parts. Mr. Higgins is famous for long term leases of numerous choice parcels of real estate he owns in this town. Numerous entire buildings in divers parts of the city were leased for long terms also.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week, was 91, as against 93 last week and 49 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th st was 29, as compared with 22 last week and 17 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th st was 62, as compared with 71 last week and 31 a year ago.

From the Bronx 53 sales at private contract were reported, as against 35 last week and 29 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 658.

Special Meeting of New York Title

At a special meeting of the board of directors of the New York Title & Mortgage Co., held on November 8, it was recommended to increase the capital stock of the company from $1,000,000 to $5,000,000. The increase will take the form of a stock dividend of $500,000, with rights to purchase $500,000 newly issued stock at par. The stockholders will hold a special meeting, at noon, on December 7, at the company's main office, 135 Broadway, to vote on the recommendation.

The satisfactory financial position and current earnings of the company, along with the continued expansion of its operations, including the growth of the American Trust Co., make opportunities for the profitable use of more working capital. The increase would provide for some appropriate special distribution to stockholders on account of the company's accumulated undivided profits.

The transfer books will be closed on December 5, at 3 o'clock p. m. and reopened on Friday, December 8, at 10 o'clock a. m. The shares offered for subscription to stockholders will be issued or paid for on or before January 2, 1923, at the office of the company, 135 Broadway.

Such of the stockholders as cannot personally attend the stockholders' meeting will send their proxies to the secretary, appointing George Zabriskie and Morgan J. O'Brien, Jr., or either of them, their attorneys for the purpose of voting upon the stock held by them, at the meeting. Harry A. Kahler is president of the New York Title & Mortgage Co.

Old Builder Buys on West Side

Abraham Ruth, old time Heights builder and operator, bought 166-174 West 86th st, five 4-sty and basement brick and stone dwellings, on a plot 100x102.2, adjoining the southeast corner of Amsterdam av. On the site the new owner will build a large apartment house.

The properties were acquired from Hennie D. Fuld, Henry L. Liebmann, the Bulwark Realty Corporation and Josephine A. Thibaut.

Notable Sale on Park Avenue

Another tall apartment house is to be built on lower Park av. The Joint Ownership Construction Co. (Frederic Culver, president) has purchased as a site for the operation the three old dwellings at 69, 71 and 73, on the east side, between 38th and 39th sts. from Walter P. Bliss and Joseph E. Stevens. The site fronts 65 feet on the avenue and has a depth of 115 feet. W. Albert Pease was the broker.

Plans for the apartment house are being prepared by Walker & Gillette, architects. The suites will be of various sizes, from 3 to 16 rooms, and will include both duplex and those with the rooms all on one floor. The entire project, including land and buildings, will involve an outlay of about $1,000,000. The house will be sold on the 100 per cent. joint ownership plan. Suites to the value of $150,000 have already been subscribed.

Tenant Buys Third Avenue Parcel

Henry Hof sold for a client of Irving Katz, attorney, 574 Third av, a 4-sty brick flat with store, on a lot 20x73, to James J. Tighe, tenant of the store in the building. It adjoins the southwest corner of 38th st.

More Cooperative Apartments

Joint Ownership Construction Co. (Frederic Culver, president) will erect another "100 per cent. joint ownership" apartment house on the upper East Side. For the site of the proposed structure the company has bought from James E. McGuire & Co. 168-172 East 74th st, a plot of 90.2x102.2 feet between Lexington and Third avs through Douglas Gibbons & Co.

The plans for the new building are being prepared by Walker & Gillette, architects, and call for a structure of 9 stories containing four apartments to a floor, two of 5 rooms and 2 baths and two of 6 rooms and 3 baths. There will be also some duplex apartments, but the number of them has not been decided. The house will be ready for tenants, according to present indications, on December 1, 1923.

Brown Resells the Palermo

Frederick Brown has resold the 9-sty Palermo apartment house, 125-129 East 57th st, to Marcus Daly and Paul I. Kiernan through the Brown, Wheelock-Harris, Vought & Co., Inc. The seller purchased the property about a month ago through the same brokers.

In searching the title an interesting history of the site was revealed. In 1801 the Mayor of New York conveyed to John Wheeler 23 1/3 acres of land in the vicinity, and the site of the property just sold was a part of the conveyance. The cost of the acreage was $560, which reduced to city lots brought the Palermo site down to a valuation of about $5. In 1885 Anthony La Porte sold the property to the late Benjamin McAlpin for $250,000. The present sale shows an increase of about $100,000 over that figure.

Company Buys in Nassau St.

There has been formed the 118 Nassau Street Corporation with J. Drucker, J. B. and A. Engel as directors. The property is a 5-sty building with stores, 19x79.2, between Ann and Beekman sts.

Bronx Hospital to Enlarge

The Bronx Hospital, which for 2 1/4 years had been at the southwest corner of Fulton av and 169th st, has purchased an additional plot, 170.79x145.9, on the east side of Fulton av, about 151 feet south of 169th st. This gives the hospital a frontage of about 211 feet at this point as a site for a main building which it is planned to erect. The holdings on the west side of the avenue will be utilized as a site for a maternity hospital, a nurses' training school and dormitories to be designed by Louis L. Abramson, architect.

The latest purchase was made from the John Eichler Brewing Co. The plot was sold by six Indians in 1684 to Col. Morris, who held it until 1848, when he conveyed it to a James Herold, from whom the Eichler Brewing Co. acquired it more than 50 years ago.

R. E. Board Dinner

Kantrowitz were the brokers.

The theatre has a seating capacity of 900 and was built by the Kramer Construction Co. in 1911. It is under lease until August, 1925, to the Yiddish Players, a stock company producing plays exclusively in Yiddish.

Another Real Estate Course at West Side Y. M. C. A.

W. H. Wyckoff, who has been appointed director of the Real Estate Training Courses for the West Side Y. M. C. A., announces that another Real Estate Course is now being planned to start about January 10, 1923.

This season there are to be 16 lectures, taking up the subject of real estate management, appraisals, mortgages, office management, rentals, sales, insurance, advertising, and three lectures on real estate law. Each one of these lectures is to be given by a man who has made a specialty of the branch of the business on which he is to speak. It is expected that the list will be completed very soon, at which time the Y. M. C. A. will start enrollment for the course.

Slawson Buys Apartment House

Levi H. Slawson purchased for investment a two-story and basement elevator brick apartment house 140 to 146 West 58th st. on a plot 72x100.5. Joseph Schwartz, Julius Vogel and Jacob Schultz bought from the Clark estate the southwest corner of Broadway and 176th st., fronting 100 feet on Broadway and 250 feet on the street. They will improve the plot immediately with two elevator apartment houses. M. I. Strunsky and Brown, Wheelock-Harris, Vought & Co. were the brokers.

Jules Nehring sold for Louis Haberstroh the southeast corner of 188th st and St. Nicholas av. a plot of about 5 1/4 lots, fronting 115 feet on the avenue. Mr. Haberstroh purchased the lots about 30 years ago and erected a residence and stable. The property is to be improved with an apartment house.

Lebanon Hospital to Move

Lebanon Hospital, which since 1889 has been located at Westchester and Cauldwell avs., will move further north. Negotiations are being conducted with Louis Gold & Co. to obtain options on a block of lots in the former Watson tract in the neighborhood of Elder av and 172d and 173d sts.

The trustees of the institution have long felt the need for a larger plant, and the proximity of the present hospital to the noisy elevated railroad on Westchester av has also influenced the trustees in their determination to seek a better neighborhood. The institution was founded in 1889 by the late Jonas Weil, of Weil & Meyer, who was its first president. The hospital plans to erect fine modern buildings when it decides on a site.

Resale of Bronx Tract

The Pujo Realty Co. (G. T. Brady, president) purchased about 24 lots, being part of the five blocks recently purchased by S. H. Golding and associates from Col. Archibald Rogers and lying between the Grand Concourse and Morris av. 169th and 170th sts. The site just sold is on the west side of Grant av. 100 feet north of 169th st. and extending to within 100 feet of 170th st. This involves a frontage of approximately 600 feet.

The buyers plan to improve half of the property with apartment houses and will dispose of the remainder in 100-foot plots to builders.

Sell Large Bronx Corner

Samuel Kronsky, with Jacob & Emil Leitner, Inc., resold for the New York Protestant Episcopal Public School the 6-sty walk-up apartment house, 157x100, at the northwest corner of University av and 179th st. The structure was held at $400,000 and returns an annual rental of approximately $70,000.

The new owner is the Spear Construction Corporation (Louis E. Kleban, president), who was represented by Philip Shapiro, attorney. The school, which was represented in the deal by Taylor, Jackson, Brophy & Nash, attorneys, purchased the property last July from the Weewin Construction Co.

Buyers Bronx Theatre Building

Louis Gold & Co. bought from Alfred E. Marling and Walter C. Noyes, as receivers for the American Real Estate Co., the Bronx Theatre building, southwest corner of Melrose av and 150th st. a 3-sty building, containing 4 stores, 15 large offices and a theatre having a seating capacity of 1,800 persons. It has a frontage of 100 feet on Melrose av and 175 feet in 150th st. This building was erected in 1912, in connection with the adjoining Arcoo building, by the American Real Estate Co. The theatre is now occupied by Miners Burlesque, whose lease expires in 1924. Jacob and Emil Leitner were the brokers.

Bronx Corners in a Trade

Max N. Natanson sold through M. Lefkowitz to the Koenig Improvement Co., Inc., for immediate improvement, the taxpayer site comprising the block front on the north side of Tremont av. between Crotona Parkway and Honeywell av. fronting 110 feet on the former and 100 feet on the latter, with a frontage of 124 feet on Tremont av. It was held at $67,500. In part payment Mr. Natanson took the 1-sty taxpayer, nearing completion, at the northwest corner of 119th st and Tinton av. with a frontage of 95 feet on the street and 50 feet on the avenue. It contains 9 stores and was held at $60,000.

Take Profit on Broadway Corner

Samuel Brenner sold the northeast corner of Broadway and Duane st to Samuel Goldstein. The property is a 5-sty stone and brick business building, 25x100. Mr. Brenner acquired it together with the building at 327 Broadway about a month ago from the Barclay estate. The property was held at $250,000. Spotts & Starr were the brokers.

Bronx Builder Buys and Sells

Samuel Shapiro, Bronx builder and operator, bought from the Gracel Building Corporation the block front on the north side of 169th st. between Morris and Grant avs., 200x100, on which he will erect two 5-sty apartment houses containing 90 apartments having stores.

From the same interests he bought the plot, 50x100, at the northeast corner of Crotona av and 183d st for improvement with a 1-sty taxpayer containing 9 stores.

From the Witlyn Operating Co. Mr. Shapiro bought the southeast corner of Teller av and 165th st, 50x102; and the southwest corner of Findlay av and 166th st, 51x100. He will improve these parcels, each with a taxpayer to contain 9 stores.

Mr. Shapiro sold the northeast corner of Third av and Lorillard pl. a 1-sty taxpayer with 8 stores, 123x53, held at $35,000, and renting for $6,000, to J. Horowitz through Grudin & Sawditch. It was purchased by the seller last April and remodeled.

The same operator bought the southeast corner of Convent av and 128th st, Manhattan, a taxpayer on a plot 112.6x85.5 irregular and containing 11 stores.

Buyers Fine Apartment Plot

A syndicate headed by J. E. R. Carpenter purchased the plot, 100x100.5, at 2-8 East 95th st, on which it will erect a 9-sty apartment house containing 4 suites on a floor, two containing 7 rooms and two with 6 rooms. The seller of the site was the Ninety-Fifth Street Corporation, Albert S. Ridley president. Pease & Elliman were the brokers.

This will be one of the first buildings erected under the amended zoning act which restricted the height of the buildings in the block between Fifth and Madison avs. south of 96th st. Compliance with this law will necessitate a setback of the two upper floors. This will give roof gardens to the occupants of these floors. The house will be ready for occupancy September 1, 1923. The brokers have been appointed renting agents.

Fine Park Avenue Corner Sold

Thomas A. Howell, sugar merchant, sold his residence at the northeast corner of Park av and 64th st, held at about $300,000. It is a 5-sty American basement dwelling, 21x100. Douglas Gibbons & Co. were the brokers. The buyer will occupy.

The houses were held at $550,000 and were said to return an annual rental of about $90,000.

See No Tendency to Reduction in Mortgage Money Rate

Leaders in Loan Business Say That While a Few Big Recent Transactions Were at 5 Per Cent. the Prevailing Figure Is 5½ to 6 Per Cent.

THE appearance during the last three months of a limited amount of five per cent. mortgage money in New York City has aroused the belief and hope in the minds of many property owners and borrowers on mortgage that this rate of interest would soon be the prevailing one. It seems, however, that this will not be the case. A few lending institutions a while ago loaned large sums, on long terms, at five per cent. per annum, the attendant features being unusually attractive to them. There has been no general slump in the rate. Inquiry by THE RECORD AND GUIDE in various quarters shows that the tendency is for the rate to go no lower than five and one-half per cent. In some instances six per cent. per annum still obtains.

A survey of the situation by some of the leading men and institutions in the mortgage loan business follows:

JOHN J. PULLEYN, President of The Emigrant Industrial Savings Bank: "I see no prospects, immediate or remote, of a general prevalence of five per cent. mortgage money. A while ago, some of our distinguished contemporaries in the savings bank business cut the rate to five per cent. per annum on some unusually large loans for long terms. They could well afford to do so on such conditions. They have not, however, tempted the general borrowers on mortgage with any such rate. In fact, these same institutions have practically withdrawn from the mortgage market lately. The test of the mortgage rate, it strikes me, is in the prevalence of it; and there certainly is not a prevailing five per cent rate. The Metropolitan and the Prudential life insurance companies are getting six per cent. per annum for some of their loans and five and one-half per cent. for others. So are other lending institutions. So far as this bank is concerned it is doing business at the prevailing rate of five and one-half per cent."

WILLIAM A. WHITE & SONS: "The five per cent. mortgage market has come and gone. Its life was brief and its activity was confined to a few large loans running from the hundreds of thousands of dollars to a million. With money generally in such good demand there is no necessity for a general trend to five per cent. mortgages. The economic situation has made the five and one-half per cent. mortgage the prevailing one. There has been a drop, it is true, to a degree, from six per cent. for the same reasons that there has been a recession from higher prices of other commodities. The level is now five and one-half per cent. That is the whole story."

CHARLES F. NOYES COMPANY: "There is considerable five per cent. money in the market, to apply to properties where the fee values are greater than the mortgage sought. How long it will remain I do not care to predict. Any real estate man who in this stage of the world's affairs calculates more than from sixty to ninety days ahead is rash. A five per cent. loan, just now, must be on premier parcels for long terms. The money market is uncertain generally. With German marks and French francs liable to depreciate who will say what adjustment of the money situation here will occur?"

RANDALL SALISBURY, head of the Mortgage Department of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company: "The prevailing rate for mortgage money now is five and one-half per cent. per annum. This is no higher, in proportion, than four and one-half and five per cent. that obtained before the World War.

Owners are getting much higher rentals and far better returns on their investments than they did in the pre-war period. Five and one-half per cent. is a liberal rate in the circumstances. Six per cent. per annum is still obtained by some of the life insurance companies and borrowers are glad to get money even at that rate.

"The five and one-half and six per cent. rate of interest has resulted in a lot of overbuilding of all kinds throughout the city. There is no such over-production as characterized the market after the first rapid transit route was opened. Builders generally are not offering free rent for several months as an inducement to rent apartments. They are drawing high rents right from the beginning and they are tax exempt to a degree. Neither they nor buyers should complain of five and one-half per cent. money."

DOUGLAS L. ELLIMAN: "There is no marked tendency for mortgage interest rates to go lower, although there is some five per cent. money, here and there, in small amounts. So far as building loans are concerned there must be a marked reduction in building costs if there is to be any profitable building done in this city. I think five and one-half per cent. per annum will be the standard interest rate for some time to come, although I am not assuming the role of a prophet. The mortgage market is subjected to varied influences, but five and one-half per cent. looks as though it had come to stay, so far as Manhattan is concerned."

CHARLES E. COVERT, President of the U. S. Title Guaranty Company: "Speaking for Brooklyn and Long Island generally, I would say that there is no five and one-half per cent. money, let alone five per cent. money, in sight. Six per cent. per annum for mortgage loans still obtains on the East side of the East River. There were a few large loans in Brooklyn, a while ago, at five and five and one-half per cent., but they were exceptional. Money is apt to hold tight for the rest of the year, with the result that the interest rate will harden rather than soften."

LAWRENCE B. ELLIMAN, of Pease & Elliman: "There is not now and there is no immediate probability of five per cent. mortgage money as a steady thing. True, there were a few large five per cent. loans made during the last few months; but, they were made for long terms and the rate was satisfactory considering the amounts loaned and the terms. The few banks that made five per cent. loans this year have ceased doing so. Five and one-half per cent. is the prevailing rate in Manhattan. It is on occasion six per cent. in other boroughs. I do not look for any further lowering of the mortgage rate in Manhattan."

EDWARDS, DOWDNEY & RICHART: "It looks, at best, as if five and one-half per cent. will be the mortgage rate on Manhattan properties until next Spring. We do not care to venture an opinion as to what will happen after that time. There is some five per cent. mortgage money around now, but it is not abundant; and the property that it is loaned on must be particularly attractive. Even most choice parcels are paying five and one-half per cent. In the Bronx there is both five and one-half and six per cent. mortgage money. It is about fifty-fifty as between these rates, in that borough. Brooklyn has nothing but six per cent. money, unless there be an exceptionally choice offering."

Men and women who buy houses are now, more than ever, demanding features that will make them real homes

Their home must be wired for easy house work

HOME buyers know what they want these days. The husband looks around for the convenience outlet that is going to light his reading-chair and cool his evenings with a whirling fan.

And as for the wife—the house is sold if she can picture, in her mind's eye, just where she is going to put the washing machine; and just where the iron, the percolator, the vacuum cleaner, and toaster can be connected.

Both look for complete switch control all over the house.

Take advantage of the buyer's desire for electrical convenience. Houses sell more readily; owners are more satisfied; the builder's reputation is enhanced.

G-E national advertising is creating a demand for the comforts and conveniences of completely wired homes. Builders can profitably capitalize this demand.

Weekly Statistical Report of F. W. Dodge Company Shows Only Slight Falling Off in Number of New Plans Reported and Contracts Let

NOTWITHSTANDING some indications of attempts to embroil the building trades in a labor war and in spite of the congestion on transportation lines which interferes with prompt shipments of building materials the volume of business in the construction field continues to be of large volume. Undoubtedly the continuance of mild weather is an incentive to the further extension of the building program which has been in progress for so many months.

Statistics of construction work in the territory included in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, reveal that in 357 projects aggregating $14,503,400 contracts have been awarded while 523 new buildings to cost $24,791,700 are planned for this territory.

In the immediate New York City boroughs the number of contracts awarded and of plans for new structures during the week was somewhat below the highest figures for similar periods earlier in the season but are large enough to assure builders and material dealers of activity in this field for some time to come. During the week there were reported 225 projects for which plans were being made, with a total estimated expenditure of $16,174,700. The number of contracts awarded was 84 in this district to cost $7,348,500.

Among the buildings for which plans are announced are 25 business structures to cost $3,236,000, this classification including stores, lofts, offices, commercial garages, etc; 4 hospital and other institutional structures at $99,200; 7 factories and industrial buildings at $661,400; 1 public building figured at $10,000; 4 churches aggregating $90,500; 1 recreational building costing $30,000 and 183 residential structures, $12,047,600.

Among the contracts awarded during the week were 15 business structures for different uses to cost $890,600; 1 hospital, $2,000,000; 3 industrial buildings, $310,000; 2 public works at $110,000; 1 church at $54,000; 1 recreational building at $16,000 and 61 residential buildings to cost $3,967,900.

Andrew J. Robinson Dead

Andrew J. Robinson, president of the building firm of Andrew J. Robinson Company, at 15-17 West street, and for more than fifty years one of the most prominent builders in New York, died last week at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George J. Kennedy, of Prospect Park, White Plains. He was born seventy-nine years ago at Bloomfield, N. J.

Mr. Robinson came to New York when he was seventeen years old, and learned the mason's trade under his uncle, John M. Dodd. His work included many of the important buildings of the city, among them the St. Paul Building, Broadway and Ann street. He also erected the New York Historical Society Building, the Memorial Hospital the Peddie Institute at Hightstown, N. J., the New York Hospital, St. Luke's Hospital, the School of Mines at Columbia University, the residences of Stuyvesant Fish, Elihu Root and Henry P. Havemeyer and many other important structures.

He devoted much time to the advancement of the Mason Builders' Association, of which he had been a member since its organization. He was trustee and treasurer of the board of trustees of the Southern New York Baptist Mission Society and other Baptist organizations. He was a member of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, a life member of the Historical Society, a member of the Metropolitan Museum, the New York Botanical Society, the Transportation Club and the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen.

In 1870 Mr. Robinson married Harriet Elizabeth King, of New York, who died in 1911. He leaves a son, Drew King Robinson, associated in business with him, and a daughter, Mrs. Kennedy.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

LOCAL building conditions have not changed very greatly during the past week. There is a large amount of active work going on and some good-sized jobs are being planned, and in all likelihood will be released for estimates before the close of the year. The prospects for the coming months are considered good, and the entire industry is optimistic about the outlook for next year's operations.

The new season may not witness so much residential construction as there was during the past year, but it is almost certain that the industry will be offered as much new construction of business building as it can possibly absorb. According to those in close touch with the situation, the volume of building during 1923 will only be limited by the number of men and material stocks available for the work.

Building material dealers in the Metropolitan District all report extremely active business with orders of good size and a considerable number of new inquiries. There is some scarcity developing but not sufficient to warrant any anxiety on the part of prospective builders. Prices are very firm, and the local market is exhibiting a marked tendency toward stiffer price levels.

Common Brick—Demand for Hudson River common brick was more active this week than it has been for some time. The sales of the week numbered 44 and, as a fair amount of new inquiry has developed, the brick producers are more hopeful than they have been. Prices are somewhat stronger than they were, however, with a range from $14 to $15 a thousand to dealers for top grades. The manufacturing season is now near the end although some of the open yards are still in operation, but they will undoubtedly suspend production for the current year in a few days at most. Coal remains difficult to obtain, and a large amount of green brick is being held over for burning during the winter months.

Summary—Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Thursday, November 16, 1922: Condition of market: Demand much stronger; prices steady. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $14 to $15 per thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 36; sales, 44. Distribution: Manhattan, 5; Bronx, 6; Brooklyn 26; Jersey, 5; Astoria, 2. Remaining unsold in the New York wholesale market, 11.

Lumber—Production of lumber, which has increased recently, is not so great as to enable the mills to stock up in excess of the demand. Only lumber ordered by firms outside of local territory is entered in sales compilations, consequently as the demand in the territory contiguous to saw mills has been and remains very keen, a very appreciable part of the cut is consumed locally. This explains slowness in the accumulation of some grades. The car supply remains inadequate and prices are firm.

Structural Steel—With general expectations that production will hold at the present level for some time the prediction is made that prices will remain at figures recently quoted unless particularly large and favorable offerings are made which may induce a temporary break. Sales at the market level are not especially numerous, because structural projects are seasonably few and fabricating shops are getting fairly liberal shipments against old orders carrying lower prices. Since bids against structural jobs, to be successful, must be below 2c. for plain material, there is not much incentive for fabricating interests to stock up heavily at today's prices.

Builders' Hardware—Several of the manufacturers of builders' hardware have their output sold up to January 1. The demand is the heaviest that it has been in years. There continues to be a shortage of butts, glass knob sets and store door handles.

Cast Iron Pipe—The seasonal buying continues good and with a declining market on pig iron and coke and the prospect of a reduction of prices on cast iron pipe as a result, some municipal tenders that might otherwise appear in December may be delayed. Quotations, f.o.b. New York, in carload lots, are as follows: 6-in. and larger, $54.50; 4-in. and 5-in., $59; 3-in., $64.80, with $4 additional for Class A and gas pipe. The soil pipe market continues active and discounts from list are unchanged, although the quotations of Southern makers have developed weakness. Poor shipments caused by railroad embargoes have interfered with profitable purchasing by Northern buyers at these lower prices. Quotations, delivered in New York, discounts of both Southern and Northern makers, follows: 2 to 6-in. standard, 25 to 30 per cent. off list; heavy, 34 and 35 per cent. off list.

Nails—The shortage in keg nails continues, and with the demand exceeding the supply the market was strong. Jobbers were inclined to predict little improvement in the situation for some time, as stocks were light and assortments badly broken. Firm prices were in evidence and the signs of speculation in this line of material continued to come to the surface. The quotations for New York City on wire nails base per keg ranged from $3.75 to $3.90 and for cut nails $4.10 to $4.20 base per keg.

Window Glass—Prices for window glass are firmer and interest fair, with stocks rather light. These conditions have made the market rather more active than for some time, although sales were not up to record figures.

Electrical Supplies—Conditions in the electrical industry continue to improve. Jobbers and manufacturers announce better business than for some weeks past and are satisfied with the outlook for future orders. Central-station business shows improvement. Fixtures for commercial use are selling better, and there is less effort shown in placing outside business. Conduit stocks are spotty, but jobbers are finding it less difficult to fill reasonably large orders. Heater sales are better along the Pacific Coast owing to colder weather.

Face Brick—Demand for face brick is very strong and dealers are being offered more business than they are able to handle. The shortage of cars for the transportation of this material is the principal difficulty at present and several jobs have been held up on account of the delays. Prices are very firm.

Reinforcing Bars—Concrete bars are in fairly active demand, and although the orders are not quite as heavy as predicted the market has a good tone and there is every indication of steadily increasing business. There is considerable new work coming out in which reinforced concrete will be used extensively, and with the early award of pending contracts the market will take on a far more lively aspect. Prices are steady.

Linseed Oil—The market for this commodity has not been very active during the past week. Buying is negligible and inquiries are frequent. Although prices are practically unchanged, there is a downward tendency and there is every indication of a lower level in the near future. Local stocks are ample for the current light demand.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1½c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use. WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

Winter Building Program in Jeopardy

Bricklaying on several important building operations in New York City was suspended this week because five local unions of bricklayers went out on strike over a dispute as to which particular organization should supply the bricklayers' helpers on these jobs. On these projects the bricklayers walked out in order to force their employers into action. The latter feel this action is prejudicial to the best interests of the building industry. Taking a determined stand for what they believe is right, the employers have notified these unions that, unless the striking members return to work by Monday next, a lockout will be declared on and after that date.

Undoubtedly the present dispute involves questions that can be solved only by those who have studied the underlying conditions exhaustively and are willing to utilize the machinery that has been designed for just such emergencies. Arbitration facilities for the adjustment of the present difficulties are available, and should be called into use promptly to prevent a serious setback to building progress.

The paramount issue at present should be not who shall or shall not be employed on any particular building project in this city, but rather how many men can be put to work at the earliest possible moment so that the vast amount of active construction now under contract may be permitted to proceed unhampered. Weather conditions this autumn have been unusually favorable to a season of active building. Architects and prospective builders have combined in maturing their plans for starting new operations in the face of discouraging rumors of material shortages and ascending price levels. They have placed in the hands of New York City contractors a construction program for the winter months that is far greater than ever before known to local building history.

It is this program that is jeopardized by the strike of the bricklayers and the consequent threatened lockout. If bricklaying is prevented because of a serious labor disturbance the entire construction industry is bound to suffer in consequence, whether the trouble spreads and involves other trades or not.

There is no question of wages or working conditions involved in the present controversy. On the surface the points at issue are such as could speedily be settled by conference or arbitration. They should not be allowed to retard active construction work in New York City for a single moment longer. The level-headed business men among both unions and employers should not permit a continuation of this strike to interfere with the working out of an unusually favorable winter building schedule.

Sensible Plan to Relieve Broadway

To a great many people in and out of this city Broadway and New York are synonymous terms. In their eyes nothing that happens here off this one thoroughfare amounts to much; little that is worth recounting but has its habitat somewhere along the many miles of the street that is typical of all that makes the metropolis talked about, envied, praised and criticised in every other city and town in the land and throughout the world.

Broadway, zigzagging from the Battery up through Manhattan and then on away many miles up-state, presents a living epitome of the life and manners of the foremost city in the world, and always will do so even if Wall Street, Park Row and Fifth Avenue try to wrest from it some of the glory and renown which makes it celebrated. In the years that have passed it has changed with the changing customs of the city's always-progressive citizens. The old-time stage-coaches were replaced with "up-to-date" buses; these made way for horse-drawn cars, which the cable supplanted, only to give place to the electric gondolas of today.

Broadway has been undermined by a subway, whole sections of its commerce have been moved to new locations blocks further uptown or replanted along other streets and avenues; its Rialto, once booked at Fourteenth Street, played a long run at Twenty-eight Street, and is now staged north of Forty-second Street. The Great White Way, on which an unsurpassed galaxy of professional stars vie with unnumbered electric ones in dazzling those who participate in the night life of the city, engulfs block after block with its glare and glitter. Many other communities have named their widest street Broadway, but when the name is spoken anywhere in this or foreign lands—in Waco or Frisco, in Vancouver or in Singapore, in Cape Town or Buenos Aires—the chances are the speaker means Broadway, New York, and if he talks of New York his thoughts are of the manifold phases of life along Broadway.

So that, when something happens or exists which threatens the usefulness of Broadway and its power to charm, it behooves the citizens of New York to take steps to do away with what may destroy one of the city's chief assets, especially when so substantial an organization as the Broadway Association, self-appointed guardian of the thoroughfare, points out that traffic on Broadway should be put under restrictions because the conduct of business and the pursuit of pleasure is hindered by the jam of passenger automobiles, trucks and street cars. The Association suggests that, between the hours of 9 a. m. and 6 p. m., freight-carrying vehicles be allowed to go no more than one block along Broadway south of Fifty-ninth Street, and that better parking regulations for motor cars be drawn and put into operation.

These are reasonable suggestions, and they should be put into effect. It is safe to assume that New Yorkers generally will uphold the municipal officials in the enforcement of even more drastic traffic regulations than those proposed rather than have the commercial and esthetic importance of the city's principal street diminished.

A Great Organization's Anniversary

Many notable gatherings have been held in Madison Square Garden, but probably none in the long list has had greater civic significance than the meeting held there last Friday evening to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of the formation of the Merchants' Association. The great success of this meeting attested not only the solid proportions to which the Association has grown, but it also attested in a most encouraging way the growth in public spirit in the metropolis, due in large measure, be it said, to the Association's well-directed activities.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE always is interested in whatever makes for a greater and better New York, and for this reason it joins heartily in the anniversary greetings which are being extended to the Merchants' Association. During its quarter century of existence the Association has compiled a noteworthy record of achievement—one squaring splendidly with its professed policy “to foster the trade and welfare of New York.”

Not only has this forward-looking organization succeeded in its effort to unite in one great body the varied business interests of the metropolis, but it truly has made itself a powerful influence, here in New York and in Albany and Washington, through its numbers, its resources and the character and ability of its officers and members. The Association justly points with pride to the fact that, in its work, “it has enlisted many of the city's ablest men—leaders in the field of action and in the field of thought; leaders in trade and commerce, in manufacture, finance, and transportation, in education, science and jurisprudence. Its members are the thousands of firms and corporations whose honorable business activities generate and sustain New York's material greatness and prosperity. All these have united in a common purpose—that of inducing wise, just and beneficial adjustment of the many vital economic problems, local, state and national, which constantly beset us and menace our prosperity.”

Mr. Julius H. Barnes, President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and Mr. Harry A. Wheeler, former president of that highly-efficient organization, joined with other able speakers at the anniversary celebration in paying tribute to the fine achievements of the Merchants' Association and in predicting increased usefulness for it in the public service during the years to come. The Association's president, Mr. Lewis E. Pierson, was happy, as well as convincing, in his outline of the further aspirations of the New York leaders who are working so earnestly and successfully to promote, through his organization, the best interests of the nation's metropolis.

New York University Establishes Post Graduate Course in Real Estate

DURING the last twenty years, as the real estate business in this city has grown more intricate with its expansion, it has gradually evolved from a business to a profession. Leaders in the market who have watched the changing character of real estate brokerage and management during this period have expressed the hope that eventually a university course in all phases of real estate would be established to supplement the practical knowledge to be gained in real estate offices.

New York University has been the first to act on this idea and in September began its year with a post-graduate course in real estate. This course consists of fifteen lectures, covering every subject pertaining to real estate. The lecturers are Nelson L. North, Jr., a real estate lawyer, and Saul B. Ackerman, also a lawyer and formerly connected with the New York State Insurance Department, who will lecture primarily on insurance as it pertains to real property.

The subjects Mr. North will treat upon during the course are “Interests in Realty”; “Liens”; “Taxes, Assessments and Water Rates”; “Contracts”; Auction Sales”; “Deeds”; “Bonds and Mortgages”; “Transfer and Examination of Title and Title Insurance”; “Closing of Title”; “Leases”; “Brokerage”; “Management”; “Valuation of Real Estate”; “Mortgage Loans”; “The Work of the Architect,” and “The Torrens System of Land Title Registration.”

There are fifty members taking the course at New York University, all that the university can provide for this year. About as many more applications for membership were declined. The course this year is to a degree an experiment. That is to say, as the course develops, problems of teaching may arise that may make some adjustment of the curriculum necessary. The University authorities desire to see how the course works out before welcoming a large membership. They have no doubt of the future expansion of the classes, but want to go easy in the preliminary stage. They feel that, like everything new, this idea must be thoroughly tried out to determine if it will work smoothly on a large scale.

The aim of the post-graduate course, as its name signifies, is to thoroughly train in real estate subjects college men and men who have had practical training in real estate offices and who desire to make it their life work. These have their merits; but they differ from the university course in that their courses of lectures are covered by prominent brokers and specialists in the real estate business. Their points of view are valuable from the practical standpoint of daily activity in the field. The university course adds to them the knowledge that can be daily applied to the ramifications of the business. During the course there will be a lecture every Thursday, from 5:15 to 7 o'clock p. m., at the downtown headquarters of the university, 90 Trinity Place.

During about the last fifteen years New York University has had a real estate course other than post-graduate. It was begun by the late Walter Lindner, who was for many years and until his death chief counsel of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company. The course was for any college student or youth or grown-up who wanted to learn the legal angles of the real estate business. Many of these students took the lecture course before they had even seen the inside of a real estate office. Others had had office experience. This course was under the auspices of the School of Commerce, Accounts and Finance of the university. It was largely elementary, Mr. Lindner using mostly as his text book his work published by the Alexander Hamilton Institute. It was good as far as it went. The post-graduate course is under the auspices of the School of Business Research of the university. Mr. Lindner ceased to lecture some time before his death and turned the class over to Philip A. Benson, secretary of the Dime Savings Bank of Brooklyn. It is still part of the undergraduate course, with the same lecturer.

Messrs. North and Benson this year published a book entitled “Real Estate Principles and Practices,” which is the principal text book used in the post-graduate course of the university. Appraisals, leases and sales are so much larger nowadays than before New York began to grow northward and before the skyscraper era that there are more complications and details to all real estate transactions. The Torrens law, ninety-nine year leases, the income tax on mortgages, large leaseholds and intricate questions between landlord and tenant are among the modern phases of real estate that require minute knowledge, placing the real estate business on a higher plane and giving it a professional tone.

The establishment of this course in the ethics and practice of the real estate business is expected to be of permanent value to realty firms by providing well trained and educated young men as recruits for the office and outside forces of brokerage houses.

Commissioner McCaffrey Explains Brokers License Law

State Tax Deputy Entrusted With Enforcement of New Measure Talks to Members of Realty Board at Monthly Dinner

THE November dinner of the Real Estate Board of New York, held on Wednesday evening at Delmonico's, was attended by some of the strong real estate personalities of this city and a good number of the well-known men of the sales staff of various large offices. The prime feature of the evening did not develop until late, when, during the address of Deputy State Tax Commissioner McCaffrey, many questions were asked by brokers who wanted to know about the workings of the new real estate brokers' license law. The Commissioner's speech was mostly an analysis of the license law and its workings.

One realtor desired to know if the janitor of a cold-water tenement house, who collected rents and leased tenements for his employer, was required to have a license. The answer was "no," for the reason that a janitor was not a conceded broker or realtor. Another question was: "Do brokers have to pay the license fee of a salesman in their employ?" The answer was "no," that payment of the fee by the employer is a matter of courtesy, that under no circumstances does the law compel him to do so.

Mr. McCaffrey stated that many lawyers throughout the State, as well as in New York City, had taken out licenses as real estate brokers, so that they would be recognized realtors when they came to dividing a commission with a regular realtor. This statement created great laughter. The Commissioner said that in a real estate transaction made by a lawyer individually he was exempt from having a license.

Mr. McCaffrey declared that the prime need of the moment is to arouse interest in the fundamentals of the law and conform to them. He said that the brokers of the State had behaved splendidly, and that there have been only twenty-five complaints filed up to date. He thanked the Real Estate Board of New York for its co-operation in straightening out applications and said that it had been of greater aid than any other board in the State. He said that a total of 10,270 brokers' licenses and 5,000 salesmen's licenses have so far been issued and that there are 300 applications on hand not yet granted. The State has received $230,700 in license fees, of which New York City has received $84,000, Westchester County $3,310 and Nassau County $1,985.

Mr. McCaffrey warned all realtors to be sure and sign their names to their licenses, as otherwise they were not valid. He said that many brokers have already had trouble through neglecting to do this. He told of an instance up State where an applicant for a license had made an "X" mark for his signature and had had it witnessed. The Commission would not grant him a license to transact a real estate business for the reason that he could not read nor write. The day has passed, he said, when any Tom, Dick and Harry can go into the real estate business.

Much interest was aroused among the diners by Vincent P. Bradley, one of the Board of License Commissioners of New Jersey. There were several women brokers present and Mr. Bradley began his speech by saying: "Mr. Toastmaster, Realtors and Realtresses." This caused considerable amusement. In the course of his speech, Mr. Bradley said:

"The license law in New Jersey has been in force more than a year. We were confronted, as you of New York have been, with regulating a business that is fast becoming a profession and which never before had been regulated anywhere. Think, if you will, of the problems that confront a real estate license commissioner in either State. To date this year 7,200 licenses have been issued in New Jersey. The law had to be amended after the first year as a result of 300 complaints. We suspended six brokers' licenses during the first year because of illegal practices and we compelled them, without recourse to the courts, to disgorge thousands of dollars that belonged to their clients. We have four field men who are special investigators for the Commission. They sift out complaints. Every defendant has ten days' time in which to prepare his defense. The greatest amount of good we in New Jersey do is in heart to heart talks with brokers who go astray. One arraignment before us is sufficient and a conference between the commissioners and the defendant as a rule shows more mistakes of judgment and carelessness on the part of brokers than downright dishonesty.

"The second year of our law began July 1 last. We had in that time completed 400 cases charging bad faith, operating without a license and other offenses. The law in New Jersey covers the whole State, instead of the principal cities as in New York. We have not yet weeded out all the incompetents. It is a man's job to do so. It may be easy for a broker to obtain a license, but, believe me, Jersey justice sees to it that it is not easy for him to keep it. We can suspend licenses immediately and put a downright dishonest man out of business.

"The law has done another good thing. It has caused the settlement of hundreds of controversies between owner and broker outside of court and thereby saved the State and litigants much expense. In a controversy we do not decide on the law but on the facts. If those in controversy want the law in the matter settled they can appeal from the Commissioners to the Supreme Court of New Jersey. Another good phase of the law is that it prevents a broker from cheapening his calling by dividing any part of his commission with the seller. This, too, prevents litigation."

Commissioner McCaffrey followed the New Jersey Commissioner and remarked at the outset of his speech that the brokers of New York State as a whole had behaved much better than they have in New Jersey if Commissioner Bradley's remarks were any criterion. "And," he added, "New York is a far bigger State, with many more large cities in it. After the New Jersey Commissioner's speech I want to say that I am proud of New York. We are not so bad after all, not even in this big town."

Frank Stevens, of Jersey City, Chairman of the New Jersey Commission, called attention to a new definition that appears in the latest edition of Webster's International Dictionary. It defines the word realtor as "a real estate broker who is a member of a local board having membership in the National Association of Real Estate Boards, an organization incorporated in 1908 for the advancement of the interests of real estate brokers and the protection of the public from unprincipled agents or brokers."

Seated on the dais with President Edwards were Commissioners McCaffrey, Bradley and Stevens, De Lancey Ellis, of Albany, President of the State Association of Real Estate

General Business Follows Auto Trade To Columbus Circle

Character of District Once Devoted Almost Exclusively to Motor Industry Changes When Firms in Other Lines Take Space in New Buildings

THE creation of new commercial centers in the City of New York involves not only the erection and renting of super-buildings, but also the more difficult task of persuading many lines of business to leave old established locations to which they have become wedded.

In the instance of Columbus Circle and Fifty-seventh Street and Broadway, which localities combine to form New York's newest commercial centre, at least two decades have elapsed since the automobile and rubber industries began to establish themselves in this section and to give it the character of New York's "Automobile Row."

It remained, however, for the interests behind the new 25-story Fisk Building, at Fifty-seventh Street and Broadway and extending to Eighth Avenue, to accelerate the movement of general business to this more northerly district, and to so broaden the scope of the demand as to include lines of business having no connection whatsoever with the automobile and rubber trades.

The Fisk Building, containing approximately 375,000 square feet of rentable area and representing a valuation of $5,200,000, according to the assessment valuation for the year 1923, is now 75 per cent rented to approximately 135 tenants, representing about 30 different lines of business. This remarkable renting record has been made by the Cross & Brown Company, agents, in a period of about one year, and is a sufficient answer to those real estate market skeptics who predicted that the Fisk Building would prove to be a "white elephant."

The Fisk Building record, however, is even more remarkable when it is considered that the building, which practically was a pioneer, was only opened to tenants at least eight months after the close of the renting market of 1921, while all during the early part of the renting period it had to compete with the millions of square feet of office space added in the Terminal zone to meet the requirements of the temporarily active renting market of the post-war and reconstruction period.

The Fisk Tire Company, Inc., having organized the 1767 Broadway Corporation for the purpose of purchasing the site of and erecting the Fisk Building, in order to consolidate their executive offices at No. 52 Vanderbilt Avenue and their sales offices at Fifty-fifth Street and Broadway, purchased the site of the building in May, 1920; the new Fisk Building, however, was not completed until October, 1921. It replaced the Rutland and St. Augustine apartment houses.

The uptown movement of the rubber and automobile trades did not originally involve the construction of modern buildings in the Columbus Circle district. The uptown trend had been noted, however, by the O. B. Potter Trust, which, in 1905, erected the building at the northwest corner of Fifty-sixth Street and Broadway, and which almost immediately became an automobile sales agency centre. Then, about the year 1909, the Goodrich Tire Company moved from a store at 1625 Broadway to their new 12-story building at 1780 Broadway, between Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Streets. This was followed by the erection of the 21-story building, on 9,200 square feet of ground, at the southeast corner of Fifty-eighth Street and Broadway, by the United States Rubber Company, which formerly had been located downtown, just west of City Hall Park. This building is erected on land leased for eighty-four years from the Estate of Mary A. Fitzgerald.

Previous to this the Ford Motor Company, about 1905, leased and altered the old O. S. Bailey stable on the west side of Broadway, between Fifty-fourth and Fifty-fifth Streets. In more recent years, the Ford Company built its present building at the northeast corner of Fifty-fourth Street and Broadway, on the one time site of the old Clermont apartment house and the vacant lots adjoining.

At about this time the block on the east side of Broadway between Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Streets was purchased by Robert E. Dowling, who subsequently resold the northeast corner of Fifty-sixth Street and Broadway to the Broadway Tabernacle, which then was located in Herald Square, at the northeast corner of Broadway and Thirty-fourth Street, where the Marbridge Building now stands. The Broadway Tabernacle was established in 1840 and moved to Fifty-sixth Street and Broadway in 1903. The southeast corner of Fifty-seventh Street and Broadway, in the same block, was resold by Mr. Dowling to the Island Realty Company, a William A. Cheseborough Corporation, by whom the inside portion of the Fifty-seventh Street frontage was sold to the Peerless Company, which erected the 9-story building; the immediate corner was improved with a similar 9-story building and leased for twenty-one years to the Demarest Company, which then was located at the northeast corner of Thirty-third Street and Fifth Avenue; one lot remaining on Fifty-seventh Street was sold by Mr. Dowling to Andrew Carnegie for an addition to the Engineering Building, adjoining. Both the Peerless and Demarest Buildings since have been acquired by the General Motors Corporation, the corner building now being occupied by the Chevrolet Motor Company, while the adjoining one-time Engineering Building is now the home of the Ajax Rubber Company.

Directly opposite, on the north side of Fifty-seventh Street, between Broadway and Seventh Avenue, the costly private riding ring and stable built by Frank Gould is now the headquarters of the Lincoln Automobile Company; this building immediately adjoins on the east the new 12-story business building erected last year by the Excelsior Savings Bank on the site formerly occupied by a 7-story elevator apartment house.

The first substantial building improvement in this neighborhood after 1900 was the erection of the Woodward Hotel in 1902 by the late Nathan E. Clark, who in his time was a prominent builder of apartment houses in the Madison Avenue section. Shortly afterwards, in 1904, the Cumberland Hotel was erected at the southwest corner of Fifty-fourth Street and Broadway, on the site occupied for a number of years by the Hotel Bayard. Two years later, in 1906, the Automobile Club of America erected its present building in Fifty-fourth Street, between Broadway and Eighth Avenue.

At the present time the Harriss-Colonnade Building is nearing its completion on the square block bounded by Broadway and Eighth Avenue, Fifty-seventh and Fifty-eighth Streets, occupied formerly by the Thoroughfare Building, which represented the remodeling of a number of old buildings erected in the dim and distant past. This property was purchased in 1907 for $1,650,000 and, it is understood, was leased to the Harriss-Colonnade interests at a valuation approximating an advance in value of 100 per cent over the price paid in 1907.

Just south of Fifty-seventh Street the entire square block bounded by Broadway and Seventh Avenue, Fifty-sixth and Fifty-seventh Streets, has been acquired by the Commonwealth Hotel interests, who recently demolished the Van Corlear apartments occupying the Seventh Avenue block front. With the progress of this building, the Sonoma and Rockingham apartment houses on Broadway, together with several private houses on Fifty-fifth Street and a small hotel on Fifty-sixth Street, will be demolished to make way for the erection of the Commonwealth Hotel which, if erected as planned, will be the largest hotel in the world.

One of the most important of the early Fisk Building rentals made by the Cross & Brown Company was the leasing of approximately 7,500 square feet by the Tobacco Products Corporation, which then occupied about 13,500 square feet in the United States Rubber Building. The problem of this company, which required a very large number of small private offices for

Foundations Started for Hotel Roosevelt in Terminal Zone

Palatial Structure, Designed by Geo. P. Post & Sons, Being Erected by Thompson-Starrett Co., Under General Contract, at Cost of $10,000,000

INITIAL steps in the construction of another palatial hostelry, to be known as the Roosevelt Hotel, were taken recently when wrecking contractors commenced to demolish the old buildings at the southeast corner of Madison Avenue and Forty-fifth Street, which for some years were occupied by the Tiffany Studios. The building will occupy the entire block front on the east side of Madison Avenue, Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Street.

The Roosevelt Hotel, which is scheduled for completion in the spring of 1924, is being erected directly over the incoming tracks of the New York Central Railroad and the engineers of the New York Central Lines have co-operated in the engineering work involved in the construction of foundations for this structure. The new hotel will be superimposed on gigantic steel stilts in a manner similar to the Biltmore Hotel, Yale Club and other modern structures in the Grand Central Terminal Zone.

This hotel will be twenty stories in height and will have an entrance from the Grand Central Terminal, which will be a great advantage to incoming and outgoing railroad passengers. The New York United Hotels, Inc., Frank A. Dudley, President, a corporation organized to build and operate this new hostelry, has filed a bond, the largest ever filed in New York City, guaranteeing the completion of this $10,000,000 enterprise, which will become a noteworthy addition to the famous development of the Grand Central Terminal Zone.

According to the plans, this hotel will contain 1,107 rooms and baths, several spacious restaurants and private dining rooms. The first floor will be divided into stores, shops and offices. The plans of the hotel have been prepared under the direction of the United Hotels Company of America by George B. Post & Sons, architects, 101 Park Avenue. The construction of the hotel is in charge of Thompson-Starrett Company, and work on the foundations will be done simultaneously with the destruction of the building now occupying one corner of the site. With the construction also under way of the Olympic Hotel in Seattle, Wash., and the opening of the Mount Royal in Montreal, Quebec Province, December 20, the United Hotels Company of America now has under direction a hotel chain extending from coast to coast. The Mount Royal, which is the largest and most modern hotel in the British Empire, was also constructed by the Thompson-Starrett Company, builders of The Roosevelt.

Among others present were: Charles F. Noyes, L. A. Johnson, Douglas Cruikshank, Frank Ames, Arthur H. Perls, Peter Cusack, W. D. Kilpatrick, E. Stanton Riker, Thomas D. McBride, A. C. Home Builders Attracted to Lots Near Water Frontage

Long Island Sound and Adjacent Bays Great Factor in Successful Auction Sales During the Past Season

THE influence of waterfrontage as a deciding factor in the choice of a New York City home-building site has been manifested to a degree, in the last two years, in Throg's Neck, Pelham Bay Park and Eastern Boulevard sections of the Bronx, where more than a thousand one and two-family dwellings of every cost and description, bungalows and taxpayers' stores have been erected since the dozen or so of old Colonial estates began to be sold at public auction.

The close proximity of Long Island Sound, Eastchester and Pelham Bays, has been the one big factor in these sales, the success of which was one of the outstanding features of the real estate and building markets of 1922 and 1921.

The transforming building movements that have followed rapidly in the wake of these sales must be attributed, in large measure, to the influence of Tax Exemption and the benefits to be derived thereunder in the shape of a substantial saving in taxes, yearly, until April 1932.

The third factor was the extension of the Lexington Ave.-Pelham Bay Park subway, in Westchester Ave. to Pelham Bay Park with a station in Westchester Square, at East Tremont Avenue., the gateway to Throg's Neck. However, in this instance of rapid City growth and of what practically has constituted the development of "A City Within a City," the extension of the Lexington Ave. subway, while of first importance was secondary, nevertheless, to the natural advantages of the neighborhood. Long before this section of the world had transit facilities of any sort whatsoever, many of the wealthiest and most prominent families of New York purchased large tracts of land between Eastchester Boulevard and Long Island Sound for the establishment of residential estates.

These large estates were preserved, in all their integrity, from one generation to another, but with the advent of the subway, and a 5-cent fare to all parts of New York, the owners of these estates were quick to realize that their properties would almost immediately be brought within the scope of the home builders demand, and that the adoption of the Tax Exemption Law by the City of New York offered them a most favorable opportunity to dispose of their properties in a market erected on the housing emergency.

At this psychological moment, Joseph P. Day, saw his opportunity and began immediately to exploit the Throg's Neck and Long Island section as offering an exceptional opportunity, under Tax Exemption, for the home seekers of New York to build one and two-family dwellings of moderate cost. Almost coincident with this campaign came the announcement that the Coster Estate, at the Eastern Boulevard and East Tremont Ave. would be sold at auction. This sale since has been followed by others involving the disposal of the Bruce Brown, Turnbull, Brinsmade, Wissman and Morris Estates, and Hoffman's Park belonging to the Ebling family.

Throg's Neck, along both sides of East Tremont Ave. is now to all intents and purposes practically all sold out, and under improvement from the Eastern Boulevard to the intersection of East Tremont Ave. and E. 177th St., at Dewey Ave.

The intersection of these three thoroughfares has come to be known as the "hub" of Throg's Neck; the location of this "hub" is virtually the half-way point between Eastern Boulevard and the beginning of the Military Reservation occupied by Fort Schuyler. This Reservation comprises all of the narrow peninsula that juts out into Long Island Sound for a distance of about one mile.

Sales of estates back of the Fort Schuyler Reservation have carried the building line to a point far beyond the intersection of East Tremont Ave. and E. 177th St., with the result that practically no large tracts of land between Eastern Boulevard and Lawton Ave. remain to be sold. This leaves only the comparatively small area between Lawton Ave. and the Fort Schuyler Reservation, and this domain comprises only one or two estates and the bathing grounds known as Locust Point and Silver Beach.

The narrowest part of Throg's Neck is the section between Lawton Ave. and the Shore Drive, having the East River as the southerly boundary and Long Island Sound on the north and east. No other part of the Bronx mainland extends so far out into Long Island Sound as does Throg's Neck and the Fort Schuyler Reservation, and Fort Schuyler points almost directly to Little Neck on the Long Island side of the Sound.

Home-building along Eastern Boulevard and Long Island Sound, which until this year extended only to Lohbauer Park, is now progressing rapidly toward Pelham Bay Park directly south of which is the Lorillard Spencer Estate property, which was sold recently by Joseph P. Day, at public auction, to hundreds of prospective home builders.

As a result of the numerous Joseph P. Day auction sales in this section the trend of building is toward both the north and the east; in one instance along the Eastern Boulevard and Long Island Sound, and in the other along both East Tremont Ave. and East 177th St. toward the "cream" section of Throg's Neck, which is the comparatively small section lying between Lawton Ave. and the Shore Road at the gateway to the Ft. Schuyler Reservation.

its corporative and sales executives, was how to reduce its space and yet provide for these private offices and the space necessary to accommodate its hundred-odd employees in the general office. This problem was solved by the Cross & Brown Company, who prepared an office layout that succeeded in reducing the footage from 13,500 feet in the United States Rubber Building to 7,500 square feet in the Fisk Building; this space was subsequently enlarged by the addition of another thousand square feet. This was the first important lease made in the Fisk Building, where the saving in space achieved by the run of tenants is stated to have averaged twenty to forty per cent. The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, Tide Water Oil Sales Company, New York Philharmonic Society, French Navy Bureau of Oils and Fuels, The Argentine Naval Commission, L. G. Leonard Lumber Company, Manitou Paper Company and the Fuller Brush Company represent a few of the other lines of business which, in addition to the automobile and rubber trades, are now quartered in the Fisk Building.

More recent leases made in the Fisk Building, as reported by Cross & Brown Company, are as follows: The Tidewater Oil Sales Company has leased additional space, for occupancy by certain departments of the business now located at 11 Broadway; about two-thirds of the third floor has been leased by the New York Telephone Company for the accommodation of one of their clerical and accounting departments now located in one of their own buildings; the balance of the third floor has been leased to the Holzworth Service Company, Inc., formed recently by E. C. Holzworth, of Buffalo. The Holzworth Service Company is establishing a chain of stores throughout the country. Among other new tenants are the Keystone Metals Reducing Company of Pittsburgh; the Press of the American Institute of Architects, which organization publishes the official literature of that organization; the Florida West Coast Studios, a new company organized to foster the moving picture industry of Florida. Including these new leases, approximately nineteen of the twenty-five floors of the Fisk Building are now rented.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Well Diversified Large and Small Transactions Throughout the City Characterized the Deals That Included a $2,500,000 Sale

THE week was marked with diversified activity, reaching from the Battery to the upper regions of the Bronx, with a fair amount of dealing in Brooklyn and Queens. There is, so far, no cessation of liveliness as the holiday season approaches. There may be and there may not be a halt in the dealing. A notable feature of the market was the sale of several parcels of real estate to the tenants occupying them. Probably the most notable instance of a tenant buying property was recorded this week by the Pictorial Review Company buying the 12-story modern loft building 216-226 West Thirty-ninth Street, adjacent to its large building at the southwest corner of Seventh Avenue and Thirty-ninth Street. The sale of large mercantile buildings and of large apartment houses formed pronounced market features.

On Washington Heights the selling of some of the largest and finest apartment houses there took place, covering block fronts and others half block fronts. Ivy Court apartment houses, in West Harlem, changed hands, the total value running close to $1,000,000. The largest deal of the week, probably, was the sale of the Esplanade apartment house, at the northwest corner of West End Avenue and Seventy-fourth Street, it having been held at $2,500,000. Title to it has passed. The sellers bought it a year ago and are understood to have taken a substantial profit. Ordinary tenement houses throughout Yorkville and the lower East and West sides found new owners in many instances. Some old and small business parcels downtown were bought. There were some good sales of tenement houses with stores in the East Side avenues, the activity there appearing to be increasing. Another striking feature was the sale of several large loft buildings close to Fifth Avenue.

There was much investment interest in fine dwellings, both east and west of Central Park. Some of these parcels will be remodeled into small apartments and some were bought for occupancy. Again, some other dwellings purchased will be remodeled for business purposes by the new owners. A deal that shows the investment propensity in Greenwich Village was the sale of seven antique dwellings in Minetta Street and Minetta Lane, adjacent to Jefferson Market Court House. These structures, long given over to a poor element of the population, will be remodeled into studios and apartments for professional people, with a resultant toning up of the section.

Estate of William Waldorf Astor sold twenty parcels in West Forty-fifth Street and also a Ninth Avenue and Fourteenth Street corner to operators. They will all be resold. The capacity of the market to rapidly absorb, at resale, these various Astor properties is one of the striking phases of the year. Operators in several instances have resold quickly all that they bought at other Astor sales within recent months.

The undivided profits amount to $335,630. The total surplus, previous to the meeting, was $4,000,000. The surplus, now, is $2,500,000, with undivided profits besides. The pro rata distribution of the 15,000 new shares of stock gave every stockholder an additional share of full paid stock for each four shares of his old stock.

Astors Sell More Holdings

In accordance with the recent announcement of Major John Jacob Astor in England that he intended to dispose of his realty holdings in America, the estate of Baron William Waldorf Astor sold two more large blocks of Manhattan realty. They include the 21 3-sty and basement dwellings 320 to 342 West 45th st, comprising a plot 375x100, and the northwest corner of Ninth av and 14th st, containing 13,500 square feet.

The purchasers in both instances were operators. Nathan Wilson bought the West 45th st houses and the Fourteenth Street Corporation (John J. Gillen and James S. Maher) took over the 14th st corner. Mr. Wilson has not decided whether he will sell the uptown property in units or in its entirety. It is understood that several of the tenants have made bids for their respective houses.

Messrs. Gillen and Maher have improved other Astor holdings covering 15 lots in the 14th st section with business buildings during the last few years. They expect to erect a modern structure on the Ninth av corner for the wholesale trade and hotel supply business. The cost is estimated at $450,000. The buyers now control the major portion of the eastern half of the block bounded by 14th and 15th sts, Ninth and Tenth ays. The western half was recently bought by the National Biscuit Co.

The 45th st properties were part of the old Eden farm which the Astors have owned for more than a century. They were sold free and clear and were valued at about $750,000. Five of the dwellings are 20 feet wide, six are 16.8 feet and the remaining ten are 17.6 feet. Hall J. How & Co. were the brokers.

Seven Landmarks Sold

For the purpose of remodeling for the use of members of the artists' colony in Greenwich Village, seven of the oldest dwellings in the city have been sold to one buyer, whose name is at present withheld. They are in Minetta st and in Minetta la, two narrow thoroughfares a few steps from Jefferson Market Court building. They have long been dilapidated in appearance.

The parcels follow: 5-7 Minetta st, two 3-sty and basement brick dwellings, each on a plot 30.4x irregular; 1-5 Minetta la, southeast corner of Minetta st, three 3-sty and basement brick dwellings, each on a lot 19.3x47.6, and 18-20 Minetta la two 3-sty and basement frame and brick dwellings, on a plot 42.6x70. A. Pagliuighi & Bro. sold 5-7 Minetta st and 1 Minetta la. Dr. S. Bookman sold 1-5 Minetta la and R. de Scala sold 18-20 Minetta la. Pepe & Bro. were the brokers.

Because of the unusual street layout of the Minetta quarter the architecture of the houses, the interesting outlook resulting from alleys and broken street lines, artists and writers have taken to it, and during the last five years have claimed a number of buildings for their own. They dispossessed rag pickers, junk dealers, colored people, Italians and others who found in these crooked, narrow streets places which could be rented for very little money.

The old tenements at the rear end of alleys and the junk and rag shops have been made over and modernized, with the result that they are now attractive, for their architectural lines are generally good. They also recall days when this section was an aristocratic part of the city.

Natanson in Big Bronx Lease

In one of the largest leasing transactions ever closed in the Bronx, Max N. Natanson, the operator, has obtained control of the southwest corner of the Grand Concourse and Fordham road, improved with a 1-story taxpayer containing 12 stores. The lease with renewals covers a period of 66 years and calls for an approximate rental of $4,000,000. The lessees are Katie W. Grenzbach and Julia A. Whitehorse. Byrne & Bowman were the brokers.

The lessee contemplates the improvement of the plot at the expiration of present leases with a tall business building, for which the location is now adapted. It is conceded to be one of the busiest and most valuable locations in the upper part of the city, and in the immediate section are prominent automobile concerns and department stores and other business places.

Gaines & Roberts built the present building and sold it to the present owners, who refused tempting offers to sell.

RECORD AND GUIDE announces that its telephone number has been changed from Bryant 4800 to Pennsylvania 1500.

Bricklayers' Strike Hampers Winter Building Program

Several Hundred Mechanics Walk Out on Important Projects, in Violation of Agreement, to Force Hands of Employers

THE local building industry is carefully watching the development of the conflict between the building trade employers and the bricklayers' unions, which is anticipated will result in an open breach between the organized employers and certain unions before the elapse of many days unless the members of the several local bricklayers' unions, who recently went out on strike, return promptly to their jobs. The Building Trades Employers' Association adopted resolutions at its meeting on Tuesday afternoon declaring that unless the strikers return to work the members of the association will not, after Monday, November 27, employ any bricklayer who is a member of these unions, and declaring a lockout on and after that date.

The builders have been anticipating a serious labor situation for the past several months and the condition almost became acute on September 15, when the executive committee of the Bricklayers' Union adopted a resolution providing that only members of the International Laborers' Union should be employed as bricklayers' helpers on jobs on which the union men were at work. This, the association declares, was in spite of the fact that the association had made an agreement with the Independent Laborers' Association, with the agreement of the bricklayers' unions.

"A trade agreement was heretofore entered into between this association and the independent laborers' union," says the resolution adopted by the employers, "with the consent and upon the request of the New York executive committee of the bricklayers and masons' union, which agreement has been from time to time renewed and is now in force.

"The joint arbitration committee of this association and the bricklayers' unions have from month to month since the expiration of the last trade agreement unanimously adopted a resolution to the effect that the existing trade relations should continue.

"In breach of such resolution and for the purpose of forcing the members of this association to discharge from their employ every laborer not a member of the said International Laborers' Union, and in particular to force them to discharge the members of the said Independent Laborers' Union, the bricklayers' unions Nos. 1, 9, 34, 37 and 41, of Greater New York and Long Island have struck the following jobs of our members, viz., the job of the Tidewater Building Company at 240 West Thirty-sixth Street, the job of the Frymier & Hanna Company at Public School No. 57, the job of Marc Eidlitz & Son, Macy addition, Thirty-fourth and Thirty-fifth streets; the job of Edward Corning & Co. at 72 Schermerhorn Street, Brooklyn, and others.

"The said unions have refused to return their men to work, although requested to do so, now, therefore, be it,

"Resolved, That the members of this association shall not employ, until further action in the premises, the members of the Bricklayers Unions Nos. 1, 9, 34, 37 and 41 of Greater New York and Long Island on any of their jobs after Monday, November 27, 1922, unless on or before that date the members of said bricklayers' unions who have struck are returned to work and the jobs of our members manned."

At present it is reported that several hundred bricklayers are out on strike, but it is hoped by the employers that the situation will be adjusted soon so as not to hold back a large amount of building at this critical period of the year.

The present strike of the bricklayers was brought about as the result of a letter sent by Thomas F. Lynch, secretary of the executive committee of the local unions of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union, to John McClurg, secretary of the Mason Builders' Association, saying that on and after November 17 members of bricklayers' unions in this city will refuse to handle any material from laborers who are not members of the Building Laborers' Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

This action is taken as a movement directed against independent unions and is in accordance with a resolution adopted at the recent convention of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union in Springfield, Mass. Several disputes have arisen recently between the independent unions and the unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

The matter was referred to as follows upon the minutes of the Springfield convention:

"The committee recommends that the members of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union of Greater New York and vicinity refuse to handle any material from any laborers unless they be members of the Building Laborers' Union affiliated with the American Federation of Labor.

"President Bowen in the chair stated that while in this particular case the action referred only to New York, it would eventually cover the whole of the United States and Canada. The recommendation of the committee was adopted unanimously."

Another recent development in the New York building labor situation of more than ordinary interest was the resignation of Patrick Crowley, who has been president of that body since Robert P. Brindell was sent to Sing Sing Prison for extortion. Roswell D. Tompkins, former secretary of the council, has been returned to office.

When Patrick Crowley withdrew from the council, where he has been a delegate for many years from the Marble Cutters' Union, three locals of marble workers went with him. These, together with the painters', stone cutters', plumbers', plasterers' and bricklayers' unions, which have already quit the council, it was rumored last night, may be the nucleus of a new council, to be organized by the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor. They represent a membership of more than 40,000 workers.

The present Building Trades Council was outlawed by the Building Trades Department of the American Federation of Labor because of its alleged obnoxious rules and practices. John Donlin, president of the Federation department, was instructed at the last convention of the department to organize a new council in this city. In the meantime, all relations between the local body and the Federation department were severed.

Thomas B. Clark, business agent of the Inside Electrical Workers' Union, Local 3, was elected successor to Crowley, and John Halkett, business agent of the Carpenters and Joiners District Council, was made vice-president. They were chosen by the majority of the delegates who favor the new wage arrangement with the employers' association.

Crowley's resignation was presented to the council at a recent regular meeting, when a majority of the delegates voted to table a protest from the Marble Carvers, Cutters and Setters'

To Build at Low Cost and Sell Cheaply Many Small Houses

Having Bought Low-Priced Land and Lumber Realty Associates and Prudence Bonds Corporation Will Construct Groups of Homes for Workingmen

A MODEL home for the workman, with all facilities to meet his needs, and within his power to own, is now in prospect after more than a year of detail study of the problem by experts of the Realty Associates and Prudence-Bonds Corporation.

With immense building operations throughout the country aggregating more than $5,000,000,000 for the year and upwards of $600,000,000 in New York alone, there has not been one group of houses known to have been built or designed to be built for ownership by people of small means. For the most part all operations have been on an ascending scale, builders vying with one another in the inclusion of extra luxuries, and the whole product for people with well-filled purses. It is charged that the rent laws, tax exemption laws and other legislation, professionally designed for the stimulation of building for the poorer classes, have in fact proved to be a powerful factor in circumventing the law of supply and demand by swerving building operations away from the urgent needs of the masses into an overproduction of housing for the prosperous and well-to-do.

Notwithstanding the difficulties of construction and the high cost of building, officials of the Realty Associates and Prudence-Bonds Corporation state their belief that the problem can be solved, provided the houses are built in groups costing $500,000 to $1,000,000 for each group, so that the real home-owning needs of the working classes will be met by houses that a man can buy and own at from seven to eight dollars a room and have a yard with grass and flowers beside. All this has been worked out on the same principle that Henry Ford developed his car—through the elimination of luxuries and non-essentials and getting down to a residuum of practical utility. It is claimed that in building and selling one or a half dozen such houses "there would not be profit enough to pay for the plans," but in groups of 100, 300 or 500 a wholesale profit can be figured such as will justify the operation financially; and the plan is to sell the many at small profit rather than the few at big profit as under the present building scheme.

William M. Greve, Vice-President of the Prudence-Bonds Corporation and Vice-President of the Realty Associates, announced yesterday the general plans finally worked out by the Realty Associates for relieving this pressure even under the present strenuous conditions.

"Our plans," said Mr. Greve, "start with a great tract of land within 30 minutes of downtown New York, which we have bought and with the buying of raw lumber and other materials at the source of supply. From these points the principle of rigid economy and direct utility is applied in all process detail to the actual production of a great group of individual houses. To illustrate, let me cite two instances. In practically all building operations lumber is cut and sized by the workmen according to the specifications of the architect. In cutting down, say, a piece of studding from its stock length of 12 feet to 9, there is a loss of material and a greater loss in the actual cost in time the workman takes to measure the piece, square it and saw it off.

"Another instance is in the economy of plan, in bringing the foundation as near to a square as possible. This will be observed in the treatment of an area of, say, 400 square feet. In a square it would be 20 by 20 feet and requiring 80 feet of wall to surround it; while in the shape of a parallelogram of 10 by 40 feet, also 400 square feet, it would require 100 linear feet of wall to surround it. Therefore without any loss of square footage in the floor plan, the square shaped house will make a saving of 20 linear feet in unnecessary wall, while it will heat better and weather better than the elongated house.

"Now, so far as the requirements of the people of small means are concerned, I happened to have been through the mill myself and when I was engaged in collecting rents I had a chance to observe them in all phases of their struggle upwards. I am therefore in a position to know what they want and don't want. For one thing, they will not use a furnace, if they have one, when they can possibly heat their little home with a kitchen range; nor will they use a dining-room if their kitchen is large enough to accommodate them at meals. They don't want hardwood floors, nor instantaneous heaters, nor electric irons, nor filigree moldings, nor tile baths and other such luxuries if it will add anything to the cost and care. A smooth concrete floor in the bathroom will be just as acceptable as tile. They are in the business of working and saving of making a real start in life, and they want a chance to do this in their own home and in their own way without being forced into extra expense by the artificial conditions about them. And the one thing nearest and dearest to their heart is a home, however humble, which they can buy and own and fix up according to their own desire.

"After a year of special study of the problem, with many drawings and specifications made by our construction department and by company officials, we now believe that we have finally solved the problem of building a one- and two-family house that will meet the real need of families of small means, and a house that we can sell on such terms that they can buy easily and without a thought or worry of ever losing a cent.

"While our task is a great one and we have not yet worked out every point minutely, we are not quite ready to give out our plans in detail. But if one can visualize a little cottage home, five to seven rooms, with a 45-foot frontage, a large combination kitchen and dining room with kitchen range and hot water boiler so situated as to heat the whole house, electric lighting, a dry cellar and concrete-floored bath, and everything designed, without frills and luxuries, for the utmost utility and comfort, he will see what we are striving for; and he will note, too, the real home conditions for the practical start in life of many future prosperous men-of-affairs of the city.

"In this prospective enterprise we feel assured of the hearty co-operation of Borough President Riegelman, the tax commissioners, the savings banks, the Brooklyn Edison Electric Company and the City Administration. We are also confident of the practical co-operation of the labor unions, since it is as much to their interest as our own that the enterprise shall be carried through successfully."

Local No. 4 against the proposed agreement substituting for the present collective bargaining a system of craft agreements separately negotiated. The delegates in their protest, it is understood, questioned the source of the new agreement, which they branded as "purely an employer's proposal."

Despite the dissention in the council, Mr. Crowley said he did not believe the employers would attempt to force a wage reduction upon the various crafts at this time, because of the present building boom and labor shortage.

The twelve points recently agreed to by the Building Trades Council and the Building Trades Employers' Association to assure peace in the building trades of this city during 1923 does not affect the existing wage scale, which will remain at the present level until January 1, 1924, President Clarke explained at a meeting of the executive board of the council. He said that although arbitration as a general principle was adopted in the agreement with the employers, the question of wages was to be considered, under the agreement as it now stands, beyond the scope of any negotiations.

Construction Industry Optimistic Over Building Outlook

Weekly Statistics of F. W. Dodge Company Show Decided Improvement in Number and Value of Projected Operations in Metropolitan District

A VERY decided improvement in the outlook for winter building is shown by the construction statistics tabulated by the F. W. Dodge Company for the forty-sixth week of this year. These figures, which include new building and engineering operations in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, show that during the week of November 11 to 18, inclusive, architects reported plans in progress for 671 new structural projects at an estimated total valuation of $47,-825,100. During the same period in this territory there were contracts placed for 435 new construction operations which will involve a total outlay of more than $25,063,100.

Similar improvement in the construction outlook was noted in New York City, with reports from all boroughs showing 303 new building and engineering operations reported planning during the week of November 11 to 18, inclusive, which will require an expenditure of $38,703,100, and 124 contracts awarded at a total value of approximately $18,006,100.

The outstanding reason for the improvement noted is the revival of residential building activity. During the past week or two there has been a decided increase in the amount of new apartment house work scheduled and according to reports from architects there is every likelihood of continued activity in this field for some time to come.

The list of 303 new projects scheduled for Greater New York was grouped as follows: 39 business and commercial projects such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $1,275,600; 4 educational buildings, $1,094,000; 4 hospitals and institutions, $1,410,000; 13 industrial projects, $1,437,000; 7 public works and public utilities, $211,100; 4 religious and memorial buildings, $175,000; 226 residential structures, including apartments, flats and tenements and one- and two-family dwellings, $32,969,700, and 6 social and recreational projects, $130,700.

Among the 124 projects for which contracts were awarded in New York City during the forty-sixth week of this year were 15 commercial buildings of various types, $614,400; 3 educational projects, $138,000; 1 hospital, $500,000; 5 industrial buildings, $340,000; 7 public works and public utilities, $491,700; 91 residential operations, $15,869,000, and 2 social and recreational buildings, $53,000.

Well-Known Brick Man Is Dead

Arthur J. Fletcher, widely known in metropolitan building circles, and for many years a prominent figure in the face and common brick industry, died suddenly at his home, 183 Fairmount avenue, Newark, N. J., on November 8. Mr. Fletcher was born November 12, 1855. When only thirteen years of age he entered the employ of James R. Sayre, Jr., manufacturer of face and common brick, at what is now known as Sayreville, N. J., and his entire business career was spent in the development of the business of the Sayre & Fisher Co. During his lifetime Mr. Fletcher witnessed the expansion of the Sayre & Fisher Co.'s brick-making plant from two small kilns to its present daily capacity of more than 1,000,000 bricks, and the growth and development of Sayreville from vacant land to a thriving community of more than four thousand people, the majority of whom mainly depend upon the Sayre & Fisher brick plant for employment. About thirty-three years ago he was charged with the establishment of the New York sales office of the Sayre & Fisher Co., in the Bennett Building, on Nassau street, and since then until the day of his death occupied the position of office manager. About four years ago the company celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of his connection with its organization, and at that time there were many expressions of his high sense of business honor and his unceasing efforts in behalf of the Sayre & Fisher Co. Mr. Fletcher was unmarried. He is survived by two sisters.

Slate Industry Convention

Manufacturers, producers, distributors, dealers, roofing and other contractors using slate are planning to gather in New York, at the Commodore Hotel, January 25 and 26, for the slate industry meetings to be held under the auspices of the National Slate Association. Many of the leading concerns in the industry will hold their own sales meetings with their representatives immediately before or after the dates of the sessions devoted to the industry problems. Roofing contractors and other users of slate all over the country have responded well to the need for a co-operative promotion of the use of slate and the betterment of the conditions and relations within the industry, which Secretary Hoover urged the progressive concerns of the industry to undertake at the first meetings last year.

TRADE AND TECHNICAL SOCIETY EVENTS.

American Society of Refrigerating Engineers will hold its annual convention at New York City, December 4 to 6, inclusive.

New York State Retail Hardware Association will hold its annual convention and exposition at Rochester, February 10 to 23, inclusive, next year.

American Association of Engineers will hold its annual convention at Norfolk, Va., May 7 to 9, 1923. Details of this meeting will not be decided for some time.

Building Managers' and Owners' Association of New York holds its regular meetings on the second Tuesday of each month. Charles H. Merritt, executive secretary, 220 Broadway.

American Face Brick Association will hold its annual convention at the West Baden Springs Hotel, West Baden, Ind., December 5 to 7 inclusive. The program has not been announced, but extremely interesting sessions are promised by the committee in charge.

"Own-Your-Home" Exposition—The fifth annual "Own-Your-Home" Exposition will be held in the Sixty-ninth Regiment Armory, April 21 to 28, 1923, and will be conducted by the real estate boards of the Metropolitan district, according to Robert H. Sexton, managing director.

National Crushed Stone Association will hold its annual convention in Chicago, January 15 to 17 inclusive, at which time the convention of the American Road Builders' Association and the Good Roads Show will be in session. Although the details of the program have not been announced as yet, the topics of quarry operation and management will be covered by contributed papers and discussion from the floor.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its forty-third annual meeting in New York City December 4 to 7 inclusive. The tentative program lists twenty sessions. The outstanding feature will be the session to be held Wednesday evening, December 6, with a program presented jointly by the American Economic Association and the management division of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. Joint sessions will be held also with the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers, the American Society of Safety Engineers and the Stoker Manufacturers' Association.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

THE outstanding feature of the local building situation during the past week has been the developing trouble between the bricklayers and their employers. Although the situation is not considered acute, bricklaying on several important projects has been stopped owing to the strike of the mechanics. The employers are making a determined effort to have the questions under dispute settled at the earliest moment so that the stoppage of work may not spread to other active projects at a period of the year when all possible haste is essential.

Considerable interest has lately been aroused in local construction circles by the revival of apartment-house construction in this city. During the past week or so many plans have been reported for new multi-family dwelling projects, mostly of the four-story, walk-up type, which are scheduled for an early start. The Bronx and Brooklyn are particularly active in this regard, and, while a relatively short time ago it appeared as though speculative construction was practically over for the year, the developments of the last few days indicate a growing volume of work of this kind, which will be an important factor in building throughout the coming months.

Lately there has been a very active demand for building materials and supplies, and, as deliveries from production points are somewhat improved, the market outlook is generally considered favorable. Building material prices are very firm, and there is a strong tendency toward higher levels in certain lines, notably common brick and lumber.

Common Brick—The New York market for this material has experienced a busy week. Arrivals from up-river were quite heavy and reported sales were in excess of actual arrivals. Prices, while holding to their levels of a week ago, are very firm, and there have been reports of cargoes being sold at prices somewhat higher than the general ruling quotations.

Summary—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Thursday, November 23, 1922. Condition of market: Demand improved; prices firm and with a strong upward tendency. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $14 to $15 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 43; sales, 44. Distribution: Manhattan, 13; Bronx, 5; Brooklyn, 17; New Jersey points, 6; Astoria, 1; Flushing, 2.

Lumber—Continued activity characterizes the metropolitan lumber market, with excellent business being reported from both wholesale and retail departments of trade. There is a heavy demand for lumber for construction purposes, and manufacturing consumers are buying hardwoods in larger quantities than they have been for some time past. During the past week or so there has been a very decided increase in the winter building outlook, with apartment house construction occupying a prominent position in the list of scheduled operations. A few weeks ago it appeared as though speculative building would be practically dormant throughout the winter, but reports from offices of architects and builders show a steadily increasing volume of apartment house work in prospect, with four-story buildings predominating. As a general thing the stocks of retailers are far from complete at present. This condition is usual at this period of the year because dealers permit their stocks to run down until after the inventory season. This year, however, the stock depletion has been greatly accentuated by the car shortage, which, in a number of instances, has prevented retailers from securing material which they need badly to complete orders.

"One Burner Does the Work of Two or More"

Double or triple the amount of cooking with the same amount of gas! Think of the possible economy! Yet that is but one of the many improvements in the latest type of gas ranges.

VULCAN SMOOTHTOP
COMPACT CABINET GAS RANGE

The smooth, enclosed top retains all food waste, prevents tipping of pots, keeps grease from burning, and makes cooking more comfortable and convenient.

Though with greater cooking capacity, it takes up less space.

Gracefully designed. Finely finished. It's a beauty in every way and is just as good as a book. But remember! You cannot get Smoothtop ranges by placing orders on your range. There is only one Smoothtop and that is scientifically constructed for thorough ventilation.

It's the VULCAN. No other interest in a top demonstration of three top demonstrations with but one burner range.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Reports from flooring factories, sash, door and trim manufacturers and woodworking manufacturers generally show a very active business condition, and there is every indication that the demand will be sustained for some time to come as there is a large volume of work in sight. Lumber prices are very firm, and there is a marked upward trend to values in those lines which are in greatest demand.

Structural Steel—Recent bookings of fabricated steel for construction indicates an improved market for this material, and the number of new inquiries are an assurance of some good business shortly to be released. The major portion of the recent steel bookings are for apartment house projects, and range from 500 tons upward, but there have been several commercial building operations which will require upward of 1200 tons each. Conditions in the steel market are much easier than they have been with the exception of deliveries, which are still badly delayed on account of the lack of cars and consequent freight congestion. Steel prices are steady and practically unchanged.

Reinforcing Bars—Although the demand for concrete reinforcing material is fair, the orders mostly involve small tonnages; and, while there are indications of improved business soon through the release of a considerable amount of high-class industrial construction, it is not likely to materialize until there has been a decided change in the railroad freight transportation situation. Concrete bar prices are firm and practically unchanged.

Cast Iron Pipe—Demand for this material continues very strong, with the majority of orders emanating from construction sources. The mills are still from three to four months behind on deliveries, and orders recently booked are an indication that this situation will prevail for some time to come. Stocks in local jobbers' hands are light because of the car situation. The pipe market outlook is generally considered very promising as it is believed that, after the requirements of the construction industry are fully met, the full factory output over a considerable period will be devoted to the replenishment of jobbers' stocks. Prices are firm, and no changes have been reported during the past week.

Roofing Slate—The demand for roofing slate is excellent, and, according to the records of the National Slate Association, the shipments of this material have been in excess of production, but the stocks on hand at the quarries are sufficient, and no shortage is anticipated. Slate prices are holding firm. While fuel and car shortage embargoes materially delayed shipments during October, the acute situation is now somewhat relieved. Although there is still considerable difficulty in securing cars, contractors and other important slate users are anticipating their slate requirements and allowing more time between placement of orders and time scheduled for delivery.

Window Glass—No change of consequence has taken place in the local market for glass. The demand for both plate and window glass holds very strong, with the majority of orders coming from speculative building interests for glass to be used in apartments and small houses. Stocks are light and prices are very much firmer than they have been.

Electrical Supplies—Business in this line is exceptionally good. Demand for both wiring materials and appliances is increasing steadily, and both manufacturers and jobbers are satisfied with the outlook for the future. Conduit stocks are light, but supplies of other items are generally fair and adequate to all current demands. Prices are steady, and no important changes are anticipated at this time.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1 1/2c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use, WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

Truce in Building Controversy

Success was substantially assured to the winter building program in New York City when the disagreement between the bricklayers and the mason builders was practically settled early this week. Following an extended session before the Lockwood Committee, at which union leaders and employers had opportunity to record their grievances, Walter V. Price, spokesman for the unions, agreed to call off the strike of the bricklayers, and the employers signified their willingness to rescind the lockout order, pending a final settlement of the dispute in conference.

A serious building labor deadlock would have been most unfortunate to the industry at this time. During the past year the local construction field has been remarkably free from dissension and disputes between employers and labor interests. The several instances on record have not been sufficiently serious to retard building progress. Although the employers and their respective trade unions have been working together for the past year or more without definite trade agreements, harmony had been maintained until this inter-union dispute arose to becloud the horizon.

The action just taken by the union leaders and the employers' representatives is deserving of high commendation. The prompt agreement of both parties involved in this dispute has undoubtedly saved the local building industry from a severe loss of both time and money at a critical period of the year. What is of even greater importance, the industry will be able to proceed in harmony with its schedule of winter construction, which up to the time of the strike of the bricklayers on several important jobs seemed certain to be of larger proportions than ever before known in local building history.

A final solution of the matters in dispute is now planned at a conference to be called at an early date. The Lockwood Committee has assumed an important position in the plans for settlement and will be represented on the mediation committee which will hear arguments on both sides.

One of the most important outgrowths of the bricklayers' strike is the order from the Lockwood Committee that both unions of bricklayers' helpers appear before it with their books and records. Undoubtedly this will afford an opportunity to get at the inside workings of these unions, and there is every likelihood that the forthcoming investigation will prove of great benefit to the building industry.

The prime reason for the conference soon to be called is to attempt to weld the two local warring unions of bricklayers' laborers into a solid faction that will in future work in harmony with the employers. It is proposed that this new organization shall become affiliated with the national organization in order that its best interests can be served, and the employers are quite willing to accept such reorganization, feeling that through it the industry will materially gain.

While the Lockwood Committee is to a great extent assuming the burden of settling this dispute, the employers express their willingness to assist in every possible manner in solving the difficulties between the unions and their own organization. The plan now agreed upon is one that promises success, and at once makes it possible for active construction in this city to proceed without hindrance by strike or lockout. As such it will have the support of everyone interested in the welfare of the industry and the speedy completion of the program of work now under way.

A Million-a-Week Increase

It is well understood that the great increase in the city budget during the last few years has been due largely to the constantly-growing items for Personal Service—items covering the salaries of city officials and their subordinates and the wages of the thousands of minor employees in the various departments.

Despite this fact, however, it is rather startling to note the Personal Service charges provided for in the 1923 budget, as set forth by the Evening World. That newspaper recently carried an interesting article in which the totals of items for salaries and wages were separated from the other expenses which enter into the annual cost of conducting our municipal government. It was a timely article, because the city budget is a complicated affair, more often calculated to conceal facts from the taxpayers than to throw light on the cost of administration.

From the budget figures marshalled by the Evening World it appears that the taxpayers of New York City must provide $2,000,000 a week more than was required in 1917 to meet the city pay rolls. A total of about $206,000,000 of the $353,000,000 provided for in the 1923 budget is to be used for Personal Service charges. This represents an increase of approximately $105,000,000 over the total for the same purpose in 1917. Appropriations for salaries and wages of city employees have more than doubled in that short period. Every taxpayer is familiar with the official explanation that these staggering increases have been due to mandatory legislation, but an analysis shows that this claim is barely a half truth. Mandatory legislation has been responsible for an increase of approximately $40,000,000 a year in the appropriations for school teachers, $6,000,000 a year more for the police and $4,000,000 a year more for the firemen. So, too, mandatory legislation is responsible for an increase of about $700,000 in salaries in the courts and county offices. It is apparent, however, that less than half of the increases for Personal Service which have been put into effect since 1917 are chargeable to mandatory legislation. The other increases have been made by the city officials themselves, and upon them rests the responsibility. The fact cannot be escaped that an increase of more than $1,000,000 a week for salaries and wages has been provided in the budget by the city officials themselves and without this enormous increase the total of the city budget would not now reach figures so high as to fairly stagger the taxpayers of the metropolis.

It is entirely futile to expect lower costs in municipal administration until such time as officials come into power who will make it their business to abolish useless positions and adopt the policy of striking names from the city payrolls, instead of constantly adding new names. If the charges for Personal Service which New York taxpayers have to meet each year were cut as they should be the city budget could be reduced to a reasonable total.

Realty as One of the Professions

Many real estate leaders in New York are watching with keen interest the effort to produce trained realty men through the regular course in real estate which recently has been established at New York University. For many years it has been recognized that while proper training facilities for doctors, lawyers, architects and other professional men have been available, no similar facilities have been provided for the training of men who were planning to make activity in real estate their life work. It is significant that the New York University authorities had twice as many applicants for this new course as they could take care of

during the present year.

A great deal of interest has been shown in the course of real estate lectures provided in recent years by the West Side Young Men's Christian Association. The course given last winter especially attracted wide interest and served to emphasize the broad character which this line of activity has come to assume as a profession. It will be recalled that Mr. Robert E. Simon, one of the best-informed speakers in the Y. M. C. A. course last winter, lamented the fact that none of the important American universities had established a course specially aimed to prepare young men for successful endeavor in the real estate field. Mr. Simon declared at that time that in his judgment no more important addition could be made to the scope of university activities, and his sentiments were widely endorsed.

Now that the authorities of New York University have taken the initiative in the matter, it will be interesting to note the progress of this year's real estate class. If the experiment proves as successful as it is important, other institutions of higher learning, especially here in the metropolis, will find it advantageous to establish similar courses.

The buying and selling and management of real estate unquestionably is on a higher plane today than ever before, and every effort to better equip those who are engaged in these activities should be earnestly encouraged.

Optimism Characterizes Mortgage Market for Coming Year

By HAROLD WATSON

Manager Mortgage Department of Duross Company

WE are all familiar with the expression "property poor" as applied to persons overburdened with realty of unbalanced or doubtful value, and when you pause to consider the fact that these United States have corraled the greater part of the world's working capital, in hard cash, during the past ten years, you may even wonder that we are not "money poor," if that be possible.

It is now a matter of history how two gentlemen named Lenine and Trotsky, filled to the brim with underdone philosophy, sallied forth a few years ago with the avowed intention of making capital worthless, by destroying its earning and purchasing power, and in which they seem to have succeeded to a marked degree insofar as their own country is concerned, therefore, it is fair to assume that an over-plus of wealth might have a similar effect in that it would go begging for investment, but we are only too well aware that the past few years of financial activity utterly disproves the latter theory, maintaining as we have the highest rates of interest on investments in our history.

Conservative first mortgage loans on improved real estate have invariably proved the most satisfactory form of investment, and during the construction and reconstruction period of the past four or five years we know that money has been in great demand at rates varying from six per cent. and more per annum, while in some of our states an 8 per cent. rate is considered reasonable.

There is every indication that the interest rate of six per cent. which has held up for several years in Greater New York, has more or less settled down to a five and a half per cent. basis in Manhattan, while some good-sized loans of a conservative nature have also been placed on Bronx properties at that rate. While there was a recent flurry of five per cent. money for Manhattan properties it cannot be taken as an indication of cheaper money available in quantity at the present time, as the few loans made were based on a low percentage of the property values.

In the construction of new one- and two-family dwellings and apartment houses, and it is noteworthy that the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has been the prime factor in providing large amounts of capital at reasonable costs for that purpose, thereby assuring homes for thousands of families. It has also recently been stated

It is difficult to reconcile the mortgage loan market of today with the business of fifteen, or even ten years ago, as narrow ideas, under the guise of conservatism, harbored by many of our lenders in former years, have been dissipated by the influx of competitive investors from other states, who have loaned vast sums of money on a liberal basis, secured by mortgages against which bonds were issued bearing attractive rates of interest and which in turn were sold to investors here and in various parts of the country in large or small amounts as desired, while some of these investments might be considered full loans, their future risk is partly minimized by serial maturities.

A few years ago a mortgage loan of $500,000 covering one piece of property was a much-talked-about transaction, but today we find many of these financing companies making individual loans of several millions of dollars, and it is said that in one instance the lenders made a net profit of over $1,000,000 in selling an entire bond issue covering one parcel of real estate, and this inside of six weeks. Existing conditions serve to show that we are conducting business on a much larger and more liberal scale than in pre-war days.

The outlook for the mortgage market in the coming year is one of optimism, as coupled with the vast amount of capital that our many institutions and mortgage companies are able to invest it is noticeable that former private lenders, tired of the uncertain trend of the bond and stock markets, are steadily returning to the real estate field, many of them having sold their foreign holdings and other wavering securities and offering very substantial sums for investment on mortgages at the prevailing rate of interest, all of which will no doubt have the effect of bringing out considerable capital for investment at the low per cent rate in the near future.

REAL ESTATE SECTION

Upper Fifth Avenue Values Jump After Long Depression

Investors in Lots Between 96th and 110th Streets Fronting Central Park at Last Realize Profits on Purchases Made Long Ago

PROBABLY no part of the city is enhancing more in its real estate values than that part of Fifth Avenue from Ninety-sixth Street to One Hundred and Tenth Street and the blocks immediately adjoining. Attention is called to the growing strength of the section by the purchase by Hugh A. Murray, through Pease & Elliman, from Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, of the northeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Ninety-sixth Street, a vacant plot 100.11 x 100. The new owner will erect thereon a 14-story apartment house, plans for which are being prepared by J. E. R. Carpenter. It will be completed within twelve months.

Mr. Murray is president of the Lion Brewery and most of his investments in the past have been in various parts of the East Side. He has studied the Fifth Avenue neighborhood which figures in this transaction, and as a result has decided to make his investment entirely a cash one. The circumstance in itself is the best comment on the growing strength of realty there. The plot is part of a block front that was sold in 1913 by the Phipps estate, through Pease & Elliman, to the late Mrs. John H. Flagler, who shortly before her death married Judge Bingham, of Louisville, Ky. Mrs. Flagler's original purchase embraced the entire Fifth Avenue block front, from Ninety-sixth to Ninety-seventh Street, which she intended to improve with a mansion after plans by John Russell Pope. Due to the war her plans were delayed and Mrs. Flagler died before actual construction was started. Her principal heir was her niece, Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, who has just sold to Mr. Murray. The architect, Mr. Pope, owned the adjoining 50-foot vacant frontage in Ninety-sixth Street, which he has sold also to Mr. Murray.

The history during recent years of the part of town alluded to reads like a page from a dream book, and the climax of it is that New York real estate may be at times extremely dormant, but is never down and out. Until two years ago property there was often referred to during the previous twenty years as "the real-estate morgue." Numerous prominent investors thought there was a good future for it and that profits would be fairly imminent. Among the buyers there in the "dead era" were August Heckscher, Benjamin Stern, Henry Clews, the late William G. Park, Judge Francis K. Pendleton and the operating firm of Bing & Bing. Some years ago Lawrence B. Elliman tried to negotiate the sale of the area bounded by Fifth and Madison Avenues, Ninety-sixth and One Hundred and Tenth Streets, to a syndicate composed of August Heckscher, Arthur Brisbane and several others, for $10,000,000. The war came along and killed the negotiations. The men comprising the syndicate could not see the utility of the proposition in the light of war conditions. Mr. Heckscher finally became so discouraged over the prospects of recuperation that instead of trying to sell the vacant block front on Fifth Avenue, from One Hundred and Fourth Street to One Hundred and Fifth Streets, which he had long owned, he gave it to the hospital organization which he founded, the Heckscher Foundation. Since the time when these men bought in Upper Fifth Avenue taxes on vacant plots had increased so that there was no advantage in holding the properties. The taxes have gradually increased, year on year, until now they are four per cent. of the six per cent. interest on the money invested. During the dull era the section of Fifth Avenue north of Ninety-sixth Street was not worth any more a front foot than is good tenement-house property on the East Side.

Two years ago, while no one was expecting any material change in the situation, a boom started as a result of the Fifth Avenue Hospital buying the block front on Fifth Avenue, from One Hundred and Fifth to One Hundred and Sixth Streets. Then followed the Heckscher Foundation, which is associated with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, whose fine new building, donated by Mr. Heckscher, will occupy the block from One Hundred and Fourth to One Hundred and Fifth Streets which he gave in conjunction with it. Mount Sinai Hospital, which has long occupied the block fronts on the avenue from Ninety-Ninth to One Hundred and First Streets, has during recent months acquired the southeast corner of the avenue and Ninety-ninth Street, a vacant plot 100.11 x 125, as the site for a new annex to its buildings across the street. Just as interesting a sale was that of 2 East Ninety-Fifth Street, adjoining the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue, a vacant plot 99.11 x 100.8½, which will be immediately improved with a fine apartment house. Not long ago the Frederick F. French Company improved the north corner of Fifth Avenue and Ninety-seventh Street with a choice 6-story elevator apartment house, covering a plot 100.11 x 200 and which, as regards height, conforms with the new zoning law pertaining to the avenue. J. E. R. Carpenter is now improving the south corner of Ninety-sixth Street and the avenue with a 14-story and basement apartment house, on a plot 100.8½ x 150, which will be ready for occupancy by the early summer of 1923. The F. French Company not long ago completed a fine 14-story and basement apartment house on a plot 70.6¾ x 100, at the north corner of the avenue and Ninety-fifth Street.

It is timely to recall that this upper region of Fifth Avenue was long held back by the varied and diversified character of the blocks between it and Madison Avenue. That was why Mr. Elliman sought to effect the sale of the area bounded by Fifth and Madison Avenues, Ninety-sixth and One Hundred and Tenth Streets. At the same time there were no prospects of fine apartment houses and buildings of a semi-public character being erected there, fine mansions being then more popular with the wealthy instead of costly apartments. The movement shows how the initiative of one or two persons starts a course of property betterment. All of the remaining vacant parcels in this part of Fifth Avenue are large ones, and the reduction of the number of them so materially during the last two years has caused an upward trend in the value of the remaining ones. North of Ninety-sixth Street vacant land in Fifth Avenue is worth approximately $2,500 a front foot, which is nearly 200 per cent. more than it was worth a few years ago. As most of the plots are half-block fronts there is no particular additional value to immediate corner pieces. They will be sold only as half block fronts or more, as the case may be. The largest vacant plot remaining is the north corner of Fifth Avenue and One Hundred and Second Street, which fronts 100.11 feet on the avenue and runs 300 feet along One Hundred and Second Street to within 120 feet of Madison Avenue. There is no other such frontage on a side street in that part of the city.

The most recent large sale previous to the Flagler or Lewis sale was that of a few weeks ago, through Pease & Elliman, involving the south corner of Fifth Avenue and One Hundred and Third Street, a vacant plot 100.11 x 75, which was bought by a syndicate of wealthy men as the site for the New Medical Hospital for treatment for men of large means from all over the United States.

The vacant plots now on Fifth Avenue north of Ninety-sixth Street may be counted on the fingers. Mrs. Lewis still owns the south corner of Ninety-seventh Street, about 100 x 100, which adjoins the half block front she just sold to Mr. Murray. The south corner of Ninety-eighth Street, 100.11 x 100, is still awaiting a buyer, as is the north corner of Ninety-eighth Street, 100.11 x 125,

Will Award Medals for Sculpture and Mural Paintings

New York Society of Architects Provides Annual Prizes of Gold, Silver and Bronze for Best Examples of Work

THE regular monthly meeting of the New York Society of Architects was held at the Hotel Astor, Tuesday evening, November 21. The meeting was preceded by a dinner attended by more than fifty members and guests of the organization.

Following the dinner, the Society was addressed by Clinton H. Blake, attorney and well known as the author of works which are used as textbooks in the architectural courses in several universities. Mr. Blake spoke on the subject of "The Legal Pitfalls Met With by Architects in the Practice of Their Profession." The speaker took the ground that architecture is essentially a Fine Art, but with a business side, the two being quite compatible, but under ordinary circumstances the client treats his architect first as a man of business.

After routine business was disposed of, Henry B. Herts, Chairman of the Committee on Sculpture, suggested that three medals, gold, silver and bronze, be awarded annually by the Society for the best examples of architectural sculpture produced during the calendar year. This suggestion was supplemented by H. Devoe that three similar medals be awarded for the best examples of mural painting in public and semi-public buildings. The details of each award to be determined by a special committee. Resolutions were passed favoring these proposals.

Mr. Herts referred at length to the Committee appointed by the State Labor Commission on the formulation of a State Building

Code, enacted by the 1922 Legislature, and turning over to the State Labor Department the matter of safety in theatres and other public buildings. The Committee has done considerable work in the way of investigation throughout the State, and is actively engaged in formulating plans to bring about a State Building Code. Mr. Wiseman, who was also a member of this Committee, explained that the present theatre code of the City of New York is obsolete in many important respects and altogether too limited in its scope. Many improvements will be made to remedy these defects in a new State Building Code. Among the outstanding remedial measures are proper exits to these structures and greater attention to favorable sites before construction is commenced. Without laying down a hard and fast rule in this regard, or lowering the bars unduly, the idea is to give a greater leeway to the architect.

Vice-President Loth urged upon the members of the Society present the duty in their own personal interest and also toward the profession of exercising a more active scrutiny over the measures presented to the Legislature affecting the interests of the architectural profession.

The New York Society of Architects have planned an extensive program of constructive work for the current season. The organization has gained rapidly in membership during the past year and according to its officials is in a flourishing condition. The season's program includes activities that will greatly increase its scope and influence.

Harper Brothers Move Uptown After 105 Years in Franklin Square

MORE than ordinary interest is attached to the announcement that Harper & Brothers, publishers, after being located in Franklin Square for 105 years, have concluded negotiations that will shortly bring this firm into the heart of the mid-town shopping and hotel district. This well-known firm of publishers has closed a contract with Douglas Gibbons & Co. for a long term lease on a new structure to be erected on a plot in East Thirty-third street, adjoining the Vanderbilt Hotel.

This building is to be located at 49 to 51½ East Thirty-third street, on a plot 50 x 100 feet, owned by the East Thirty-third Street Realty Company of which Walton H. Marshall, manager of the Hotel Vanderbilt, is president. Harper & Brothers will have exclusive use of the proposed structure for twenty-six years at an aggregate rental of approximately $1,000,000.

The plans for the building, upon which work will be begun immediately, as the publishers expect to move in early next year, have been prepared by Warren & Wetmore. The building will be of Harvard brick, with a Georgian facade to date back to the establishment of Harper's. The medallion trademark designed by St. Gaudens will be used in the facade, and the woodwork of the directors' room, with its mural decorations by Edwin A. Abbey and other artists, will be in the new building just as it is arranged now.

"The move uptown," said Clinton T. Brainard, president of Harper's, "is one we have been contemplating for some time, and now that the manufacturing of Harper books and 'Harper's Magazine' has been transferred from our old building to the new plant of the Haddon Press which was built for this purpose at Camden, N. J., there is no further reason for delay."

The recent announcement made by Harper's that they would move from Franklin Square, in Pearl Street, where the firm had been situated 105 years, created speculation in publishing circles as to the famous publishing house's new location.

Harper & Brothers was established in 1817 by James and John Harper. Both partners were practical printers. Their shop was a little room in Dover Street, in a building long since torn down. Their first book was Seneca's "Morals," and this was followed by Locke's "Essay Upon the Human Understanding."

In 1823 James and John were joined by their younger brothers, Wesley and Fletcher, and Harper & Brothers was organized. The brothers were among the earliest to bring out Walter Scott's "Waverly" novels.

In 1840 the printing, binding and publishing establishment of Harper & Brothers occupied several buildings on both sides of Cliff Street. In 1850 a large structure was erected for the firm on Franklin Square, in Pearl Street, running back to the Cliff Street buildings. The Harpers had scarcely moved in when the fire of December, 1853, destroyed the entire establishment, involving a loss of $1,000,000.

The brothers at once set about rebuilding the establishment on a larger scale, and upon the same site—the present one. This building was the first fireproof structure in New York.

which includes two small brick buildings on the immediate corner. Another is the vacant block front, 201.10 x 120, from One Hundred and Eighth to One Hundred and Ninth Streets. The north corner of One Hundred and Ninth Street, 100.11 x 100, is yet vacant. So is the north corner of One Hundred and Seventh Street, 100.11 x 110.

The Flagler-Lewis plot brought nearly $500,000. The south corner of One Hundred and Third Street, 100 x 175, sold for about $250,000, while about $200,000 was paid for the south corner of Ninety-ninth Street, a plot 100 x 125.

The 9-story apartment house to be built by Mr. Carpenter, 2 East

Ninety-first Street, will set back seven feet in its two upper stories, in conformity with the requirements of the new zoning law. That fact will not impair the rental power of these upper apartments, however, as the setback is offset by the superior light and air and lack of noise caused by height.

It is the general belief that the remaining vacant parcels in Fifth Avenue between Ninety-sixth and One Hundred and Tenth Streets will not long remain unimproved. The fee values have become too great and the trend of large improvements is in that direction. Mr. Murray will hold his new apartment house as a permanent investment.

Unique Hotel-Hospital Planned For Upper West Side

Twenty-Two Story Structure, Including Numerous Special Features, Designed by Sugarman, Hess & Berger, at Cost of $3,000,000

PLANS are matured for a new building project in this city which will embody a number of exceedingly interesting features. This operation involves the construction of a modern hospital with the splendor, arrangement and comfort of a first-class hotel at a cost exceeding $3,000,000. The location selected for this unique skyscraper "Hotel Hospital" is the northwest corner of Seventy-second street and West End avenue, a plot 80x115, which was formerly the home site of F. Huyler, president of the Huyler Candy Company. The project will be the only one of its kind in the Metropolis and in fact, in the world.

The underlying idea of this project originated in the mind of a noted surgeon. After discussing it from all angles with other well-known men in the medical profession they all became so imbued with the possibilities and need of a building of this character that they formed a corporation for carrying out this new idea in hospitalization.

This structure, which the syndicate has in mind, will be twenty-two stories in height, and will overlook Riverside Drive and the Hudson River. The majority of its four hundred rooms will face the south and east.

The property was bought through Frederick Zittell & Sons by the Physi-Surge-Rhue, Inc., a newly organized firm with offices at 119 Nassau street. The corporation is represented by M. Carl Levine, well known in building and realty fields and in corporate law. The hotel-hospital is being designed by Sugarman, Hess & Berger, architects and engineers, who are designing a series of new hotels in New York City and several hospitals in other towns. It is expected to break ground early in December, and the contract for construction has already been given to the National Constructors and Engineers, Inc., of this

The plans show a building which will be unique not only because of its height and new elements of hospitalization, but also because of the interweaving in this project of the home and apartment house idea. There pervades throughout the whole scheme, the idea of the private apartment, as it is the intention to make all those entering the building feel that they will be treated and recuperate in their own apartment. It is the intention to try and keep away from the elements of institutionalism and leave the impression that one is simply ill in their own home. This feature together with a complete equipment of practically every branch of surgical and medical profession, the provisions made for the accommodation of the patients of the many well known physicians and surgeons of the city will make this a model undertaking.

There are a multiplicity of elements entering into this building both for hotel and hospital purposes. The plans show ten operating rooms complete in all respects, with arrangements for at least two to be used for lecture purposes, hydrotherapeutic baths, laboratories, diet kitchens, examining rooms, nurses' rooms and other modern units incorporated in hospital work. The upper stories are provided with a solarium, promenades, porches and other outdoor elements. There are some very interesting arrangements made for quick service, for constant attention, for privacy, for noiselessness and for cheerfulness.

There will be a lobby two stories high, and a public dining room on street floor. Two of the ten operating rooms will be extra large and will provide accommodations for visiting physicians.

There will be entrances to the building, one on each street front.

Although this project will go on record as the first hotel-hospital to be erected in this city plans are being matured for another building designed along somewhat similar lines. This project will be located at the south corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Third street. The plot, 75x100 feet, was bought through Pease & Elliman by a syndicate of wealthy men as the site for the new Medical Hospital. This building will also include a number of unique features in design, plan and operation, and will be for the treatment of people of large means from all parts of the country.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Some Fair-Sized Sales in Given Sections Marked a Week That Felt a Cessation of Activity Consequent on the Holiday Season

THERE were no striking features to the real estate market, this week. It appears that the relaxation from big doings may be due to the Thanksgiving holiday. Notable among the transactions was the sale of the west side group of apartment houses, known as the Spanish flats, covering the east side of Seventh Avenue, from Fifty-eighth to Fifty-ninth Streets and running down each of the streets. Built by De Navarro, father-in-law of Mary Anderson, one time famous actress, these buildings were during the middle eighties and early nineties among the premier apartment houses of America. Shifting of neighborhoods and more modern structural improvements, however, made them comparatively obsolete. The result is that they will soon make way for a large hotel. Seventh Avenue has felt the compelling influence of the Pennsylvania Station, Times Square and the rapid transit route beneath the avenue, with the result that its prestige has become enhanced and a large, modern hotel is in order.

Washington Heights continued to be this week, as it was last week, the mecca of many investors and operators. Some of the most modern apartment houses in the city situated there changed hands, as did also a few good sized vacant plots for improvement. Some choice corner parcels there changed hands, too. Harlem contributed the sale of the Alpha apartment house at the corner of St. Nicholas Avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-fifth Street, along with a variety of other properties scattered throughout its area. There was a good sale on the fringe of Harlem, an 8-story elevator apartment house, corner of Madison Avenue and Seventy-seventh Street. The Bronx continued to show the activity that has characterized it for many weeks last past. There is investment in some of the northern borough's new multi-family houses. Some good store and apartment properties on important thoroughfares of the Bronx also found new owners, as did a few large vacant plots.

Third Avenue, which has during the last year been a zone for operators and investors, was the scene of a big transaction this week, when Yale University sold to a well known operator nearly an entire block front of the avenue, excepting the building on each corner. The purchase embraces a group of old tenement houses with stores. In the light of the activity there, these Third Avenue parcels will undoubtedly soon be resold at a substantial profit. There were some other and smaller sales of Third Avenue properties. Here and there, throughout the city, a small business building was sold and there were also a few sales to tenants of certain properties. A Broadway corner was bought by the tenant. It looks as if there is to be a slight cessation of activity generally during the holiday season that has now set in.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week, was 90, as against 100 last week and 62 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 50th st was 25, as compared with 43 last week and 36 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 50th st was 65, as compared with 56 last week and 54 a year ago.

From the Bronx 36 sales at private contract were reported, as against 44 last week and 59 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of selling instruments, will be found on page 722.

Heights Apartment Site Bought

The plot, 164.4x100x77.10x119.6, at the northwest corner of St. Nicholas pl and 153d st, has been purchased by Simon Levy, represented by Joseph Levy, attorney, for Alice Blauvelt. Slawson & Hobbs were the brokers.

The property was owned by the selling family for many years and was valued at $100,000. The new owner will erect on the site a large elevator apartment house to cost about $400,000. A 3-sty and basement detached mansion is now on the site.

Alpha Apartments Sold

Joseph G. Bassman, of the S. H. Raphael Co., Inc., sold the northwest corner of 125th st and St. Nicholas av, a 4-sty brick elevator apartment house, known as the Alpha, containing 34 suites and 7 stores, held at $350,000. It occupies a plot 99.11x100. The brokers will manage the property.

Operators in a Corner Deal

Norman Riesenfeld and Joseph F. A. O'Donnell, operators, purchased the southwest corner of Lexington av and East 89th st, 100x93, from the estate of Heilner & Wolf and Fred M. Marks, who held the property at $225,000. The Best Combination WHATEVER property you have to leave to your heirs, it is well to consider three ways of leaving it administered in the best interests of those whom you love.

By individual executor. By this Trust Company. By a combination of both.

There are grave objections to selecting an individual executor. The risks of sickness or death are but two of these.

The objection that the Trust Company is a stranger to your family, unacquainted with its affairs, is trivial compared to the advantages of its experience, organization and stability.

But in many cases, heirs can be served best by the combination of an individual in whom you have confidence and this Trust Company. This close partnership brings to your individual executor the assistance of a Trust Company with abundant experience in settling estates and brings to your heirs the most careful services of a strong corporation immune to all hazards of life.

You are cordially invited to consult

Employers and Unions Negotiating Permanent Peace

Truce Until December 31, Pending Arbitration Before Lockwood Committee, Averts Complete Tie-Up of Local Construction Program

BUILDERS, architects, material manufacturers and dealers, and all others interested in the construction industry in the Metropolitan district were greatly pleased by the announcement that the likelihood of a long drawn out conflict between the unions and the employers had been removed.

The bricklayers' union and the Mason Builders' Association agreed Tuesday to a temporary truce until December 31, whereupon the bricklayers returned to work at once, and the employers rescinded the lockout order which was to have gone into effect Tuesday afternoon. The order would have thrown between 8,000 and 9,000 bricklayers out of work in the city and severely hampered building operations.

The agreement was reached at an executive meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday morning attended by representatives of the unions involved and the employers and by members of the Lockwood Committee.

Later, at a session of the Lockwood Committee, Samuel Untermeyer, chief counsel to the committee, called the leaders of the various factions to the witness stand and they agreed to abide by the truce.

An arbitration board consisting of representatives of the unions, the employers, and with Senator Charles C. Lockwood and Mr. Untermeyer as umpires, was appointed to formulate a permanent peace. Mr. Untermeyer announced that the board would meet at his office, 120 Broadway, within the next few days to start work.

The controversy is waged about the Independent Laborers' Union, which, it was charged, is an organization promoted by the employers association with a view to breaking up the old-established unions.

A crisis in the situation was reached when the masons' unions decided to resist firmly the demand of the Mason Builders' Association for union bricklayers to go back to work on certain jobs where non-union hod-carriers were employed. Cessation of all brick work on jobs for members of the Employers' Association was ordered if the ultimatum of the mason builders was not complied with.

The trouble was precipitated, according to C. G. Norman, chairman of the employers, when 200 bricklayers were called off eight construction jobs because employers refused to displace non-union hod-carriers with union men. Resolutions were adopted at a meeting of the employers last Friday in which it was charged that the bricklayers called strikes in violation of an agreement, with the object of forcing the employers into a break with the "independent" hod-carriers.

Walter V. Price, spokesman for the unions, said an attempt by contractors to force the building laborers to desert the American Federation of Labor for the Independent Union was directly responsible for the controversy.

The masons' unions last week decided to refuse to give in to the ultimatum of the Mason Builders' Association that bricklayers go back Monday to jobs they quit because non-union hod-carriers had been employed.

The Building Trades Employers' Association voted to support the mason builders in their fight against the employees.

When told that unless the bricklayers returned to work Monday the employers threatened to institute a lockout, Walter V. Price, speaking for the unions, said:

"We'll go through with it and go through with it alone unless we have to call on the other trades sometime later."

Union leaders were firm in the declaration that they would fight to force the employers to discharge all hod-carriers not possessing cards in the new union chartered by the American Federation of Labor. Paul A. Vacarelle heads the new union, which, the bricklayers say, has been recognized by their international union. The international organization has authorized the bricklayers to refuse to work with other than Vacarelle hod-carriers, it was stated. On the other hand, the employers said that they had entered into contracts, which they could not break, with the independent hod-carriers.

In the last week several sporadic strikes have taken place on account of the refusal of the bricklayers to work on jobs with the so-called independents.

Christian G. Norman, chairman of the Board of Governors of the Building Trades Employers' Association, of which the mason builders' organization is a member, estimated that the lockout order, if it had gone into effect, would have tied up building operations approximating $40,000,000 and would eventually mount up to $100,000,000.

Frank E. Conover, president of the Mason Builders' Association, after the Lockwood hearing on Tuesday sent telegrams to the 128 members of his organization rescinding the lockout order that was to have gone into effect at 5 o'clock, when the employers planned to pay off the bricklayers. Representatives of the various unions were also called to the witness stand and agreed to observe the truce.

Mr. Untermeyer refused to speculate as to the probable terms of the eventual agreement.

The arbitration board consists of the following members: Walter V. Price, head of the New York Executive Committee of the international bricklayers; Matthew Sullivan, organizer of the international hod-carriers; A. Postilioni, of the independent hod-carriers; Louis J. Horowitz, of the Thompson-Starrett Company, representing the mason builders; Frederick T. Young, chairman of the Arbitration Board of the mason builders, and James J. Fogarty, of the New York Executive Committee of the bricklayers.

Brief hearing was given to the rival leaders of hod-carriers: F. Paul A. Vacarelle, organizer of the International Hod-carriers, Building and Common Laborers, affiliated with the A. F. of L. and Giovanni B. Dioguardi, president of the Independent Bricklayers' Helpers and Building Laborers' Union of America.

Mr. Dioguardi gave his membership as "sometimes 12,000, sometimes 7,000," many of whom were also members of the other union. Once initiation fees were paid, he said, members were never counted delinquent for failure to pay dues. He had no bank account, he added, kept his funds in his office safe at 230 East Fifty-eighth street, had dispensed with a treasurer in 1920 and was assisted in his duties by a woman employee.

Paul Vacarelle offered to resign and let Mr. Dioguardi become head of both unions if he could show a bona fide membership of 2,000.

Injunction proceedings brought by the Dioguardi union in Brooklyn are to be withdrawn as a result of the truce, it is understood.

The Lockwood Committee adjourned until December 12 at 10 a. m. at the City Hall.

McKim, Mead & White, architects, have been retained by the owners to prepare the plans for the projected hotel and auxiliary buildings. Their preliminary sketches call for a fireproof tract containing 105 acres situated in the picturesque hill section of Jamaica. The property was formerly owned by the Hillcrest Golf and Country Club.

There is an eighteen-hole course on the property, designed several years ago by Devereaux Emmett, which will be greatly improved and possibly another course will be added later, if found to be desirable.

The Hillcrest Hotel Corporation, of which William A. McCusker, formerly of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel management, structure, designed in the French Renaissance style of the period of Francis the First. The cost of construction of the hotel and other buildings is estimated at approximately $1,500,000.

The hotel building will be five stories in height, with basement, and will contain about two hundred and fifty rooms each with private bath, in addition to large dining rooms, grill, billiard room, lounge, swimming pool, etc. The construction of this building will be commenced in the near future.

Construction Industry Will Need 650,000,000 Pounds of Copper and Brass Next Year

A SURVEY of the building industry which has just been completed by the Copper and Brass Research Association places the total expenditures in this country during 1922 for all classes of building at $5,000,000,000. Approximately one-third of this amount will be expended for dwelling construction, according to statistics furnished by the Copper and Brass Research Association.

Industrial buildings follow, with a total of $655,000,000, after which come office buildings with $645,000,000; hotels, $640,000,000, and schools, $610,000,000. Public buildings, hospitals and churches follow in the order named.

The total consumption of copper in the building industry this year is estimated at 150,000,000 pounds, comprising copper, brass and bronze in the form of sheets, piping, hardware, lighting fixtures, wire, etc.

This is an increase of 100,000,000 pounds as compared with 1921, of 96,000,000 pounds as compared with 1920, and of 73,000,000 pounds as compared with 1919, in which years the amount of copper used in the building industry varied between 4 and 6 per cent of the total copper consumption of the United States.

It is estimated that 118,000,000 pounds of copper will be used this year in roofing and sheet-metal work, 17,000,000 pounds in plumbing, 11,000,000 pounds for lighting fixtures, etc., and 4,000,000 pounds in hardware.

It is stated in the survey:

"The potential market for copper and brass in the building industry on the basis of this year's construction is estimated at 650,000,000 pounds to be used in a schedule of projects involving every type of operation.

Revival of Residential Building in Metropolitan District

Weekly Statistical Report of F. W. Dodge Company Shows Renewed Activity Among Speculative Interests in Construction of Apartment Houses

THE approach of winter brings little evidence of a decline in the volume of new construction being planned. For the past several weeks, reports from offices of architects and contractors in this territory show a very healthy situation as applied to newly projected operations and the records of contracts awarded recently are indicative of a continuation of unusual activity in the construction field for some months to come.

Building activity in New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, as indicated by the weekly statistics of the F. W. Dodge Company, is regarded as unusually promising. The totals for the forty-seventh week of this year average well with those of previous weeks and although there are evidences of a slight seasonal decline the drop is not nearly as serious as was anticipated only a short time ago. The new building and engineering operations reported in the early planning stages during the forty-seventh week of 1922 involved 782 separate projects at a total estimated value of approximately $30,470,600. During the same period there were contracts awarded for 450 structural operations at an estimated cost of $18,333,200.

In New York City there is a continuation of structural activity at a rate far in excess of recent anticipations and unless the impending labor disturbances curtail progress the city will experience a winter building season of unusual intensity. Recorded construction in the five boroughs of New York City for the forty-seventh week involves 292 new structural projects of various types at a total value of $18,805,900 and 133 contract commitments which will require a total outlay of about $10,024,000.

The 292 operations reported as planning include 19 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $436,500; 3 educational projects, $245,000; 1 hospital, $3,000,000; 6 factories and industrial buildings, $113,000; 3 public works and public utilities, $43,800; 4 religious and memorial buildings, $81,000; 253 residential operations including apartments, flats and tenements, and one- and two-family dwellings, $14,301,600 and 3 social and recreational projects, $585,000.

Included in the list of 133 operations for which contracts were awarded in New York City during the forty-seventh week of 1922, were 11 business buildings of various types, $665,000; 3 schools and other educational structures, $30,000; 1 hospital, $3,000,000; 4 industrial projects, $140,000; 2 military structures, $72,000; 1 public works project, $50,000; 110 residential operations including multi-family dwellings and one- and two-family dwellings, $6,032,000 and 1 recreational building, $35,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Record and Guide announces that its telephone number has been changed from Bryant 4800 to Pennsylvania 1500.

J. P. Tuplin, structural engineer, who has been connected with the Foundation Co., 120 Liberty street, for the past six years, has joined the staff of Geo. B. Post & Sons, architects, 101 Park avenue.

Carl H. Gilman has joined the engineering staff of the J. G. White Engineering Corp., general contractors. He was formerly resident engineer for the Maine Highway Commission.

Lord Electric Co., New York and Boston, announces that it has secured the services of Boyd Thistle as a member of its engineering staff.

Atlas Elevator Devices Corporation, formerly associated with the Atlas Devices Co., Inc., 270 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, announces the removal of its offices to 260 West 34th street, New York City.

The Underwriters' Laboratories announce the removal of their New York offices from 25 City Hall place to new quarters in the Underwriters' Laboratories Building at 109 Leonard street. They will occupy the entire two upper floors, and additional space has been provided for still further expansion. The removal of this organization was made necessary by the rapidly increasing demands for the Laboratories' service, and also by the fact that casualty and burglary protection devices have recently been added to the list taken care of at the New York branch, until a short time ago occupied solely with matters electrical. At this new location will be continued the work of electrical testing laboratories and the conducting of inspections at factories and label service in the Metropolitan District, which includes New York, New Jersey and southern Connecticut. The New York office is under the direction of Dana Pierce, vice-president.

October Cement Shipments.

Cement production figures for the entire country, as compiled by the Geological Survey, totaled 12,257,000 bbls during October. This is an increase of nearly 17 per cent. over the 10,506,000-bbls. total for October, 1921. Shipments, however, reached 12,854,000 bbls. as against 12,- 114,000 bbls. for the corresponding period last year, which is of particular interest when considered in connection with the current car shortage. Mill stocks amounted to 4,157,000 bbls., on hand Nov. 1 as compared with 5,348,000 bbls., available at the same time last year.

Department of Commerce statistics show that cement imports, from Sept. 1 to 21 inclusive, amounted to 42,641,000 bbls., valued at $88,724. Shipments were received mainly from Canada, Denmark, Belgium, Japan, Mexico and Norway. Cement exports totaled 78,615 bbls., valued at $219,898.

Lumber Firm Expands Plant.

Louis Brook, Inc., manufacturer of window frames, sash and doors, and wholesale and retail dealer in lumber, with main office and factory at 148 to 152 India street, Brooklyn, announces the purchase of the entire block of vacant land at Woodward and Flushing avenues, adjoining the tracks of the Long Island Railroad, for necessary expansion of its plant. The firm has also negotiated an agreement with the Long Island Railroad to install all required sidings and switches which will effect a considerable saving in trucking annually.

The additional space recently acquired will enable the firm in future to carry a complete line of rough lumber in addition to its window frame department. Orders have already been placed with the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company for a million feet of fir timbers and with other concerns for yellow pine and North Carolina pine lumber aggregating another million feet. This will make an excellent assortment for a new yard.

The new yard of Louis Brook, Inc., is located in a district ideal for rapid delivery of orders to any part of Greater New York. Arrivals of lumber will be facilitated by sidings into the yard and water shipments will be unloaded within five hundred feet of the plant.

Discussing the purchase of this property and the plans for its development, Mr. Brook said:

"We are anticipating at least three years more of very active building conditions in this territory, and our firm is making a determined effort to speed up production so as to take care of our rapidly growing business. On January 1, 1923, we intend to increase our capital to $100,000 paid in stock and we will be in a position to expand our working facilities and assure unusually prompt deliveries on all orders."

TRADE AND TECHNICAL SOCIETY EVENTS.

American Society of Refrigerating Engineers will hold its annual convention at New York City, December 4 to 6, inclusive.

American Society of Mechanical Engineers will hold its forty-third annual meeting in New York City December 4 to 7 inclusive.

American Association of Engineers will hold its annual convention at Norfolk, Va., May 7 to 9, 1923. Details of this meeting will not be decided for some time.

New York State Association of Builders will hold its twenty-seventh annual convention at Elmira, January 30 to 31, 1923, inclusive. The program for this meeting will be announced later.

American Face Brick Association will hold its annual convention at the West Baden Springs Hotel, West Baden, Ind., December 5 to 7 inclusive. The program has not been announced, but extremely interesting sessions are promised by the committee in charge.

National Crushed Stone Association will hold its annual convention in Chicago, January 15 to 17 inclusive, at which time the convention of the American Road Builders' Association and the Good Roads Show will be in session. Although the details of the program have not been announced as yet, the topics of quarry operation and management will be covered by contributed papers and discussion from the floor.

This exposition will immediately follow the annual meetings of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers and the American Society of Refrigerating Engineers and will remain open until December 12.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

BUILDING conditions in the Metropolis have been upset to some extent during the past week by the strike of the bricklayers on several jobs and the threats of the employers to institute a lockout unless the strikers return to their jobs without further delay. Although the prevailing difficulty in labor circles is basically an inter-union proposition, the employers have been drawn into it, and unless speedily settled is likely to cause considerable trouble for the industry as a whole just at a time the greatest injury is possible.

Prior to the disagreement in labor circles the outlook for the winter building season in and around New York City was excellent. There is already a large amount of construction under contract and scheduled to proceed during the next few months, and reports of new projects being planned by architects are announced daily. It has been a number of years since the prospects for winter building activity were as favorable as they are at present, and the construction industry is hopeful that the dispute may be settled without hindrance to local progress.

One of the most interesting aspects of the local building situation at the present time is the steadily increasing volume of apartment house construction that is being released for an immediate start. Several months ago it was freely predicted that the residential building movement was about concluded, at least for the current year. During the latter part of the summer there seemed to be a greater number of residential buildings under way than the demand for living accommodations warranted. However, the renting records of the past few months show a lively demand still for modern small-unit apartments, and speculative builders in the Bronx and Brooklyn are going ahead with their plans for a large number of projects of this type.

Local markets for building materials and supplies have been exceedingly active during the past week. The favorable weather conditions this autumn have been responsible for the start of a large number of new projects and the revival of apartment house construction is augmenting the demand for structural commodities. Dealers in masons' materials, lumber merchants, and manufacturers and sellers of other items used in construction work all are well satisfied with current business conditions, and as there has been a slight improvement in the railroad freight situation, with shipments coming more promptly from production centers, the market outlook is generally optimistic. Prices are very firm and there is a decided trend toward higher building material price levels as the winter season matures.

Common Brick. The strike of the bricklayers on several important building projects in New York City so far has not decreased orders for this material. Buying activity in the New York wholesale market for Hudson River common brick was somewhat above normal for this time of the year, with Brooklyn standing out prominently as the most important consumer at this time. This is largely due to the fact that a number of large apartment house projects have recently been matured and their builders are making their material commitments so as to be assured of ample supplies as they are required. A number of speculative builders are starting their operations immediately in order to take advantage of the exemption from taxation, and in order to do this their jobs must be substantially under way before next spring. The common brick demand has been very strong from all sections of the Metropolitan District this week, and unless the bricklayers' strike spreads or the threatened lockout by the employers materializes there is likely to be a good market for this commodity for some time to come. Common brick prices are very firm at levels somewhat higher than they were a week ago. The ruling prices are $15 to $16 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside, and the majority of sales are said to be made at $15.50 a thousand or above.

Summary Transactions in the North River common brick market for the week ending Wednesday, November 28, 1922. Condition of market: Demand excellent; prices, higher and firm at the new level. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $15 to $16 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 36; sales, 32. Distribution: Manhattan, 5; Bronx, 1; Brooklyn, 18; New Jersey points, 5; Astoria, 2; Yonkers, 1. Remaining unsold in the New York wholesale market on November 28, 14.

Structural Steel—Despite the fact that reports from the offices of architects and engineers in this district indicate the early release of a substantial number of important structural projects the local market for fabricated steel is quiet. Fabricators report that relatively few jobs of any real size have been released for bids during the past week or so, but they are well satisfied with the outlook. At present there is sufficient business pending to give the market an unusually active aspect for the season. Operations in the fabricating shops are being maintained at an excellent rate and in a number of instances are only limited by the continued difficulty in getting shipments through from the mills. Prices are steady for both shapes and fabricated material.

Cast Iron Pipe—Although new orders are not coming in as rapidly as they did a few weeks ago manufacturers of cast iron pipe are generally well satisfied with the business outlook. Municipal business is relatively light, as it is usually at this period of the year, but private buyers are fairly active, and from all accounts demand is likely to hold its present rate of intensity for some time to come. Pipe manufacturers are said to be encountering considerable difficulty in obtaining permits for shipments on account of the car shortage. Prices are firm and unchanged with New York quotations as follows: 6 in. and larger, $54.50 per net ton in carload lots f.o.b., 4 in. and 5 in., $59, and 3 in., $64.80, with Class A and gas pipe $4 extra per ton.

Reinforcing Bars—Concrete reinforcement bookings were lighter during the past week than they have been, but there is a satisfactory number of inquiries which denote excellent business in the near future. Plans are being prepared for a number of large industrial and commercial projects in the Metropolitan District which will involve a substantial total tonnage of reinforcing material. Prices are steady and firm.

Electrical Supplies—Trade conditions in the electrical supply market have not changed to any extent during the past week. As a general thing demand is good and dealers are favorably impressed with the prospects for business during the next three or four months. The demand for wiring materials has dropped to some extent, but there is considerable amount of active construction that should be responsible for substantial orders in the near future. Prices for electrical materials and supplies are firm and no changes of consequence have been reported to the trade.

Window Glass The situation in the local market for both plate and window glass remains practically unchanged.

The owners of large hotels and buildings are realizing more and more the necessity for having dependable and economic electric service

Central Station Service meets these requirements and for that reason contracts are being closed every day with the larger owners and holders of real estate

The installation of the Hotel Marlborough is for 2,400 lamps and 135 horsepower, of which 90 horsepower, required for the operation of two elevators and four pumps, represents the new equipment that has been installed to replace the steam apparatus

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1 1/2c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use, WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

Rent Law Bunk Again Exposed

Many have been the protests made by THE RECORD AND GUIDE against the Emergency Rent Laws passed by the New York Legislature in response to the demand of the Lockwood Housing Committee. It has been pointed out repeatedly in this publication that these emergency laws, although ultimately sustained as to constitutionality by the United States Supreme Court, were illogical in many of their provisions, unfair to the great majority of landlords, and responsible for unending confusion, besides prolonging instead of ending the housing shortage.

The New York emergency laws, like those passed by legislatures in numerous other states, had their origin in hysteria. Since these laws were first enacted the emergency has passed, and yet the lawmakers show no inclination to repeal them. In view of this fact, especial interest attaches to a review of these rent-fixing statutes recently prepared for the American Contractor by Dr. Willford I. King, and reprinted in full in this issue of THE RECORD AND GUIDE. Dr. King long has been a recognized authority in economics, and his present work as a United States statistician has given him special opportunity to study the effects of the Emergency Rent Laws in various states. In his article Dr. King refers to the relative advance in rents as compared with construction costs, wholesale and retail prices, and shows what has been known as a fact by all unbiased students, that at no time during or since the war did rents advance in any such proportions as the increases recorded in the other important items of living expenses.

It must be recognized that Dr. King speaks with authority when he declares that the leasing of houses is one of the most highly competitive of businesses, and keen competition means that only the alert can secure even normal returns on investments in that field. Competition rather than monopoly, as he points out, is certainly the dominant force in determining house rents. One of the most striking points made in his article is that the experience of the century has shown that public interference with competitive prices is almost invariably harmful to all concerned. There is no gainsaying the logic of Dr. King's statement that "whenever these laws have been enforced they have manifestly reduced the landlord's income and have transferred part of the value of his property to the tenant."

While concluding that existing rent laws have been confiscatory in their nature, Dr. King rightly maintains that insofar as the rent laws have yielded any results they have produced effects exactly the reverse of those expected, and that one of their most detrimental effects has been to hamper building to no little extent and thereby materially to delay the elimination of the housing shortage. So much bunk and political claptrap has been heard about the Emergency Rent Laws it is encouraging, as well as edifying, to get this true slant on the subject from such a well-known authority.

The Emergency Rent Laws in this state have outlived the emergency which inspired them, and the new Legislature which meets in Albany next month would perform a genuine public service by repealing them. There is ample evidence that the only housing shortage today is found in the lack of low-priced quarters for workingmen, whose high wages continue to be one deterrent factor in supplying this lack.

Building Prospects for 1923

Never before in the building history of the metropolis has there been such a large and diversified construction program on hand at the commencement of winter as now. Although several weeks ago it appeared that the usual seasonal decline would be responsible for a notable drop in the volume of active building, the records for November show a surprising amount of work in immediate prospect and considerably more being planned for early release.

Construction statistics for November 1922, as compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company, show recorded contract commitments to the total value of $248,366,000 for the twenty-seven Northeastern States, a territory that includes approximately three-fourths of all the building operations in the United States. This total is thirty per cent. higher than that for the same month a year ago and, as it is only about two per cent. under the figure for the preceding month, the effects of a seasonal decline in the construction industry may be discounted, at least for this year.

The outlook for the local building industry rarely has been as favorable as it is at present. Building in the metropolis is now almost as active as it was in mid-summer and there is a strong indication that the progress of the autumn months will be repeated during the winter, as recent records of contracts awarded show practically no falling off in the volume of projected work.

The commitments for new building projects in New York City for November numbered 1,737 and represent a total expenditure of $46,170,600. This total is $8,393,300 greater than that for the same period of 1921 and averages well with the monthly totals for the past three or four months of this year.

Local builders are confident that the heavy commitments recorded in November, along with the reports that architects and engineers are busily engaged on plans and specifications for many new operations of more than ordinary importance, is an excellent indication of a building year to come that will equal if not surpass the high record established in 1922.

Prospective builders, those who are making plans for starting new projects early next year, have been assured by financial interests that there is a large amount of money available for construction purposes and that the building program of the coming year will not be hampered by a restriction of funds. The manufacturers of materials have frequently given assurance during the past weeks that they will be in a position to meet all requirements for materials and supplies.

The outstanding doubts as to next year's building activity chiefly concern the amount of skilled and unskilled labor available for the work in hand and the ability of the railroads to get their lines so organized that the transportation of materials will not be delayed. If these matters can be settled definitely there seems to be no reason why the coming year should not develop into a period of activity equal at least to the one now drawing to a close.

Many Bargains in Country Houses in Suburbs of New York

By JAMES G. COFFIN

President of S. Osgood Pell & Co.

IT BEHOOVES those who are interested in owning their own country homes or estates at prices lower than can possibly prevail for some years to come to bestir themselves. This applies with equal force whether the home desired is merely for the summer season or for all year occupancy; whether the location preferred be Westchester, nearby Connecticut, Long Island or New Jersey. Let us briefly analyze the market for moderate priced houses.

Most of the war activities were centered in the East. Nearly all the enlisted men passed through New York City either on their way to or returning from the front. Many were fascinated with the greatest city in the world and not a few were attracted by the many and diversified opportunities it presented.

The ending of the war left us with a shortage of housing accommodations of every sort. There had been no building for some years—no increased facilities to take care of the unprecedented demand. Labor was scarce, inefficient and almost prohibitive. Building materials wasted through the extravagance of the war were both high and inferior. Spurred by tax exempt laws and by the incessant demand suburban builders vied with each other in reaping the golden harvest.

Everywhere in the less expensive suburbs blocks of single or multi-family houses were thrown together for the eager buyers of homes selling from $10,000 to $18,000. Through various causes many of these houses are now for sale, generally for less than they cost the present owners, although the value of the ground because of the improvements has increased many times. Many pre-war houses of approximately the same size are also in the market.

Let us now consider the market for the more expensive places generally classified as estates. Westchester along with most suburban New York has felt the inactivity of the past season. This is due not to any one cause but to a combination of circumstances. Foreign travel this year has been extensive. The unusually late summer, with many cold and rainy days throughout the season has made the city homes and apartments comfortably cool. The general business and trade uncertainties have made renters and buyers of expensive homes overcautious. The increased difficulty of getting satisfactory servants has also discouraged many who invariably seek the country at the first approach of summer. The high prices at which the more attractive country homes have been held were a decidedly deterrent factor.

This continued lack of activity and in many cases of even inquiries either for sale or rent has reduced the prices to such an extent that the market is full of real bargains.

Surplus of Steam Coal But Shortage of Domestic Sizes

NOW that the winter season is actually here, although the weather continues mild, there has been a revival of interest in the coal situation, due largely to reports of shortage in domestic sizes in Brooklyn and the Bronx. Inquiry by THE RECORD AND GUIDE at the office of Fuel Administrator William H. Woodin brought out the statement that there is an actual shortage of the domestic sizes of anthracite, meaning egg, stove and nut, and that there will continue to be a shortage for several months, for the reason repeatedly set forth that only about 60 per cent. of the usual output of anthracite will be or can be mined this winter.

Steam coal used in apartment houses and office buildings is anthracite of the No. 1, 2 and 3 buckwheat sizes and of this there is a surplus in New York City and the adjacent docks and railroad yards. On Monday of this week there were 1,171 cars of buckwheat averaging 40 tons each, nearly 50,000 tons standing in the yards for which there was no demand. This supply was in addition to a large quantity in cars "on order," sold but not delivered. A few weeks ago there were about 3,000 cars of buckwheat at the terminal but the Fuel Administrator has induced many consumers to take more than their routine needs demanded so as to cut down the surplus and return the cars for other shipments. In addition to the buckwheat still loaded on railroad cars there were, last Monday, between 250 to 300 boat-loads of buckwheat in the harbor, each boat averaging 500 tons, or between 125,000 to 150,000 tons of steam coal for which there are no orders.

Small house owners and those still using coal cooking stoves will have to use substitutes for anthracite up to about 40 per cent. of their necessities all winter. Both Fuel Commissioner Wooden and Mayor Hylan have issued statements pointing out the danger of trying to rely on the regular sizes of anthracite for domestic purposes and urging the use of substitutes so hardships may be avoided.

Fuel Administrator Woodin explained that it had been found difficult to fix retail prices for coal owing to the great difference in prices charged at the mines. He declared that buckwheat sizes should range from $8.20 to $10.50 per ton and urged those householders who were charged more to report the facts in writing to the fuel administration so an investigation could be made. The price for anthracite depends on the price at the mine, which also varies greatly. Every case has to be considered separately by the Fuel Administration which aims to keep the profits of local dealers at the same ratio proportionately as before the strike. The Fuel Administration urges all citizens who have evidence of profiteering to report such cases so they may be investigated. Prices of domestic sizes at the Philadelphia & Reading Company's mines have been advanced about 20 cents a ton, making the price for stove and nut $6.30 a ton and $8.30 for other sizes. To these prices must be added freight to New York and profits of local dealers.

Board of Aldermen Adopt 1923 Budget Totalling $353,350,975

THE Board of Aldermen on last Monday adopted by a vote of 44 to 1 the 1923 budget without any changes in the items as it came from the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. The budget carries appropriations of $353,350,975. Last year the final figures were $350,238,420, after the Board of Aldermen had cut the Bronx totals $177,610 and the Richmond totals $100,494 to bring their quotas within the 2 per cent. of the assessed valuations. The new budget therefore is greater than that of 1922 by $3,112,555.

The budget must now be certified by the Mayor, the Comptroller and the City Clerk before December 25, filed in the Comptroller's office and published in the City Record.

REAL ESTATE SECTION

U. S. Supreme Court Upholds Brokers' License Law

Tennessee Statute, Chief Provisions of Which Are Similar to Those of New York Law Now in Force, Declared Constitutional

THE Supreme Court of the United States, in a decision delivered on November 13 last, by Justice McKenna, unanimously upheld the constitutionality of the law passed by the Tennessee Legislature in 1921 defining the regulation and licensing of real estate brokers and salesmen, creating a State Real Estate Commission and making provisions for penalties for violations of the law. This decision is of importance to all those in the real estate business in New York because the law passed by the last Legislature in this state, requiring brokers and salesmen to take out licenses, is in its provisions relating to licenses, similar to the Tennessee law now declared constitutional. In Tennessee a special State Real Estate Commission is created, as there was by the New Jersey law, while in this state the administration of the law is delegated to the New York State Tax Commission.

In attacking the constitutionality of the Tennessee law the whole force of the arguments against it were directed to the requirements that applicants must furnish evidence of and proof of their qualifications and to the provisions for granting licenses. In these sections the laws of Tennessee and of New York are so nearly alike as to bring the local measure within the decision of the Supreme Court just rendered.

The decision was on an appeal from the District Court of the United States for the Western District of Tennessee, R. W. Bratton, Ernest Adams and John F. Brownlow, Real Estate Commissioners and Samuel O. Bates, Attorney-General of Shelby County vs. William C. Chandler and James Walden, individually and as co-partners under the firm name of Chandler & Walden, et al. This appeal followed the decision in the United States District Court of the Western District of Tennessee, known as R. W. Bratton vs. William Chandler, in which the court held the law unconstitutional as being in violation of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution and to certain clauses in the Constitution of Tennessee and issued an injunction restraining the Tennessee Real Estate Commission from enforcing the law. In rendering the decision of the United States Supreme Court Mr. Justice McKenna said:—

The appellees, as complainants in the District Court in their capacity as copartners, or as individuals, assailed the constitutionality under the Fourteenth Amendment of the Constitution of the United States, of a statute of Tennessee passed in 1921, entitled "An Act to define, regulate and license real estate brokers and real estate salesmen, to create a State Real Estate Commission, and to provide a penalty for the violation of the provisions thereof."

Appellants Bratton, Adams and Brownlow were appointed Commissioners under the Act, and they and the appellant Bates as Attorney of Shelby County, or as District Attorney (he is described as the latter in the answer) of the County, were, it is alleged, charged with the duty of enforcing the Act.

The pleadings are very elaborate and need not be reproduced. The Court restrained the execution of the statute until its further order, basing its action upon the provisions of the statute, which the Court decided did not afford to applicants for licenses due process of law. To review the order and the grounds of it, this appeal is directed.

The Act constitutes a Commission to be appointed by the Governor of the State and in twenty-one sections defines the powers and duties of the Commission, the qualifications of applicants for licenses and the procedure they must observe.

The District Court (three judges sitting) gave a very studious and comprehensive consideration to the provisions of the Act but rested its decision adverse to the constitutionality of the Act upon Section 8. The determining pertinency of the section the court expressed by saying that "the first step in the proposed regulation" of the real estate business "is the granting and issuing of licenses as provided in Section 8" of the Act. That "section gives color and purpose to every other section in the Act and without which the other sections would be meaningless."

We may then accept the controlling and comprehensive effect of the section and concentrate attention and decision upon it, pretermittting all others or comment upon them.

The condemning comment of the Court was that Section 8 authorized the Commission, not only to require an applicant to furnish evidence of his qualifications, but to procure independently of the applicant any proof it may deem desirable, and this without any provision for notice or opportunity to meet the evidence so procured, or even to be advised of the nature or source of the evidence. Because of this delinquency the court was of opinion that the Act did not afford due process of law and was, therefore, unconstitutional and void.

Is the comment and conclusion justified? The section requires an application for a license to be made in writing and provides, with circumstantial detail, what it shall contain and concludes as follows: "The Commission is hereby authorized to require and procure any and all satisfactory proof as shall be deemed desirable in reference to the honesty, truthfulness, reputation and competency of any applicant for a real estate broker's license or salesman's license, or any of the officers or members of any such applicant, prior to the issuance of any such license. The Commission is expressly vested with the power and authority to make, prescribe, and enforce any, and all, such rules and regulations connected with the application of any license, as shall be deemed necessary to administer and enforce the provisions of this Act."

The District Court, in further comment upon the provision, expressed a doubt that any rulings or regulations that might be promulgated by the Commission would cure the defect of the statute and added, "however, that question is not here presented, for it does not appear from the pleadings in this case that any such rulings have been promulgated through the Commission is functioning in manner and form as authorized by the statute."

So determined was the Court in the view it had of Section 8 that it rejected the immunity which Section 19 gave from the unconstitutionality which might taint any section or provision of the Act from extending to other sections or provisions. "Be it further enacted," is the declaration of Section 19, "That should the Courts declare any section or provision of this Act unconstitutional, such decision shall effect only the section or provision so declared to be unconstitutional, and shall not affect any other section or part of this Act."

The Court justified its rejection of Section 19 because in its, the Court's, view the section had "no application in determining the validity of the sections in which the unconstitutional provision is found." To this conclusion the Court considered itself constrained because to eliminate the offensive part of Section 8 "would emasculate the entire section" and the Commission would be a mere automaton without authority to determine the fundamental questions of the right of the applicant for a license" because it would be confined to and be compelled to accept as conclusive the evidence presented by the applicant, which the Court considered "was not the legislative intent." Hence the Court's conclusion was that Section 8 "was so closely related to the valid sections that without it they could serve no purpose within the contemplation of the legislature," citing WEAVER vs. DAVIDSON CO., 104 Tenn., 315; CONNOLLY vs. UNION SEWER PIPER CO., 184 U. S., 565.

The views of the Court are stated with great force, but we are unable to yield to them—their reasoning or conclusions. By Section 8, as we have said, the Commission is "authorized to require and procure any and all satisfactory proof as shall be deemed desirable in reference" to the conditions and qualifications of applicants for licenses. The words are "require and procure." They seem to have independent and cumulative meaning, one demanding publicity, the other permitting secrecy. But to this possibility we are not disposed; we prefer the admonition of the cases and their decision as expressed in UNITED STATES vs. JIN FUEY MOY, 241 U. S., 304, 401, as follows: "A statute must be construed, if fairly possible, so as to avoid not only the conclusion that it is unconstitutional but also grave doubts upon that score." UNITED STATES vs. DELAWARE & HUDSON COMPANY, 213 U. S., 366, 408."

In the cited case the admonition is said to express an elementary rule; and we think the statute of Tennessee attracts instead of repels the admonition. The statute is drawn with care to details and their importance to the business regulated and the persons who will desire to engage in it, action under it was intended, therefore, to be open and direct, not to be reinitiated in any part to secrecy, prejudice or intrigue.

In conclusion, we may say, that if the word "procure" is more than a tautological repetition of the word "require," it was only to confer the power of affirmative direction upon the Commission,

Y. M. C. A. Announces Program For 1923 Realty Class

Leaders in Business Will Give Members Valuable Instruction and Advice on Its Various Phases, Including Building Management

THE winter real estate training course of the West Side Y. M. C. A. will begin on January 9, next. Successful since its inception three years ago, this course has been endorsed by the Real Estate Board of New York and by the Building Managers' and Owners' Association of New York. It is a course that has tended to enhance the professional tone of the real estate business in this city. Some of the ablest younger brokers and numerous members of the staffs of large real estate offices have been beneficiaries of the course in past years. It has been a valuable adjunct to their practical experience. The lectures this winter will be delivered under the auspices of the organizations mentioned.

The chairmen chosen to preside over the various classes, the members of the advisory committee, the group chairmen and the lecturers comprise some of the ablest and most experienced real estate men in the city, as well as widely-known building managers, specialists in divers branches of the real estate market, publicists whose work has had and is having a strong bearing on real estate values, and distinguished real estate lawyers. The list typifies the propelling forces in the growth of New York. The class will be the largest yet.

The Real Estate Training Course officials are William H. Wyckoff, of Pease & Elliman, General Director; Harry Hall, Vice-President of William A. White & Sons, Inc., General Chairman; Charles G. necessarily to be exercised in supplement to the action of the applicant and with the same publicity and opportunity of the applicant to meet adverse evidence. And the Act construed as we construe it will take no power from the Commission necessary to the performance of its duties and will leave no power with it that it can exercise to the detriment of any right assured to an applicant for a license by the Constitution of the United States.

The decree of the Court ordering the issuance of a temporary injunction is reversed and the case remanded for further proceedings in accordance with this opinion.

The case before the Supreme Court was prepared for the National Association of Real Estate Boards by its General Counsel, Nathan William MacChesney, of Chicago.

Disastrous Effects of Emergency Rent Laws Shown

Dr. King, Recognized Authority on Economics, Points Out That Ill-Advised Legislation Prolonged Housing Crisis, Instead of Hastening Solution

DR. WILLFORD I. KING, former Professor of Economics at the University of Wisconsin, now a United States Statistician and long a recognized authority on economic subjects, has written for the American Contractor a timely article showing the harmful effect of legislative enactments aimed to regulate rentals. Dr. King's article follows:

The great price raise of 1917 to 1920 brought with it a galaxy of laws and ordinances providing in one way or another for the fixation of rents. In some cases, landlords were prohibited from raising rents. In other instances, tenants were given the right to appeal to the courts if they believed an increase to be unjust, and the courts were instructed to forbid the collection of "unfair" or "unreasonable" rents.

Opponents of such legislation contended that it authorized the taking of property without due process of law and hence was unconstitutional. But, when a test case, based upon the New York State law, was carried to the Supreme Court of the United States, that body held the law to be constitutional. The grounds for this decision must not, however, be overlooked.

The law was held constitutional only because it was declared in the act that there existed a grave public emergency which must be remedied. In the decision handed down, the Supreme Court stated that the legislators had ground for believing that the welfare of the citizens was in serious and immediate danger; that, under such circumstances, the "police power" of the State—in other words, the law of necessity which knows no formal limitations—governed, and hence that the statute was valid:

It by no means follows, then, that the Supreme Court will uphold all legislation of this sort. It might well be indeed that, in many instances, the decision would be that no emergency existed and hence that rent fixing was unconstitutional. The decision appears, however, to set a dangerous precedent when it virtually shifts to the Legislature the responsibility of deciding when an emergency exists. Such a function would seem logically to fall within the province of the judiciary.

Whether or not this decision is the opening wedge for a policy which will eventually result in the wholesale confiscation of property through the exercise of the police power, only time can tell. Fortunately, we need not now attempt prophecy along this line, for the problem to be considered here is not the constitutionality of such statutes, but their effect upon the public welfare.

The primary force giving rise to rent fixing legislation was the inflation policy which accompanied the great war. Immense issues of paper money throughout the civilized world reduced the purchasing power of the dollar to less than half its former value. Under these circumstances, the resulting evil would have been least had the prices of all commodities and services been doubled. In the case of most raw materials dealt with in the wholesale markets of the world, selling values rose with surprising promptness—indeed, the prices of many such commodities were not only doubled but trebled or quadrupled. Retail prices and wages, being affected to a greater degree by custom and contracts, rose more slowly; and rents, most hampered by all by the impediments just mentioned, crept up at what was relatively a snail's pace. The proportionate changes in rents, prices and construction costs are brought out in the accompanying chart.

Now, as just stated, inflation works the minimum of injustice when all prices rise with equal velocity. Had the Legislature, then, taken measures to speed up the rent increase so that the price equilibrium might have been more nearly maintained, the policy would have been in some degree defensible. Such a course could have been strongly upheld on the ground that the lowness of rents was one of the prime forces responsible for the serious residence shortage which developed during and immediately after the great war.

This deficiency in housing was, it is true, partly caused by the governmental restrictions on private building which were in force during the war, but it would probably have been remedied by rapid construction after the armistice had it not been for the fact that during the same period building costs went up much more rapidly than did house rents; and this condition persisted for a long time, so that the curves representing these quantities did not come together again until late during the year 1921.

In view of the fact, then, that the relative lowness of rents was the fundamental cause of the very emergency the Legislature sought to remedy—namely, the housing shortage—the legislative effort to deal with the situation by keeping rents down seems highly ridiculous, but the regulators, sublimely ignorant of the forces at work, saw nothing anomalous in this procedure. Their action, in fact, merely reflected the sentiment of the day, and was a typical manifestation of the general price fixing mania which was sweeping over the country. The tendency was to set the price of everything from pins to pig iron, the regulators believing that in this manner we could in some way escape paying the inevitable costs of war and reconstruction.

This craze for regulation was not a sudden growth, but was the culmination of the wave of reaction against laissez faire—a wave that had been rising for half a century or more. The crest was reached first in Europe almost at the outset of the war when officials were appointed to control everything. When we, in turn, entered the conflict, our political leaders felt that we must, of course, follow European precedents in things civil as well as military. At that time the gross incompetence of the European nations in economic matters was not so evident as at present, hence our statesmen may perhaps be pardoned for looking across the Atlantic for help in laying plans to deal with the new exigencies with which they found themselves confronted.

It must be admitted that, unfortunately, knowledge of fundamental economic principles has as yet penetrated but slightly into the legislative halls of our own country, but it sheds here an effulgent light as compared to the dense economic gloom enshrouding most of the capitals of Europe. There seems to be little doubt that it was lack of sound economic teaching that made the great war possible. The unsound financial policies of Continental Europe are today manifestly the forces which are preventing recovery from war's ravages. The plain truth is that our statesmen could scarcely have gone to worse mentors—but the fact remains that many of our war measures were obviously patterned on European models.

For the reasons previously pointed out, it would seem that if the urge to regulate was irresistible, the logical course would have been to use the power of the State to raise all rents above the 1913 level to an extent corresponding with the average increase of other prices.

However, neither the citizens nor their representatives, the legislators, ever appeared to grasp the idea that the price level was forced upward by currency inflation and not by the machinations of nefarious "profiteers." To the average man it seemed clear that the landlord was simply taking advantage of a favorable opportunity to wring from the unfortunate tenant a few more of the latter's hard earned dollars. The usual contention was that, while the landlord's costs had risen but slightly, he was trying to force the rent up sharply.

This argument, of course, entirely ignored the fact that the dollar's purchasing power had greatly shrunk so that he could buy much less than formerly with the same number of dollars of rent money. Furthermore, if he had once invested five thousand dollars in a house the investment now represented ten thousand of the new dollars—hence if fair rent were to be figured as a percentage on the investment, the investment should now manifestly be counted as ten thousand and not as five thousand dollars, and it should be allowed to earn twice the former rent.

There is actually little or no justification for fixing competitive rates upon a cost of production basis; but those favoring this method can scarcely deny the validity of the line of reasoning just set forth.

Landlords, however, suffer from the fact that for centuries they have been represented in literature and on the stage as villains grinding down the poor by their onerous exactions; hence it is by no means surprising that the ardent advocates of rent control overlooked the fact that the men who were leasing residence property to others might have claims to justice equal to those of the tenants who dwelt in their houses.

The belief that landlords as a class are in a position to secure abnormally large profits on their investments is belied by all the known facts in the situation. The leasing of houses is certainly one of the most highly competitive of businesses, and keen competition means that only the alert can secure even normal returns on investments in that field. Furthermore, it is a matter of common remark among men who have leased houses that only the most careful of management will give to the owner a net return of more than three or four per cent. on his total outlay.

Competition rather than monopoly is certainly the dominant force in determining house rents, and the experience of the centuries has shown that public interference with competitive prices is almost invariably harmful to all concerned. Throughout the history of the United States the construction, ownership and rental of houses has been recognized by the laws and customs of the country as an honorable business undertaking, and it follows that the landlord is, therefore, as justly entitled to protection against exploitations as is the tenant. Our lawmakers have, however, apparently overlooked this fact and have enacted laws for the protection of the tenant only. What has been the effect of such a course?

Whenever these laws have been enforced they have manifestly reduced the landlord's income and have transferred part of the value of his property to the tenant. Peter has been robbed for Paul's benefit on the general theory that Peter must be a villain and Paul a deserving man in distress.

Insofar then as the rent laws have yielded any results, they have, of course, produced effects exactly the reverse of those which their makers expected. Many prospective home builders have been so alarmed by this confiscatory policy that they have invested their funds in other lines which appeared less likely to be the victims of this type of legislation. Doubtless rent restrictions have hampered building to no little degree and have materially delayed the process of eliminating the housing shortage. Thus while the rent laws have doubtless saved money to tenants already located, they have added to the hardships of the homeless and have made it more difficult than before for the new families in any community to secure a place in which to live.

That such laws have not had more effect in preventing the construction of new buildings has been due to several reasons. First, prospective builders have concluded that the future tendency of prices in general, and rents in particular, is to be downward rather than upward, and hence they think that they will not be affected by legislation prohibiting rent increases. Second, they are optimistic enough to expect that the present legislation will not prove a forerunner of other laws which will go further and actually reduce rents. Third, they believe that the experience with the present laws shows that they can be successfully evaded.

Evidence is not lacking to show that at least their last mentioned belief is not ill-founded. The landlord, feeling the injustice of the law, has seldom scrupled to avail himself of all legal means of redress. By selling his property, or moving into it himself, rent restrictions can be eliminated. Naturally, professional purchasers have arisen who arrange for fictitious transfers which do not really change the ownership. Some landlords make moving a branch of their profession, occupying for a short time each of their houses in turn. Others, who are less conscientious, have used such devices as setting fires in their houses or introducing Negroes into the community to induce their tenants to vacate so that rents might be raised when newcomers occupied the premises.

While such methods can scarcely be condoned, it is not surprising that they have been adopted by landlords who feel that the law has robbed them of their property rights.

And there seems to be no way to avoid the conclusion that existing rent laws have been confiscatory in their nature. Any legislation which prevents a rise in property income corresponding to the rise in the general level of prices means that the purchasing power of that income has thereby been lessened. The courts have long recognized the fact that to seize part of the income of property is equivalent to seizing part of the property itself. In this case the effect of the law has clearly been to transfer part of the landlord's property to the tenant without allowing the landlord compensation for the same.

The extreme result of such a policy is perceived in Europe where inflation has run to a much wilder extreme than it has in this country. There, by legislation similar to that enacted in New York, rents were fixed early in the war. At present the purchasing power of money has so declined that the landlords receive practically nothing for their property. As the tenants cannot be evicted they have therefore become, to all intents and purposes, owners of their property as long as the law is in force.

While the effects of the law in this country have fortunately been less serious than they have been in many countries of Europe, the principle involved is no whit less pernicious. When the best that can be said of a law is that it has not worked as much evil as it is capable of doing, there seems little reason for retaining it on our statute books.

Any law which transfers property from one person to another without compensating the original owner can scarcely fail to alarm all who have accumulated wealth of any sort, for, if such a policy is once instituted, there is no way of knowing which class is next to be victimized. If one kind of wealth can be seized, why not another?

Whenever the public in general comes to feel that property rights are in serious jeopardy, the inevitable result must be that thrift is greatly discouraged, for why save for a rainy day if the accumulations of a life time are to be rendered valueless by vote-catching legislation? Is it not better to eat, drink, and be merry before one's savings are handed over to another? Such is certain to be the conclusion of thousands of citizens who would normally be engaged in accumulating the capital necessary to finance the progress of the nation.

Some of the legislators who joined in the enactment of the rent laws may have done so because they believed it necessary to do something to allay the discontent of the masses and thus prevent the spread of radicalism. It is, however, probable that the actual effect of throwing a morsel to the ne'er-do-wells will be rather to whet their appetites than to stay their desire to prey upon their more diligent neighbors.

It is the hard-working, thrifty, property-accumulating citizen who has always been the mainstay of the Republic, and the safest policy seems to be to trust him with this duty in the future rather than to confide the nation's safety to those who are seeking to obtain something for nothing.

Legislators and courts will, therefore, show wisdom if they remember that it is just as necessary to maintain the inviolability of property rights as it is to safeguard the personal rights of individuals, for without the services of accumulated wealth man cannot enjoy any freedom or liberty which he may secure. Those interested in the continued prosperity of the nation should then unite in insisting that the rent laws be repealed and that similar confiscatory legislation be prevented in the future.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Large Transactions, Either in Negotiation or Closed, Added Zest to a Market That Abounded in a Variety of Dealing

THE week was full of stirring real estate transactions, both sales and leases. The market was a strong one for the holiday season and showed more force and scope than did the week previous. All parts of the city were represented in the dealing. Old cold water tenement houses as well as modern walk-ups and elevator apartment houses were in good demand, together with all kinds of mercantile buildings of medium size and a variety of dwellings.

The deal that probably riveted most attention was the one under way for the purchase of the group of old office buildings at the northeast corner of Broadway and Liberty street, including the Williamsburg City Fire Insurance Company structure and the Haight building on Broadway, adjoining. There is also an "L" from the Haight building into Liberty street. The Guaranty Trust Company, which owns the parcels, bought them several years ago. A prominent builder is the prospective buyer.

A transaction of potential importance was the sale of the former Amos R. Eno mansion at the southwest corner of Fifth avenue and Tenth street, for about $500,000. It will make way for a large apartment house to cost, together with the land, $2,500,000. The general trend of improvements in lower Fifth avenue seems to indicate that trade will not fully grasp the section. A 7-story apartment house adjacent to a lower Fifth avenue corner, also changed hands. And a similar sized apartment house close to a lower Madison avenue corner found a new owner.

Emphasizing the value of properties nowadays to tenants, was the announcement that the Grand Hotel property, at Broadway and 31st street, had been bought by the lessees, who have long managed the hotel. The sale involves only the original building and not the adjoining annex. The former is assessed at $950,000. A Broadway and 77th street corner, which was to have been notably improved by a builder, who died a few weeks ago, was sold by his estate to interests who will carry out the plans of the late owner. The Regal Shoe Company, which recently bought the building at the southwest corner of Broadway and 50th street, resold it, at a substantial profit, to a buyer who has leased it for a long term to a tenant of one of the stores therein. The aggregate rental is $3,300,000.

Greenwich Village, the Bowery, Third avenue and other old parts of town showed well in the running this week. A recent investor in Bowery property bought another large parcel there for reimprovement, while one of the large banks bought a Third avenue building to be used as a branch of its main establishment. William R. Hearst bought a Frankfort street loft building that adjoins other property of his. Frederick Brown took profit, on six parcels scattered through the West side and Harlem, at one stroke. A large apartment house in 59th street, near the Plaza, changed hands, as did many fine apartment houses on Washington Heights, in Harlem and the upper West side. The Hotel Savoy, on Fifth avenue and long under one ownership, has been sold.

A lease aggregating $1,250,000 was made on 9-10 East 59th street, the property to be reimproved. Another notable lease was that of a store, 14x100, in 7 West 42d street, at the rate of $2,000 a front foot a year. There were several other striking leases.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week, was 101, as against 90 last week and 101 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th st was 41, as compared with 23 last week and 37 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th st was 60, as compared with 67 last week and 64 a year ago.

From the Bronx 29 sales at private contract were reported, as against 36 last week and 75 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 754.

New Building for Wood, Dolson Co.

The new office building for the Wood, Dolson Company, located at 2091 Broadway, just north of 72d st, is now in course of construction. The business of this firm has recently been expanded to such an extent that all of the space in this structure will be utilized to house the executive offices, sales, renting and insurance departments of the business.

The facade, which has been designed in the period of Louis XVI, is very simple in its lines but of dignified proportions. The entire front is built of Tennessee marble. The large plate glass windows are set in frames of ornamental cast bronze, delicately modeled, and the whole is crowned with a marble cornice of simple design. The building will be of modern fire-proof construction of the latest type and will contain a private electric elevator.

The site selected presented a difficult problem to the architects, in that the facade is designed on a splayed surface, but it has been successfully handled by the architects, F. B. & A. Ware and John D. Boyd, Associated, 1170 Broadway.

Directors of Prudence Company

At the annual meeting of The Prudence Co., Inc., William H. English, vice-president and director of the Empire Trust Co., was elected a member of the executive committee, and Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Co. and president and director of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, was elected a director. Mr. English was already a director of the company, and the executive committee, with his addition, now stands: Frank Bailey, Charles S. Brown, Edward T. Horwill, Clarence H. Kelsey, William M. Greve, William H. Wheelock, Louis J. Horowitz and William H. English.

The board of directors are: Frank Bailey, Irving T. Bush, Charles S. Brown, Clinton D. Burdick, Joseph P. Day, Edward C. Delafield, William H. English, William M. Greve, Crowell Hadden, Louis J. Horowitz, Edward T. Horwill, Clarence H. Kelsey, Clifford S. Kelsey, Thomas L. Leeming, Frederick Potter and William H. Wheelock.

Postpone Broad Street Sale

Auction sale of the former home of the American Cotton Exchange, at the northeast corner of Broad and South William sts, which was to have been held on December 5, by Joseph P. Day for the receivers of the exchange, was adjourned until January 9, 1923.

Interest Rate on Unpaid Taxes

Interest at the rate of 7 per cent, is now being charged against all unpaid taxes of the first half, due May 1, 1922, the interest being computed from May 1, 1922.

Commencing December 1, 1922, interest at the rate of 7 per cent, will be charged against all unpaid taxes of the second half, the interest being computed from November 1, 1922.

Add to Bowery Holdings

Lewis H. May Co. sold for William Kestbaum, represented by Hiram Rinaldo 108-108½ Bowery, a 5-sty brick business building, on a plot 37.6x110.2x irregular. The purchaser, Louis Cohen, president of the United Stores Fixture Co., will immediately improve the plot with a modern building for the company's use. This is the fifth location secured by the buyers for their individual use, having recently purchased 251-255 Bowery, through the Lewis H. May Co. for a branch. The property is assessed at $65,000.

Big Deal, Downtown, Closing

A deal is in process of closing whereby the Guaranty Trust Co. sells to a well-known builder the group of three old office buildings, 150-158 Broadway, northeast corner of Liberty st, with a total frontage on Broadway of 95.16 feet and a frontage on Liberty st of 125.3 feet.

The immediate corner, 150 Broadway, is an 8-sty and basement brick and stone office building; 152 is an old 4-sty and basement and 1-1-158 is the old stone front of the present office structure, known as the "Liberty" building, with an L to Liberty st.

The rest of the Liberty st block front, east to Liberty alley, is occupied by the home of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, with the exception of the modern stone building, 218x98.6, owned and occupied by Joseph P. Day, which is sandwiched in between the corner plot and the Chamber of Commerce building.

Bounding the Broadway corner site on the north is the 16-sty building of the Lawyers Title Insurance & Trust Co., while the southeast corner of Broadway and Liberty st, just below the site in discussion, is the fine modern building of the Guaranty Trust Co. There is no other corner so far downtown, on Broadway, that is so antiquated structurally as the one now in process of changing hands.

Hotel Savoy Bought

Negotiations are about to be concluded for the sale of the Hotel Savoy, at the south corner of Fifth av and 59th st, by the Bretagne Co., of which John F. Ries is president. The Savoy is a 12-sty building, fronting 125.5 feet on Fifth av and 150 feet on 59th st. It has a 12-sty wing extending 200 feet southward to 58th st, where it fronts 25 feet between the Riding Club and the Gerry heirs' holdings. The hotel was built in 1892 by the late Supreme Court Judge P. Henry Dugro.

Builder's Estate Sells Corner

Estate of Joseph Zubow sold the northwest corner of Broadway and 77th st, a site fronting 97.9 feet on Broadway and 107.9½ feet on 77th st. It contained a group of five old 5-sty brick apartment houses. Mr. Zubow razed them and was about to reimprove the site with a 14-sty apartment hotel when he died, a few weeks ago. The new owners will carry out his plans. The operation will involve an outlay of $2,500,000, including the site, which was valued at $600,000.

Eno Mansion Passes

The residence of the late Amos F. Eno, at the southwest corner of Fifth av and 10th st, whose will, disposing of an estate valued at about $13,000,000, resulted in 7 years' litigation among the heirs, has been sold as a site for a 14-sty apartment house de luxe.

It is estimated that the improvement will involve about $2,500,000, including the cost of the land. About one-half of Mr. Eno's estate was bequeathed to relatives and the other half to Columbia University and other institutions.

It was estimated at the final settlement of the will last May that Columbia's share amounted to about $4,000,000, a portion of which was the old Eno home on Fifth av.

This property, which is considered one of the finest and most valuable corners in the lower Fifth av section, was sold by Lucius H. Beets, executor for the Eno estate, and Frederick A. Goetze, treasurer for Columbia University, to H. A. Hyman, president of the newly formed Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street Corporation.

Sharp & Co. negotiated the transaction, the selling price of the property, which has a frontage of 93.5 feet on the avenue and 152 feet on the street, being $500,000.

It is the intention of the buyers to improve the entire plot at once with a 14-sty apartment house divided into small suites from plans by Schwartz & Gross.

Associated with Mr. Hyman in the building operation will be M. Wieland, Sr., M. Wieland, Jr., and Joseph Kresse, the same personnel who sold to Vincent Slattery the apartment building just completed by them at 588 West End av under plans and supervision of the same architects, Schwartz & Gross.

Hearst, as Tenant, Buys Building

The Star Co. (William Randolph Hearst) bought from Jacob Rossbach the 7-sty brick building 55-57 Frankfort st, on a plot 43.6x72.4x irregular, which it held under lease from Mr. Rossbach. The properties carries a mortgage of $100,000 and adjoins other realty controlled by Mr. Hearst.

Quick Resale of Broadway Corner

The Regal Shoe Co., who recently purchased the Dietz property at 1629 Broadway and 210-212 West 50th st, forming the southwest corner of the thoroughfare, has resold the property to the United Chain Building, Inc., investors headed by Lehman-Schwartz & Co., tin foil dealers at 215 East 22d st. The buyers were represented by A. N. Gitterman. The Regal company, it is said, took a profit of about $300,000 in the transaction. The Brown, Wheelock-Harris, Vought & Co., Inc., were the brokers.

Negotiations are under way for a lease of the property for a 12-year term to the St. Regis Restaurant, which occupies the southerly portion of the Broadway frontage. The net rental for the term, exclusive of taxes and other charges, amounts to $3,300,000. After May, 1928, when subleases expire, a new building operation will probably be undertaken. The Regal company will remain in their present corner store until that time.

The shoe dealers acquired the property in 1917 on a $25,000 a year net rental basis, with an option to purchase at $375,000. The new owners in leasing the property for $3,300,000 net for a 42-year term indicate the upward trend of values in the upper Times Square section.

The property fronts 50.5 feet on Broadway and 17-3½ feet on 50th st. After leasing the property the Regal company improved it with a 3-sty building. The site comprises about 9,000 square feet.

Astor Parcel in Partition

The 4-sty brick tenement house with store at the southwest corner of Av. A and 6th st, said to be one of the first parcels of real estate acquired by the original John Jacob Astor, may pass from the ownership of his heirs as a result of partition proceedings which have been instituted in the Supreme Court. The original Astor is said to have purchased the property in 1803, and it has been in the possession of the family since that time. The lot is 16.2x79.6.

The proceedings, divulged through the filing of a lis pendens, are brought by Louis Zborowski against the Farmers Loan & Trust Co. and others. Mr. Zborowski is said to be a great-grandson of the first John Jacob Astor. Some 40 heirs hold an interest in the property, which it is understood complicates disposal of it at private contract, the method the family is using to sell off its holdings here. Morris & McVeagh are attorneys for the plaintiff in the action.

The transfer affects the Broadway front of the hotel only, an 8-sty structure fronting 105.9 feet on Broadway and 123 feet on 31st st. The 12-sty addition on 31st st is not involved in the deal, and no change will result in the operation of the hotel through the sale, as the entire property is under lease for a long term of years to Mauger Bros.

The part transferred is assessed by the city at $950,000. The new owners have borrowed on the property from the Equitable Life Assurance Society $500,000 for 10 years at 5½ per cent. per annum.

RECENT LEASES.

Three Postoffice Leases on New Basis

A notable departure from the form heretofore employed in leasing property to the Federal Government for postoffices and other purposes has been authorized by officials of the Postoffice Department as to leases for which proposals are asked for the new Fox Street Station near 169th street; the one at East 55th street and Third avenue, and one to replace Station U at East 103d street and Third avenue. Negotiations have been in progress for some time between O. M. Schaeffer, inspector in charge of leasing postoffices in New York City; Captain E. W. Bonnaffon, coordinator under the Federal budget, and Lee T. Smith, vice-president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, to secure the elimination from leases of post-office properties of the objectionable clause which permits the Government to withdraw from its contract prior to the expiration of the lease. Captain Bonnaffon has written Mr. Smith that in the leases for the three new postoffices mentioned this cancellation clause may be omitted, and that bidders may submit proposals to conform in the respect to present commercial practice. The time for making award on these proposals has also been extended so as to permit all concerned ample time for estimating and bidding on these contracts.

It is expected that this change will mean a saving to the Government and afford owners opportunity to obtain a desirable tenant on advantageous terms without fear of loss through cancellation before the lease expires.

A Notable Bronx Lease

Phelan-Billingsley Corporation leased from Robert B. Bradley for approximately $1,000,000 through Armstrong Bros., brokers, the northwest corner of Fordham rd and Grand av., fronting 130 feet on Fordham rd, 60 feet on the Aqueduct, with rear line running to a point at the intersection of Fordham rd and Grand av. It is improved with a modern 1-sty building containing 8 stores.

The lessees also purchased through the same brokers, to round out the site, from Samuel Barkin the fee of 243 Grand av., 50x114 to the Aqueduct, with a 3 sty mansion of 12 rooms. This gives them a site 130 feet on Fordham rd, 50 feet on Grand av and 111 feet on the Aqueduct.

The lease and renewals on the Fordham rd corner cover 42 years and carry an option to purchase upon expiration of lease. The lessees at the expiration of present leases will build another story.

Progressive Lease for 21 Years

The new uptown art and book center, to which the American Art Association was recently added, continues its activities with the announcement of a 21 year lease, just made, at 9-19 East 59th st.

This property was acquired in 1916 by the late Frederick Ayer, of Boston, in exchange for vacant land in Long Island City, through Cross & Brown Co., who are the brokers in the new lease, which is leased to the Monderer Corporation and represents a gross rental of $1,259,590. A feature of the lease is a progressive rental and provision for the renewal of the lease for 21 years, at a re-appraised value every 5 years, providing the tenant erects a building costing not less than $500,000.

The Monderer Corporation proposes to improve the present buildings and await the erection of its new building until reasonable building costs prevail.

November Construction 30 Per Cent. Ahead of 1921 Record

F. W. Dodge Company's Statistical Report, Covering Three-Fourths of Nation's Building Activity, Shows Brilliant Prospects for the Coming Year

BUILDING contracts awarded during November in the twenty-seven Northeastern States (which include about three-fourths of the total construction in the country) amounted to $248,366,000, according to the F. W. Dodge Company. This total is only 2 per cent. under the October figures and is 30 per cent. over that for November, 1921.

Residential construction started in November amounted to $126,468,000, or 51 per cent. of the month's total. This is the largest figure for residential building reported since last June. Other important items in the November record were: $29,938,000, or 12 per cent., for business buildings; $29,242,000, or 12 per cent., for industrial buildings; and $27,516,000, or 11 per cent., for public works and utilities.

Construction started during the first 11 months of this year has amounted to $3,135,812,000. This is 45 per cent. greater than the total for the corresponding period of last year, and 33 per cent. greater than the total for the entire year 1921.

Contemplated new work reported in November amounted to $543,872,000, which is 30 per cent. greater than the amount reported in October. The large volume of contemplated work reported during the past few months is an indication that construction is likely to hold up to a relatively high rate throughout the remaining winter months and in the coming year.

New England building contracts in November amounted to $26,777,000, an increase of 2 per cent. over October and of 45 per cent. over November, 1921.

Included in last month's figures were the following items: $14,618,000, or 55 per cent., for residential buildings; $3,286,000, or 12 per cent., for business buildings; $2,951,000, or 11 per cent., for industrial buildings; and $1,944,000, or 7 per cent., for public works and utilities.

Total construction started in New England from January 1 to December 1 has amounted to $312,692,000, compared with $205,147,000 for the entire year 1921.

Contemplated new work reported during November amounted to $42,803,000.

November building contracts in New York State and Northern New Jersey amounted to $76,571,000, an increase of 18 per cent. over the previous month and of 30 per cent. over the corresponding month of last year.

Last month's figures included: $51,568,000, or 67 per cent., for residential buildings; $8,057,000, or 11 per cent., for business buildings; $6,305,000, or 8 per cent., for hospitals and institutions; and $2,803,000, or 4 per cent., for public works and utilities.

Homes for 114,330 families have been planned in the Metropolitan District under tax exemption at a total outlay of $685,980,000, with housing for 571,650 persons.

This is apparent from November totals compiled by the building bureaus, showing eleven months of the current year and embracing practically all projects which will go on the 1922 records. They pass all former housing volumes, with new homes planned for 61,000 families, or 305,000 persons, at an outlay of $366,000,000. In 1921 nearly all residential work was undertaken after the start of tax exemption, amounting to new structures for 53,330 families, or 266,650 persons at $319,980,000.

Total construction started in this district during the first 11 months of this year has amounted to $842,061,000, compared with $645,418,000 for the entire year 1921.

Contemplated new work reported in November amounted to $140,791,000, an increase of 45 per cent. over the amount of contemplated work reported in October.

Total building contracts awarded during November in the Middle Atlantic States (Southern New Jersey, Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia and the Carolinas) amounted to $32,983,000. This was an increase of 5 per cent. over the preceding month and of 9 per cent. over the corresponding month of last year.

The principal items in last month's total were: $14,425,000, or 44 per cent., for residential buildings; $6,375,000, or 19 per cent., for public works and utilities; $4,776,000, or 14 per cent., for industrial buildings; and $2,338,000, or 7 per cent., for business buildings.

During the first 11 months of this year contracts have been awarded to the amount of $451,306,000, compared with $355,235,000 for the entire year 1921.

Contemplated new work reported in November amounted to $90,443,000, an increase of 71 per cent. over the amount of contemplated work reported in October.

November building contracts in Western Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee amounted to $41,691,000. This was a decrease of 24 per cent. from October, but an increase of 26 per cent. over November, 1921.

Included in last month's total were: $13,008,000, or 31 per cent., for residential buildings; $11,295,000, or 27 per cent., for industrial buildings; $8,138,000, or 20 per cent., for public works and utilities; and $5,233,000, or 12 per cent., for business buildings.

From January 1 to December 1 construction started in this district has amounted to $551,097,000, compared with $420,349,000 for the entire 12 months of last year.

Contemplated new work reported last month amounted to $72,030,000, an increase of 10 per cent. over the amount of contemplated work reported in October.

Contracts awarded during November in the Central West (Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Missouri, Eastern Kansas and a small portion of Nebraska) amounted to $66,395,000. This was a decrease of 9 per cent. from October, but an increase of 46 per cent. over the total for the month of November, 1921.

The important items in last month's total were: $30,507,000, or 46 per cent., for residential buildings; $10,557,000, or 16 per cent., for business buildings; $7,867,000, or 12 per cent., for public works and utilities; and $7,121,000, or 11 per cent., for industrial buildings.

The November figures bring the year's total to December 1 up to $904,412,000, compared with $643,994,000 for the entire 12 months of 1921.

Contemplated new work reported in November amounted to $184,101,000, an increase of 35 per cent. over the amount of contemplated work reported in October.

November building contracts in Minnesota and the Dakotas amounted to $3,948,000, an increase of 36 per cent. over the previous month and a decline of 16 per cent. from the corresponding month of last year. Of last month's total, 60 per cent., or $2,342,000, was for residential buildings.

The year's total of construction contracts to December 1 was $74,244,000, which is slightly under the figure for the corresponding period of last year.

Agreement Assuring Building Labor Peace is Signed

Representatives of Employers and Labor Formulate Treaty Dissolving Independent Bricklayers' Union and Avert Serious Building Tie-Up

THE building labor dispute which involved the right of contractors to employ the members of an independent hod carriers' union, was settled last Monday evening through the prompt action of the Lockwood Legislative Committee. For several days it appeared as though an inter-union dispute, which later involved the Mason Builders' Association and subsequently the Building Trades Employers' Association would be responsible for an extended labor war that would work havoc with the winter building program of the Metropolis. The trouble was brought to a head last week, however, when Samuel Untermeyer, Special Counsel to the Lockwood Committee, called the disputing elements before him and arranged a truce until December 31, during which interval it was thought a program of lasting peace could be arranged.

The six members of the Mediation Committee appointed by the Lockwood Committee met at the office of Samuel Untermeyer last Monday and agreed unanimously upon a plan of permanent adjustment of their outstanding difficulties. This agreement carried with it the approval of all allied interests, including the employers' associations, the unions of bricklayers and plasterers, the American Federation of Labor and the rival unions of bricklayers' helpers, which were the originators of the trouble and signatories to the truce until December 31.

At the conference this week Senator Lockwood and Samuel Untermeyer acted as umpires and the following officials signed the peace agreement: Walter V. Price, Bricklayers, Masons & Plasterers International Union; A. F. Fogarty, local chairman of the bricklayers' union; Matthew V. Sullivan and F. Paul Vaccarelli, International Hod Carriers, Building & Common Laborers' Union; Louis J. Horowitz, Mason Builders' Association and Frederick T. Youngs, Building Trades Employers' Association. M. J. Colleran, representing the plasterers, attended the mediation conference as an observer.

By the terms of the agreement which becomes effective immediately, G. B. Dioguardi, president of the independent union of bricklayers' helpers, resigns. The members of his union become eligible to join the American Federation of Labor body, from which they withdrew, and that organization is compelled to alter its constitution to make the annual election of officers and executive committee members compulsory. According to facts brought out in the recent hearing before the Lockwood Committee and at the conference, this union has had no election of officers for eleven years, a situation that is said to have been responsible for the withdrawal of many members, who formed the independent union.

The agreement signed by both parties to the dispute and by the representatives of the employers follow:

"Mr. Dioguardi, the president of the independent union, has placed his resignation in the hands of Mr. Untermeyer for such action as the latter may deem proper in order to bring about a settlement. This resignation will be immediately accepted.

"The members of the various local unions of the Independent Bricklayers, Helpers and Building Laborers may immediately become members of the local of the international union, on the usual terms of membership and without discrimination.

"The constitution and by-laws of the locals will be so amended as to safeguard against any future restriction or limitation of membership, and are to be further amended in such respects as may be recommended by Mr. Untermeyer.

"The locals may, through their own district councils or through the American Federation of Labor and its international executive board, negotiate such agreements with the employers as they see fit. The failure of the employers to make such agreements shall not, however, be regarded by the unions as reasons for a strike, so long as the then prevailing hours and rate of wages are preserved.

"The constitution and by-laws of the International Hod Carriers, Building and Common Laborers' Union are to be amended in the form recommended by Mr. Untermeyer in order that the officials of that union shall be compelled to have an election of officers and of the members of the executive committee on the second Tuesday in January of each year, beginning with the year 1923. The purpose of these amendments will be to render the organization more democratic and more responsive to the will of its members. Five hundred members shall have the right to nominate officers to be balloted upon at the annual election, which shall be conducted by secret ballot or by a convention, as may be deemed advisable.

"Any group of men nominating officers shall have the right to a list of the names and addresses of all members and to send, at the expense of the union, any communications they may see fit to the members, inclosed with a form of ballot. Each group that has thus nominated officials of the union to be balloted upon at the annual election shall be entitled to elect one inspector at the election to represent such group at the opening and counting of the ballots.

"The settlement will take effect immediately; the independent union will be dissolved and such of its members as desire to enroll in the local unions of the international will be at liberty to do so on the payment of an initiation fee of $1 at any time before March 1, 1923. No present member of the independent union shall meantime be discriminated against because of his failure to join the local of the international union.

"The present injunction proceedings of the independent union are to be forthwith dissolved and the suit dismissed."

Despite the subsequent declaration of the Independent Hod Carriers' Union that it will refuse to amalgamate with the International Bricklayers' Helpers' Union, as ordered by the Lockwood Committee, continuation of the war between the two rival unions is not likely to bring about the threat of another lock-out in the building trades on January 1.

Building Industry Assisting in United Hospital Fund Drive

AS in past years the building industry of New York City is taking a prominent part in the United Hospital Fund campaign which Dr. Royal S. Copeland, Health Commissioner, says is absolutely essential to the city's health work. Every dollar contributed to this fund is devoted to the free treatment of the needy sick without distinction of race or creed. Last year these hospitals provided 1,422,748 days of free treatment at an average cost of $3.93 per day, more than one-third of their total service. This free work must be paid for by private contributions, the revenue from paying patients being far short of the hospitals' total expenses.

The building industry, the most hazardous in the city, makes a greater demand on this free service than any other and it is therefore the duty of those interested in maintaining this service to see that the requisite funds are provided. The Building Trades' Committee for the United Hospital Fund of 1922 is again headed by Otto M. Eidlitz, chairman. He is assisted in his work by the following committee members: Emil Angelon, S. U. Barr, Max Baumann, Davis Brown, Herbert Brown, John I. Downey, Charles Geoghegan, Owen Glasson, J. Lewis Hay, Louis J. Horowitz, John P. Kane, Charles Kistingner, J. W. Knibbs, Jr., John Lowry, Jr., Richard Moller, Edmund Rattey, Edward Slosson, Paul Starrett, J. J. Tanyan, Benjamin D. Traitel, Henry C. Turner, M. F. Westergren and Charles S. Wills.

Builders and their affiliated interests may make their contributions payable to the United Hospital Fund and send them direct to any member of this committee.

Residences Dominate New York's Construction Program

Records of Contracts Awarded for November, Compiled by F. W. Dodge Company, Indicate Housing Construction 75 Per Cent. of Commitments

CONTRACT commitments in New York City for the month of November, 1922, amounted to a total of $46,170,600, a record-breaking figure for this period of the year. This total, which is based upon the statistical tabulations of the F. W. Dodge Company, shows that the normal seasonal decline has not affected local activity to any great extent and is an indication that the coming year will be another period of intense activity in the building field. An idea of the extremely favorable outlook for Metropolitan building interests may be gained from the fact that the total of commitments for November is more than $8,000,000 ahead of that for the same period a year ago.

An analysis of the commitments for the month past shows the outstanding characteristics to be the continued domination of residential building over all other types of active construction. During the past few weeks there has been a decided revival of residential construction and there is every present indication that this form of activity will continue to gain in volume and proportion for the next two or three months as builders of dwelling accommodations only have a few more months remaining in which to start their operations and claim their tax exemption privileges.

Although the record of contracts awarded for the month does not show the increased interest in industrial and commercial construction in this territory there is a marked improvement in this form of project. A great number of high class commercial operations are now being planned which will be released within the next few weeks and there is every likelihood that the totals for December and January will show an improved ratio as compared with other types of construction project.

The contracts awarded in New York City during November involved 1,737 separate operations and were grouped as follows: 58 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $4,236,000; 6 educational projects including schools, colleges, libraries, etc., $168,000; 4 hospitals and institutions, $5,510,000; 15 industrial buildings, $895,000; 2 military and naval structures, $72,000; 13 public works and public utilities, $721,700; 5 religious and memorial buildings, $365,000; 398 residential operations including apartments, flats and tenements and one and two-family dwellings, $33,901,400 and 8 social and recreational projects, $301,500.

Fuller Co. of the Orient, Ltd.

F. W. Kelley, president of the Helderberg Cement Co., Albany, N. Y., was elected president of the Portland Cement Association at the recent annual meeting of this organization in Chicago. Mr. Kelley has been identified with the work of this association for many years as its treasurer and also as the chairman of the Committee on Technical Problems. Mr. Kelley is an engineer by profession (Cornell, M. E., '93), and he began his connection with the cement industry in 1900 when he was made vice-president of the Helderberg Cement Co., which at that time was just in the process of changing its mill from a natural to a portland cement plant. He became president of the company in 1914.

New Building for S. W. Straus & Co.

In alignment with their advice to the building industry that the present is a favorable time to go ahead with new building operations, S. W. Straus & Co. announce plans for the immediate erection of a monumental banking building for their occupancy in Chicago. The investment in the land and building will involve approximately $12,000,000, of which $7,000,000 will represent the cost of the new structure.

The new Straus Building will be the first to be erected in Chicago under the new zoning law, modelled somewhat after the New York zoning regulations. It will be twenty-two stories high and will occupy the site of the Stratford Hotel, 161x171 feet at Michigan and Jackson Boulevards. The Thompson-Starrett Construction Co. will be the builders.

This new structure will give S. W. Straus & Co. two of the finest buildings in the United States, their new building in New York having been opened June 1, 1921.

S. W. Straus & Co. have for many years exerted a tremendous influence on the building situation throughout the country. In Chicago alone they have financed the erection of more than 4,000 buildings. This year their loans on new buildings in the principal cities of the country will approximate $150,000,000. The company was established in Chicago forty-one years ago. Their business was at first limited to general real estate mortgage, but after 1900 the plan of selling first-mortgage bond issues was devised by S. W. Straus and associates.

Hugh Getty, Noted Builder, Is Dead

Hugh Getty, one of the best known builders of New York City, died after a brief illness at his home, 305 West 105th street, Sunday, December 3. Mr. Getty was president of the firm of Hugh Getty, Inc., 359 West 26th street, and for many years had been a prominent figure in the Building Trades Employers' Association of New York City. Mr. Getty, who was seventy-three years of age, was born in Ireland, of Scotch parentage, and came to America when about eighteen years old. All of his business life has been identified with the building industry in the Metropolis. He was one of the founders of the Building Trades Employers' Association and was its president from 1916 to 1918 and again in 1921. For twenty years he was one of the most active members of the General Society of Mechanics and Tradesmen of the City of New York where he occupied various offices and served on a number of important committees. Mr. Getty erected a number of business buildings in this city, several hotels and a number of handsome residences. He never became interested in skyscraper construction but confined his operations to high-class moderate-sized projects. He is survived by three sons and a daughter.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

PROMPT action by all concerned in the building labor disturbance, that last week threatened to tie up the major portion of the local construction work for an indefinite period, has practically settled the difficulty and removed the only excuse for pessimism regarding the outlook for the future. Never in the building history of the Metropolitan district has there been a more active construction program at the commencement of the winter season than that of the present time. The operations scheduled to go forward during the coming months are widely diversified as to character and, although the dominating feature of the building demand is residential, there is a growing percentage of high-class commercial and industrial work and a fairly good volume of educational and social projects.

Everyone identified with the building industry in the Metropolis agrees that the outlook was never more favorable than it is at present and active plans are now in preparation for making the coming year a period equally as active as the year just closing. From all accounts the construction program next year will only be limited by the volume of skilled and unskilled labor available and the ability of the railroads to transport the required amounts of building materials and supplies. Money is plentiful and investors are in the market ready to make purchases of desirable properties.

At present the building material markets in New York City and the adjacent districts are unusually busy. Orders all of good size and quite numerous. The supplies on hand are scant in some lines, but all active building operations are being cared for and dealers are of the opinion that the railroad transportation situation is gradually improving. Prices are somewhat steadier than they were a few weeks ago and, although a slight upward trend exists on some items, there is no present indication of a marked change of price levels for some time to come.

Common Brick—Local demand for common brick lost none of its intensity last week because of the threat of the unions to tie up a large amount of active construction in the city. Buying was unusually heavy for this season of the year and there is a considerable amount of new inquiry developing that warrants the prediction of active market conditions for some time to come. Manufacturing operations in the up-river yards have ceased for the season, with the exception of the relatively few dryer yards, and the brick producers are now occupied with cleaning up their yards and burning the large amount of green brick that has been held over on account of the coal shortage. Prices for Hudson River common brick are steady and, although there is an upward trend to the price situation, the movement is one that has been anticipated for several weeks past.

Summary—Transactions in the North North River brick market for the week ending Thursday, December 7, 1922. Condition of market: Demand, excellent; prices firm and unchanged. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $15.00 to $15.50 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 48; sales, 48. Distribution: Manhattan, 19; the Bronx, 4; Brooklyn, 15; New Jersey points, 6; Astoria, 4.

Lumber—Buying activity in the Metropolitan lumber market is well sustained and the current demand is heavier than usual at this period of the year. Both wholesale and retail departments of trade are experiencing excellent business, and while demand from construction sources is easing off slightly there is a steady improvement in the volume of business coming from manufacturing consumers.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Although deliveries from production centers have improved to some extent during the past two weeks, the situation is still far from satisfactory, and there is likelihood of a continuation of the prevailing shortages for some time to come. As a general thing the price situation is steady. During the past week or two the market has become fairly stabilized as far as prices are concerned, but at levels considerably higher than they were last spring. There is no indication of a price slump as long as the supply is so uncertain and the demand for lumber products as insistent as it is at present.

Structural Steel—During the past week, there has been a slight improvement in the local demand for structural steel due to the fact that a number of new building projects of more than ordinary importance have been released for bids. Several relatively large tonnage orders are pending which also adds materially to the prospects for future activity. There is little doubt in the minds of those directly interested in the structural steel market that the coming year will be better than a period of extremely active business. The reports already indicate a vast amount of high class construction which will be released early next year, and the prompt settlement of the trouble between the bricklayers and their employers has made it possible for a large amount of local construction to proceed unhampered.

Electrical Supplies—Business in the electrical trade has been excellent during the past week. Orders are slightly larger than they were and new inquiry is indicative of active business for the early part of the coming year. Although demand from building sources has dropped off to some extent there is a good volume of business coming from alterations and repair work and the holiday order for appliances is keeping the market in splendid condition. Wire stocks are good and orders from building sources are heavy. Practically the same situation applies to conduit.

Reinforcing Bars—Demand for concrete reinforcing bars, while far from active, is good considering the period of the year, and, as there are several important orders pending, the outlook for the local market is generally optimistic. There are strong indications that the demand for reinforcing material will improve greatly after the first of the new year, as the reports of new work being planned show a large volume of construction in which reinforced concrete will be an important factor. Prices are fairly steady and range from 1.95c. to 2.10c., base Pittsburgh.

Cast Iron Pipe—Trade conditions have not changed in this line during the past week. The demand is quite heavy for this period of the year, and although new municipal business is no longer a prominent factor in the market there are sufficient orders coming from private sources to maintain the tone. The car shortage continues as one of the prime difficulties of the manufacturers, and shipments are still very much delayed. The majority of the factories are a large volume of business ahead and deliveries generally range from four to eight weeks. Prices are steady and unchanged with New York quotations as follows: 6 in. and larger, $54.50 per net ton, f.o.b., New York; 4 in. and 5 in., $59, and 3 in., $64.80, with Class A and gas pipe $4 extra per ton.

Window Glass—There has been no important change in the local market for glass. Demand for both plate and window glass continues strong and jobbers are experiencing some difficulty in filling orders. Local stocks are low and deliveries from factories are coming in very slowly on account of the railroad freight congestion and car shortage. Prices are very firm and subject to advance.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1½¢ sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use. WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

EDITORIAL

Pressing Domestic Problems

President Harding, in bringing domestic problems to the front in his annual message to Congress, undoubtedly struck a popular chord. This is evidenced by the comment of newspapers and publicists all over the country. Regardless of political affiliations, the general tone of comment is that the President pointed the way to higher and safer ground by urging Congress to concentrate on the consideration of various domestic policies which must be acted upon before the nation can satisfactorily emerge from the mire of war.

Pointing out that although four years have passed since the war ended, President Harding declared that the inevitable readjustment of the social and economic order is not more than barely begun. "In short," he said, "everyone, speaking broadly, craves readjustment for everybody except himself, while there can be no just and permanent readjustment except when all participate." While conceding that our own people have emerged from the World War less impaired than most belligerent powers and that the United States has made larger progress towards reconstruction, the President struck forcefully when he added: "Had we escaped the coal and railway strikes, which had no excuse for their beginning and less justification for their delayed settlement, we should have done infinitely better. But labor was insistent on holding to the war heights, and heedless forces of reaction sought the pre-war levels, and both were wrong."

In marshaling the pressing domestic problems before the nation, President Harding laid especial stress on the need of relief for agriculture, indicating at the outset that no permanent good fortune for agriculture can be expected until better and cheaper transportation is assured. The President declared he knew of no problem exceeding in importance this one of transportation. The demand for lower cost on farm products and basic materials cannot be ignored, as the President insisted, nor can the cure be found in Government operation of the railroads. "It was," he said, "Government operation which brought us to the very order of things against which we now rebel, and we are still liquidating the cost of that supreme folly." Undoubtedly transportation conditions would be very greatly improved through adopting the President's suggestions for the merger of lines into systems, a facilitated interchange of freight cars, the economic use of terminals and a consolidation of existing facilities.

Back of the whole transportation problem, of course, is the question of freight and passenger rates and the question of wages. Existing agencies for handling these problems having failed to function, the President suggested that Congress should expand the powers and duties of the Inter-State Commerce Commission so as to cover all angles of these questions. The futility of having one Government agency fixing railroad rates and another Government agency fixing wages was demonstrated last summer to the serious loss of the entire nation. A new law is needed, and President Harding is right in insisting upon it, which will empower some Government agency to fix rates and to fix wages, because both of these problems are vitally related. If Congress displays the good judgment to enact such a law, provision must be made in it to compel acceptance both by the railroads and their employees of all decisions rendered.

Another important subject treated in the President's message relates to tax-exempt securities, which are drying up the sources of Federal taxation and encouraging extravagance by state and municipal authorities. The point has been reached where, unless the issuance of tax-exempt securities is stopped by Constitutional amendment, this will constitute a grave menace, one which the President justifiably fears may soon threaten the stability of our institutions.

Much that is excellent is contained in the President's message and the sentiment of the country stands ready to acclaim Congress if the leaders in the Senate and the House of Representatives show the good judgment to carry out promptly the important domestic policies which the President advocates.

Revival in Residential Building

Building activity in New York City has been greatly augmented within the past few months by the notable revival of interest in the construction of multi-family dwellings. During the latter part of the summer there was a decided falling off in the number of new apartment-house projects announced in the planning stages and the local industry generally believed that the fall and winter of 1922-3 would experience the usual seasonal decline in projects of this nature. There were frequent reports that the phenomenal residential building boom of the early spring and summer had practically satisfied the demand for living accommodations in this city and that construction of this type was destined for a dormant period.

Actual construction records for the past month or more, however, belie these statements and predictions. Beginning with the early autumn, speculative and investment builders in practically every section of New York City evidenced a reviving interest in the construction of additional residential accommodations. Architects have been especially busy recently in the preparation of plans for many modern structures, and the reports from the building bureaus in the various boroughs all indicate a potential movement, while not comparable to that of the early months of the present year, still vastly more active than has ever been known in any similar season for a long time past.

There are two potent reasons for the apparent rush to get new apartment buildings under way. Early next spring the Tax Exemption Law will expire, and unless projected residential structures are substantially advanced by that time they will lose the benefits of exemption from low taxation; yet, this is not the only motive behind the prevailing apartment-house building activity. An outstanding reason for the haste of builders is the fact that the demand for living accommodations in modern structures, while not so insistent as it was a year ago, is still sufficient to warrent builders in proceeding with their plans with full assurance of a continued good market for their buildings at rentals that will leave a satisfactory margin over carrying and operating costs. Rentals in apartments in this city, while generally well-stabilized, have not dropped to any great extent, and it is the feeling of confidence that local rental values cannot be materially reduced for some years to come, which is prompting builders to immediately proceed with their projects.

Declares Tenement House Law Prolongs Shortage in Low Priced Houses

Editor, THE RECORD AND GUIDE:

One feature of the Housing Emergency legislation which commanded the most widespread attention was the bill passed early this year permitting life insurance companies to invest a certain portion of their assets in new housing. The only company which evinced any intention of taking advantage of the law was the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, which announced its intention of trying out the experiment, to a certain extent. At the public hearing before Governor Miller, plans were submitted of the apartments which, it was represented by the Lockwood Committee, would be erected at once. Apparently there was no reason to believe that after receiving the Governor's approval, any undue delay could ensue, and that by now the pioneer houses would be completed and occupied.

The startling fact is, however, that the production of these houses as planned, which could have been started last May and completed by to-day, cannot be started before February or March of next year, and then only in the event of successful legislative action at Albany.

An astounded public, led by press to believe that the Metropolitan housing was virtually an accomplished fact, may well rub its eyes and demand the reasons why. The answer is simple, for the obstacle is that constant stumbling block in the path of progress, the holy, sacred, super-perfect Tenement House Law. ("Sole proprietor, The Uplift, Ltd., trespassing forbidden.")

"Why," asks the bewildered Man in the Street, who knows not Uplift and its strange, devious ways, "why is this law permitted to prevent the production of the only new housing the rents in which are within the reach of the average man. Oh, why, tell me why?"

This is the discouraging answer. The Metropolitan selected plans ideal for its purpose. Now, therefore, be it known that ideal plans comprising the maximum of safety, comfort, light, ventilation, convenience, sanitation, etc., cut no ice whatever with this plu-perfect law, unless they comply with its exact requirements. No matter how excellent or superior these plans may be, if they deviate a hair's breadth from the mandatory, inflexible provisions of the law they are illegal and must be rejected by the Tenement House Commissioner, who is absolutely devoid of power except to enforce the law as it stands. The superior plans of the Metropolitan, although fully in keeping with the spirit of the law, failed to comply with its technical demands, and were rejected. Hence, the project is held in abeyance for ten months until the Legislature meets and amends the law, such power being exclusively lodged in the Legislature.

New York claims to be an intelligent, progressive community; hence, it is almost incredible that a law passed to relieve the housing conditions should be nullified by the Tenement House Law, merely because it is the only law of its nature which is not subject to appeal, review, modification or variation, not even by the courts.

In glaring contrast to this detrimental lack of the power to appeal, in the Tenement Law, be it known that the Building Code under which every building is planned and erected; hospitals, hotels, office buildings, public schools, theatres and similar buildings housing great numbers of people; the Zoning Law, which governs the height, area and use of land and buildings; the Factory or Labor Law, controlling the type of construction, occupancy, exits, etc., of our great factories and mercantile establishments, and the highly important Fire Prevention Law, with its numerous provisions for safety and fire prevention, are all subject to prompt local appeal and desirable, needful, honest variations and modifications. These governing laws are all equally important, if not paramount, to the Tenement House Law, yet the latter only is exempt from the operation of common sense, civic decency and simple justice.

It is nothing less than a crime against the community that the intentions of the Metropolitan to provide ideal, moderate rent homes are frustrated by the sheer stupidity and injustice of a law which is a lineal descendant of the laws of the Medes and Persians.

Comparisons are odious, but as illustrating the cheerful idiocy of the Tenement Law, the situation may well be compared to the case of a community suffering from a plague, which an eminent physician can relieve and help cure with an efficient brown-colored medicine, whereas the law governing the treatment of plagues mandatorily and inflexibly dictates a pink-colored medicine. As pink is the exact shade ordained by the Legislature, and can only be changed by the same authority, the suffering commonwealth must wait for ten months or more for treatment and relief.

For many years architects and builders have sought vainly the creation of an unsalaried, practical, responsible, conscientious, intelligent official body with power to permit variations from the strict letter of, but in keeping with the spirit of, the law. Be it also known, that if such a board had been in existence last April, the housing project of the Metropolitan would not be a hole in the ground awaiting legislative action in 1923, but an accomplished fact.

The state of affairs herein set forth constitutes a most powerful indictment of the Tenement House Law, and supplies an incontrovertible argument for the immediate creation of the appeal board referred to. The argument that the law has functioned successfully for twenty years without right to appeal is a fallacy, unless rank injustice and sheer stupidity constitute successfully functioning. No amount of "Humanitarian" blether or sob-squad stuff alters the fact that a mandatory law, without provision for simple, inexpensive redress, is wrong in principle, and an open invitation to graft and tyranny.

Governor Alfred E. Smith again has the opportunity to act, and he might well incorporate in his message to the Legislature a suggestion for immediate action on this important matter.

That the proposed creation of the needful authority above mentioned will meet with the immediate organized hostility and opposition of all the Ultra Righteous societies in the city, the self-constituted Guardian Angels of the Tenement House Law; this sacred Ark of the Covenant, the Holy of Holies, into which none but the High Priests of Uplift can enter, is a foregone conclusion. They will, as usual, instigate the flooding of the press with denunciatory letters; likewise, with their peculiar, not to say sinister, influence, they will obtain editorial assistance, and the cartoonists will draw sweet little pictures of a shrouded, grinning skeleton, a coffin and a weeping widow with her half orphans, as the supposititious result of touching the Tenement House Law.

This sort of propaganda, with the old bag of Uplift tricks, hoary with age, will follow, as the night the day, the introduction of a bill at Albany to make the Tenement Law a human document, but the long-delayed day of reckoning for this law, which recognizes no civic need and scorns civic righteousness, is nigh at hand. New Yorkers, the innocent bystander victims of the Tenement House Law, will demand a showdown on the heretofore successfully maintained Uplift contention that blind, unreasoning, rigid adherence to a mandatory, unjust, harmful law is preferable to common sense, civic virtue, simple justice and the production of needed housing.

Managers' and Owners' Association Elects Officers

At Annual Meeting Louis B. Dailey Is Chosen as President for 1923 and Well-Known Members Elected to Other Offices

AT a well-attended meeting of the Building Managers' and Owners' Association, held at the Advertising Club, in East Twenty-fifth Street, on Tuesday evening, the annual election of officers of the association took place. The monthly dinner preceded the election. E. Everett Thorpe, retiring president of the association, presided at both functions. There was much enthusiasm at the gathering, which was attended by the managers of some of the largest office buildings in the city.

The new officers elected are: Louis B. Dailey, Manager of the Equitable Building, President; William S. Denison, of William S. Denison & Company, Vice-President; Charles E. Forster, of Stafford Brothers, Secretary, and Jerome G. Young, Manager of Buildings for Albert B. Ashforth, Inc., Treasurer.

The members of the new executive committee are: E. Everett Thorpe, retiring president and head of the Morewood Realty Holding Company; Edward K. Van Winkle, Real Estate Broker and Manager; Theodore L. Waugh, Attorney; J. Arthur Pinchbeck, Manager of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Building; J. Clydesdale Cushman, head of the real estate firm of Cushman & Wakefield, Inc., and Maurice B. Spear, of Spear & Company. All of the members of the committee are to serve for three years from January 1, 1923, excepting Mr. Spear, who will serve for one year to complete the unexpired term of Leslie H. Moore.

Much laughter and good cheer were evoked by the announcement that the association had renewed its lease on its offices at 220 Broadway for a term of four years without increase in rent.

Discussing the course of the association during the year, President Thorpe, in part, said: "The president's report for 1922 is not a report of the proceedings of the executive committee, nor is it a complete résumé of the activities of the association. The reports of the various committees embody that.

"In reviewing the work of the year now ending I will note some developments as being of the greatest importance to the welfare and progress of the association. Before doing so I should mention the strength of the body. An organization must either progress or go backwards. It cannot stand still. In our case progression is the fact. A year ago we finished a remarkable membership drive which, in two months from the time it began, increased our membership eighty-six per cent. We started this year with the largest membership in the history of the association. Most of the new members have retained their membership and those we lost have been replaced with other new ones, who are remaining.

"The developments I alluded to constitute the following important changes: First, the creation of a Plan and Scope Committee; second, the subdivision of certain committees; third, Revision of the By-Laws; fourth, the establishing of a bureau of exchange of information concerning applicants for rented space.

"The Plan and Scope Committee has no power. It consists of the officers in power and all past presidents of the association. It was created to act in an advisory capacity to the president. The Executive Committee has all the power. The members of the Plan and Scope Committee are who they are because of their close touch with current affairs, and the former presidents among them are on it because of their experience in disposing of matters. I urge upon you all, gentlemen, the advisability of continuing the Plan and Scope Committee. It can be, and is, of great assistance to the president and of consequent benefit to the association.

"On account of the increased membership of our association, which results in more work for the committees and because of the various classes of property represented, such as downtown office buildings, loft buildings, uptown office buildings and apartment houses, it was considered wise to divide the Employees' Committee and the Committee on Rental Conditions each into four parts, each part representing one of those classes of property which I have mentioned, and each part being composed of members controlling property in its class. Consequently, both these committees were divided into four sub-committees, the chairman of each sub-committee being a vice-chairman of the whole committee.

"The first test of working under this plan showed an excellent result in the final complete report of the Employees' Committee. This committee was able to collect data of greater accuracy and in larger quantity than would have been possible under the old plan.

"It also became apparent in the functioning of the Committee on Rental Conditions that such a plan was not only practical, but actually worked more efficiently than it could possibly have done without subdividing the committee.

"The interests in our association are so varied that it seems to me necessary to so subdivide certain committees in order to best serve the interests of our membership.

"A special committee was appointed to draft a revision of the by-laws. This committee expended a great deal of time and intelligent effort in its work, and finally presented to the association a proposed draft of the by-laws, which was accepted without debate. They are generally conceded to be an improvement on the old by-laws and to fully suit the needs of the association. The most radical change was that which eliminated the associate class of membership, which virtually merged it with the active membership.

"At the last meeting of the Executive Committee a bureau for the exchange of information concerning applicants who wish to rent space was established. This will be a list of names of tenants or former tenants of our members. All of our members who will be requested to send the names of such tenants as they desire to the executive office. There the names will be filed in alphabetical order, and opposite each name will appear a number, which will identify the member sending in the name. No other information will appear. When a member has an application for space to rent he may telephone the executive office, and if the name of the applicant appears in the file the member asking for the information will be given the name of that member who sent the name in, and he can then go to that member and learn what he knows about the desirability of the applicant as a tenant. The Executive Committee appropriated a small amount of money for the establishing of this bureau."

President Thorpe, upon retiring, thanked the members of all committees for their earnest co-operation. He then introduced the president-elect, Louis B. Dailey, who was given an ovation.

Charles Holbrook, a well-known office building manager of Portland, Ore., was a guest of the association, and spoke briefly.

Among others present were Douglas M. Cruikshank, of the Cruikshank Company; W. H. Class, of George R. Read & Company; Henry Voorhis, R. W. Murray, E. K. Van Winkle, Charles E. Forster, William A. Stead, Raymond P. Roberts, of the Guaranty Trust Company; A. L. Hayman, Charles B. Best, Peter Grunin, W. Denzer, J. H. Meinke, F. J. MacMahon, E. T. Anderson, M. T. Nesbitt, H. D. Chapman, B. H. Belknap, J. L. Herndon, J. A. Pinchbeck, Hugh Rainey, A. C. Bang, C. T. Coley, Joseph S. Hynes, B. Wakefield, J. G. Young, H. L. Eckerson, Alfred J. Rowantree, Lee T. Smith, of Pease & Elliman; C. F. Significant Trend in Lexington Avenue Development

East Side Thoroughfare Showing Important Changes in Its Character, Particularly in Sections Between Forty-Second and Ninety-Sixth Streets

LEXINGTON AVENUE, which since its first upbuilding has been a fine residential thoroughfare and later an admixture of residence and trade, is now in the process of changing into one of the finest apartment-house and high-class shopping thoroughfares for small shops in the city in that section from Forty-second to Ninety-sixth streets. The entire avenue runs from Gramercy Park north to the Harlem River. What the future holds for the sections north of Ninety-sixth Street and south of Forty-second Streets is as yet unrevealed to any extent, but the trend of events in all probability will bear on those sections most favorably. Real estate enigmas in this changing town do not long remain unsolved.

From Forty-second to Ninety-sixth Streets, Lexington Avenue seems destined to be a counterpart of Madison Avenue and of Park Avenue in value and largely in business and residential tone. The avenue was long a dormant and uncertain quantity because it lay beyond two avenues which had a lead over it. Since a rapid transit route has been operated under it Lexington Avenue has been a powerful contributing factor to improvement in the adjoining avenues, and has brought itself, through its transit position, within the zone of their influence. The accessibility of the thoroughfare is now beyond all peradventure. It is crossed by the same wide streets that cross the adjoining avenues. Even Third Avenue, discussed in THE RECORD AND GUIDE a short time ago, has been benefited much by the transit route through Lexington. The present trend in Lexington Avenue is practically an expansion of the character of Park and of Madison Avenues. The active movement of real estate in the avenue began about two years ago, but it has been pronounced during the year now drawing to a close. The next year will witness a still greater movement there as a result of the impetus prevailing.

That part of Lexington Avenue from Fifty-ninth to Ninety-sixth Streets has become the local shopping center for the apartment-house occupants in upper Park and Madison Avenues and the intersecting streets, where fine apartment houses are steadily increasing in number. In fact, for marketing and other household necessities, even the residents of Fifth Avenue are going as far east as Lexington in many cases. As fine apartment houses grew in number on Park and on Madison Avenues markets and other stores that abounded there were compelled to move farther east, with the result that Lexington Avenue took on the previous trade character of the other avenues. The circumstance has had, and is having, a strong bearing on the real estate movement in upper Lexington Avenue. The main structural difference eventually between Lexington Avenue and the avenues immediately to the west of it will be that Lexington will contain more stores in the fine apartment houses that will rise there than there are in the grade floors of the fine buildings on Park and on Madison Avenues.

For many years there has been only one department store adjacent to Lexington Avenue, and that is a large one at Third Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street. Since the rapid transit road has been in operation under Lexington Avenue this store's boundaries have been extended through to Lexington. Prophecies are numerous as to other large retail establishments coming into Lexington Avenue adjacent to Fifty-ninth Street. There are many rumors about the westerly block front of Lexington Avenue, from Fifty-ninth to Sixtieth Street, being reimproved for department-store purposes. It is even hinted that one of the big retail stores in Fourteenth Street may go as far north as Lexington Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street. The rapid transit road is expected to be the determining factor.

Lexington Avenue has a topographical feature unusual in longitudinal thoroughfares. Most of its lots are of shallow depth. They vary throughout its length from 55 to 85 feet. The circumstance is caused by the avenue having been built after the street system of the city was laid out. The thoroughfare was built about fifty-five years ago, from its beginning at Gramercy Park north to the Yorkville section. Later it was extended further north to the Harlem River. Consequently, in order to assemble a plot of good depth anywhere in Lexington Avenue, at least two lots fronting on intersecting streets had to be added. In some cases this was done where fair-sized apartment houses were built in the remote past. They were, however, few in number. The same plan has been followed in the present era of dealing, especially where block fronts and half-block fronts are involved. As a result owners of properties in intersecting streets and close to the avenue are asking as much a front foot for their holdings as obtain in the avenue itself, and are getting it. Where the length of lots is on the avenue instead of on the streets then only are they of full depth. This condition is exceptional, however. They range in depth only from twenty-five to fifty feet, the greater width being caused by a lot in a given street having been added to the depth. The width of the lots fronting on the avenue vary from fifteen to twenty feet in most cases. They were originally improved with three-story-and-basement brick or brownstone dwellings, even corners. Operators now, in many instances, are buying one or two of these old dwellings with the hope of assembling more in a row, and will either reimprove the sites with a large apartment house or resell them. There also has been a great deal of reselling of individual parcels, notably corners. Many of these old dwellings in recent years have been remodeled into stores and parlor stores with apartments above. They are all destined to make way for large apartment houses with stores within the next few years.

This movement already has set in. It began with the seventeen-story Allerton apartment house for women, on a plot 75 x 67.6, at the southwest corner of Lexington Avenue and Fifty-seventh Street. Large apartment houses are under way at the northeast corner of the avenue and Seventy-third street and at the southeast corner of the avenue and Seventy-fourth Street. There is a large apartment house on another Seventy-third Street corner. There is a large, new apartment house, eleven stories, at the northeast corner of the avenue and Eightieth Street, on a plot 61.8 x 100, and a sixteen-story one at the northwest corner of the avenue and Seventy-second Street. Scattered through this part of the avenue—in the Seventies and Eighties—are a number of five-, six- and seven-story apartment houses, built during the last decade. The sites are becoming too valuable for their sizes, and they are destined to give way to larger buildings. Most of them cover plots 50 and 75 by 100 feet.

The trend of trade to Lexington Avenue is indicated by a sign a druggist at Lexington Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street has on his building. It reads: "For 22 years at Park Avenue and Eighty-fourth Street." He was in the retail trade that was forced into Lexington Avenue by the modern apartment-house construction in upper Park Avenue. There are large, new apartment buildings on the east side of Lexington Avenue from Sixty-sixth to Sixty-seventh Streets, and a new block-front apartment house on the east side of the avenue from Sixty-ninth to Seventieth Streets.

A real estate speculative, as well as a structural, landmark in Lexington Avenue is the Guilford mansion, on a plot 100.5 x 150, at the southeast corner of Forty-sixth Street. It is a three-story-and-basement brick dwelling. When the boom in the avenue began the Guilford family was offered $450,000 for the property, and refused it. They did not care to move and they evidently did not realize the gradually changing character of the thoroughfare. Since then the estate has had to be settled, and the property was sold not long ago for $390,000. It was resold, this week, to Max Natanson, who will build a large hotel thereon.

Just as interesting is the large vacant plot at the southeast corner of Lexington Avenue and Forty-ninth Street, 140.5 x 145, with an L, 60 x 100, into Forty-eighth Street. It was bought by the International Sporting Club, which planned to erect an immense clubhouse. This plan later was abandoned, and the site was taken back. It has since been sold to James P. Lee, who is erecting on the site a large hotel that will be among the fine hostleries of the city, and will be the first modern hotel in Lexington Avenue. It

May Have to Refund $12,000,000 Taxes to National Banks

Decision of Court of Appeals Just Rendered Declares Levies on Stock Shares Invalid Because Not in Accord with Federal Statutes

UNDER a decision rendered this week by the Court of Appeals the state will have to refund to national banks within its borders taxes collected during the last two years, the amount of which is estimated by the State Tax Commission at $12,000,000, unless the decision of the Court of Appeals, in the case of Goldfogle versus The Hanover National Bank, is reversed on appeal to the United States Supreme Court. Taxation of national bank shares has followed the same method and rate for the last twenty years at which the taxes involved in the suit just decided have been collected, and no question of the validity of these taxes arose until a bank in Richmond, Va., carried a case, interpreting a tax law passed in 1864, up to the United States Supreme Court. The decision in this case was favorable to the bank, whereupon New York banks decided to test the question whether the law in this state came within the requirements of the Federal statutes giving the states authority to tax the shares of national banks under certain restrictions. According to the decision just rendered, which was written by Judge Cuthbert W. Pound, these taxes are invalid; and if this decision is upheld by the United States Supreme Court the taxpayers throughout the state will have to make up the amount illegally collected from the banks and returned to them.

There is a bill before Congress to remedy the conflict between Federal and state laws relative to the taxation of national banks. It was introduced in the House by Congressman McFadden and in the Senate by Senator Wadsworth.

Judge Pound referred to the provisions of the state law subjecting shares of stock in banks and banking institutions, state and national, to a 1 per cent. valuation tax, and to decisions relating to the taxation of "moneyed capital" in the hands of individuals and private banks, and said the National Government permitted state taxation only on terms of substantial equality and fairness. He then continued:

"The question is, first, whether the State of New York discriminates against national bank shares by imposing a tax both on the shares and the dividends, while it imposes a tax on the income only of other competing capital in the hands of private bankers and other individuals. It was held below that if the direct tax and the income tax were both imposed the discrimination would be clear. The respondent contends, by a process of statutory construction which would exclude by implication the particular from the general, that no income tax is imposed on the dividends of bank stock. The question is not whether such dividends may lawfully be included in the income of the individuals taxed by the state, but whether they are in fact so included.

"It is urged that the state had no power to tax such income for the reason that Section 5129 of Revised Statutes of the United States permits a tax on valuation only and therefore that it did not tax it. The language of the statute suggests no such punctilious regard for those whose income is derived from dividends on national bank shares. On the contrary, it plainly includes such dividends in gross income. Gross income includes income from dividends. Dividends from stock in bank corporations owned by resident taxpayers is not included in the list of exemptions.

"A clear discrimination is made against resident holders of bank shares, which are taxed according to their book value, who are also taxed on their income. The shares of bank stock are taxed by one method and the dividends thereon taxed by another method. Competing moneyed capital in the hands of individuals is exempt from taxation according to its valuation, and is assessed according to income only. The provisions of the law are explicit. The discrimination is unfortunately too plain to escape recognition."

The case will probably be appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

To Hold Hearings on Complaints of Violations of License Law

DEPUTY COMMISSIONER FRANK S. McCaffrey, in charge of the Real Estate License Bureau, has arranged to hold hearings by the State Tax Commission, in its offices in New York City, Albany, Buffalo, Rochester, Syracuse or Utica, on complaints for violations of the new Broker's License Law. Commissioner McCaffrey has issued instructions governing the making of complaints as follows:

"The statute provides, under Section 441-d, that when charges are filed against an applicant for a license, or a licensee, he shall be notified of the charges and of their substance, and a date be set for a hearing, when the defendant can be heard in person relative thereto. Care should be taken, therefore, in being certain the complaint is a proper one and of sufficient weight, and the complainant should be willing, and hold himself in readiness to be present at the hearing.

"The complaint should state the specific charge or charges and the exact date or dates when the actions provoking the charges occurred, and the name or names of the persons concerned. It should be made in duplicate, with both the original and duplicate sworn to before a notary public or commissioner of deeds.

"When there is more than one charge in the complaint make each charge a separate paragraph, wherein is scheduled all matter pertaining to that particular charge. Affidavits by those interested to substantiate the charges may also be filed.

"File both the original and duplicate copies of the complaint and affidavits, if any, and any other matter relative thereto, with the State Tax Department, Albany, N. Y.

"The following constitute sufficient reasons under the statute for filing a complaint: Operating without a license; committing a fraud; conduct which constitutes improper or dishonest dealing; untrustworthiness; incompetency; splitting commissions with a person not licensed."

will be thirty-three stories in height and will be the largest building on Lexington Avenue.

The yard of the New York Central & Hudson River Railroad occupies the west side of Lexington Avenue from Forty-third to Forty-ninth Streets. From Forty-third to Forty-seventh Streets the yard is covered by the Grand Central Palace, the Railway Mail Service Building and the Grand Central branch Post Office.

There are numerous one- and two-story taxpayers in that part of Lexington Avenue, one covering a large plot at the northeast corner of Fiftieth Street; while another, at the southeast corner of Fifty-first Street, contains numerous stores. Each of these taxpayers adjoins the entrance to the Lexington Avenue Opera House. The structures are mostly old buildings on the east side of the avenue, north of Forty-third Street. Many of the parcels south of Fifty-ninth Street are destined to form a blend of buildings given over to fine apartments and stores of the best character. From Sixtieth to Ninety-sixth Streets there are also many one- and two-story taxpayers, although somewhat scattered. In fact, all of the old narrow dwellings on Lexington Avenue, from Forty-second to Ninety-sixth Streets, are to a greater or lesser degree taxpayers in comparison with what the value of a new building on their sites would mean. The sites of these old structures are more valuable than the improvements.

Numerous church edifices and buildings of religious institutions are located on Lexington Avenue north of Forty-second Street. Offers have been made by operators for some of these, but they yet await final answer from the owners. Many old dwellings now have "For Sale" signs on them. Two old four-story-and-basement brownstone dwellings at the northeast corner of the avenue and Fifty-first Street, now vacant, are offered on a long-term lease for business purposes.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

Large Transactions Gave Tone and Substance to a Week That Was Marked by Light Dealing in a Variety of Medium Sized Properties

THIS has been a fairly busy week in real estate, although it was not so active as the preceding week. The dealing was substantial instead of diversified and widespread. The Bronx was the borough of diversified dealing this week. The transactions there ranged from small dwellings to large vacant plots for improvement and apartment houses of all kinds, as well as business taxpayers. In Manhattan the largest single sale was that of the large and high-class loft building at the northwest corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-second Street, long owned and occupied by Mills & Gibb. This firm erected the structure a decade or more ago. After selling the property they leased it for their business headquarters, where they have long been. Nowadays tenants buy property as a rule. This firm reverses the rule. The selling price is in the neighborhood of $1,500,000. Another large sale was that of the old Fifth Avenue Baptist Church property, which passed into the hands of Frederick Brown, operator.

Washington Heights and the upper West Side contributed most of the other large sales of the week, although the West Side itself developed a transaction almost as large as the Mills & Gibb sale. It was that of the broad sixteen-story mercantile building at 44-50 West Twenty-eighth Street, which, after being held for ten years by the builder, passed into the hands of an investor. Max N. Natanson did well by acquiring the much discussed large corner of Lexington Avenue and Forty-sixth Street, known as the Guilford mansion, 100.5 x 150. He will improve it with a fine modern hotel. Lexington Avenue, north of Forty-second Street, bids fair to become the next important hotel center. A large hotel is already in course of construction there, and numerous apartment houses are planned for it. The rapid transit road and adjacency to Grand Central Terminal are the great contributing factors to the changing structural character of this avenue.

The Fifth Avenue neighborhood was a theatre of important dealing this week. Several fine dwellings close to the avenue changed hands. Some costly stone-front dwellings that were built not more than fifteen years ago and which are situated on the east side of Madison Avenue, near Fiftieth Street, are about to be remodeled into stores and offices. The Fahnstock and Whitelaw Reid mansions are on the block to the north. Business is fast surrounding these palatial homes. It illustrates the constant invasion of trade thereabouts. The upper West Side also witnessed dealing in fine private dwellings. Third Avenue parcels figured strongly in the dealing, while Second Avenue did well.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week, was 96, as against 101 last week and 121 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 50th st was 41, as compared with 41 last week and 41 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 50th st was 55, as compared with 60 last week and 80 a year ago.

From the Bronx 16 sales at private contract were reported, as against 29 last week and 77 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of recorded instruments, will be found on page 786.

New York Title Increases Stock

The stockholders of the New York Title and Mortgage Co., at a special meeting held on December 7, voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $4,000,000 to $5,000,000. This increase is to be effected by transferring $500,000 from undivided profits to capital account, and distributing the same pro rata to stockholders as a stock dividend. The other $500,000 is to be offered to stockholders at par.

BUILDING SECTION

Multi-Family House Construction Active in Flatbush

Speculative and Investment Builders Improving Many Choice Plots in Section Possessing Numerous Advantages

POSSESSING a majority of the topographical essentials for high-class multi-family house development, and further favored by a combination of ideal rapid transit, shopping, educational and amusement facilities, that section of Flatbush located between Prospect Park, Flatbush Avenue, Beverly Road and the Brighton Beach line of the B. R. T. is witnessing an apartment building movement which brings this district into prominence as one of the busiest in Greater New York. The choice of Flatbush as a location for modern multi-family dwellings started

An indication of the scope of the prevailing apartment-house building movement in Flatbush may be obtained from a study of several of the most important of these projects now either under construction or being planned for an early start. Three six-story elevator apartment buildings are to be erected immediately by the Joint-Ownership Construction Company, a Manhattan corporation, which has in the past devoted its efforts to the construction of high-class multi-family buildings in Park Avenue and adjoining streets. This firm will develop the Lefferts' plot in Flatbush Ave-

Walker & Gillette, Architects.

PROJECTED APARTMENT ON LEFFERTS HOMESTEAD SITE IN FLATBUSH

about eight years ago, and was coincident with the removal of restrictions against apartment houses on several of the widest and most prominent avenues in Brooklyn. At that time, however, the development was chiefly along the line of four-story apartments, with here and there a six-story elevator apartment.

During the past four months there has been a decided trend toward higher and better buildings than were erected in the past. This year quite a number of six-story apartments have been built, and, from a renting and operating standpoint, they have been very successful. Rentals in the Flatbush section have been remarkably well sustained. The older multi-family houses are all tenanted, and builders of the new apartments have experienced no difficulty in leasing their suites at excellent rentals.

Rental values in Flatbush are practically stabilized. Contrary to the general expectation of home-seekers, the past October renting season brought little or no change in rental schedules. Tenants in buildings that are from three to eight years old are now paying an average of $20 per room, and owners of the elevator apartments have had no difficulty in obtaining from $30 upward per room per month in view of their more modern structures and increased facilities for comfortable living.

nue, between Lincoln Road and Rutland Road, where stood the old Lefferts' homestead, built more than 250 years ago. In 1917 the old residence, built upon the foundations of the original homestead, was given by Robert Lefferts to the Brooklyn Park Department, and was moved to its present location in Prospect Park, where it serves as a public museum, filled entirely with antiques dating from the Revolutionary period.

The property to be improved by this operation involves three block fronts. The entire project, including the value of the land, will represent an outlay of approximately $3,000,000. Plans are now being prepared by Walker & Gillette, and work will be started as soon as they are completed and bids can be taken on the various contracts. This operation will be a very interesting one from an architectural standpoint. The design is in the style of the Italian Renaissance and the structure will have façades of brick and limestone. A distinct characteristic of the design will be a series of arcade shops on the Flatbush Avenue side.

At the corner of Ocean and Caton Avenues the steel framework is nearing completion for a nine-story fireproof apartment that will embody a number of unusual features for this district. The plans for this building, which was designed by Charles B. Meyers, call for a large restaurant on the ground floor and a ball-room and roof-garden, the latter features for the exclusive use of the tenants of the building. This project is being erected by a corporation headed by Allen Black, a well-known Flatbush builder, and will contain living units of three, four, five and six rooms, with baths. Rentals in this structure will average $35 per room per month, and a number of leases have already been made despite the fact that the building will not be completed until late next spring.

This same firm has recently acquired a plot of ground directly opposite on Ocean Avenue, and is having plans prepared by Charles B. Meyers for a twelve-story apartment house, upon which construction will be started before the end of this year. This structure, which will also contain a number of ultra-modern devices for the convenience of tenants, will be designed to harmonize with the neighboring apartments, and, in addition to being the tallest multi-family house in the borough, will have the added distinction of being the most palatial from the viewpoint of decoration and furnishings.

Walter Kraslow, who was one of the leaders in the development of this part of Flatbush along modern apartment-house construction lines, has planned a season of unusual activity. Last summer he completed a group of three high-class apartments on Ocean Avenue, north of Parkside Avenue and facing Prospect Park, which were entirely rented before completion, and at present is building a four-story house at the northwest corner of Church Avenue and East Twenty-first Street, only a short block from Ocean Avenue. This building was designed by Shampan & Shampan, and will cost approximately $200,000. The plans call for living units for thirty-five families, in suites of two rooms, with kitchenette and bath, and three and four rooms, with full-sized kitchens. In addition this building will contain seven stores on the Church Avenue frontage.

Excavation work was also started this week by Mr. Kraslow for a six-story elevator apartment house on the east side of Ocean Avenue, between Church Avenue and Albermarle Road. This structure will have the distinction of being one of the largest multi-family dwellings in the borough in point of gross area covered, as it will have frontages on two streets of approximately 130 feet, with about 210 feet depth, and will contain apartments for about ninety families, in units of four, five and six rooms. This building will be extremely interesting in both plan and design, and will compare favorably in appointments with the best apartments in Brooklyn. It is being planned by Shampan & Shampan, and will cost in the neighborhood of $600,000. This apartment also is being erected on property rich in historic interest. The plot was bought by Mr. Kraslow last spring from the Dutch Reformed Church of Flatbush, whose beautiful edifice, reminiscent of Colonial days, is one of the few remaining landmarks of the Dutch settlers in that section. Formerly it was a part of the old Lott farm, and was deeded direct from the Indians.

Within the past few weeks several other Brooklyn sites for apartment-house construction have been purchased by well-known builders. The corner of Regent Place shortly will become the location of another large six-story elevator apartment, and negotiations are under way for the sale of unimproved plots in the same vicinity, all of which will be utilized as sites for new multi-family dwellings.

Office Building Rentals Relatively Low in New York City

RENTERS in New York office buildings pay proportionately less per square foot of space than renters in eight other principal cities of the United States, according to the latest Experience Exchange compiled by the National Association of Building Owners and Managers. This lower rate is given New York renters in face of the fact that the average valuation per square foot in New York is $15.85, which is higher than that in any other city in the United States. The average tax valuation per rentable square foot throughout the country—the Building Owners' Report shows—is $9.95, and it is because of this difference that the rent in New York is actually a few cents higher than paid in Detroit, Chicago and San Francisco.

The report, which revealed this fact, was compiled from data furnished by the owners of 152 skyscrapers in 47 cities. The report shows that there was a 2.2 per cent. increase in operation and construction; 6.3 per cent. increase in insurance; 10.9 per cent. increase in taxes, and other increases which make a total increase in expenditures to office building owners of 10.4 per cent. New York owners' gross income was only 16.74 per cent. of the total tax valuation whereas Seattle, Cleveland, Duluth, Omaha, Detroit, Portland, Little Rock and Chicago all had a greater gross income than New York.

The average labor charge per day paid to scrub women, elevator men, boiler room forces and other employees of the building, average $3.72 per day which is higher than that paid in 29 other principal cities in the United States. New York requires 87 days of labor for each thousand square feet of rentable office space, which is more than is required in thirteen other principal cities.

The investment analysis, compiled by the Accounting and Exchange Committee of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers show that the total tax valuation per square foot of lot, which includes the tax valuation of land, and the tax valuation of buildings, is $119.90, the second highest in the United States. The buildings in New York have a rentable area which is equal to 66.9 per cent. of the lot area, showing that there is a liberal allowance for air shafts, corridors and light courts in the buildings of the Metropolis.

Building Labor Situation Clarified by Resignation of Union Leader

DEVELOPMENTS of the past week indicate that there is every probability that the long-standing dispute between the Independent and International Bricklayers' Helpers' Unions, which has disturbed the peace of the local building industry for several years, has been brought to an end, and that in future construction will proceed unhampered by difficulty from this source.

At the hearing before the Lockwood Committee on Tuesday Samuel Untermeyer, special counsel to the committee, removed the principal source of trouble in the building trades labor controversy by demanding the resignation of Giovanni Dioguardi from the chairmanship of the District Council of Cement Workers' Union, a position he accepted recently following his resignation as president of the Independent Bricklayers' Helpers' Union.

During the noon recess of Tuesday's hearing Dioguardi wrote out his resignation and handed it to Mr. Untermeyer at the opening of the afternoon session, whereupon it was read into the record of the hearing. Dioguardi promised to discontinue his activities with the other laborers' union with which he has severed his connection.

Increased Construction in New York City

NOVEMBER building contracts in the five boroughs of New York City amounted to $42,170,600, according to the F. W. Dodge Company. This was an increase of 41 per cent. over October and of 12 per cent. over November, 1921.

Last month's figures included $29,941,600, or 71 per cent. of the total, for residential buildings. The contract for the Roosevelt Hotel was the largest single item in this group. November contracts for hospitals and institutions amounted to $5,510,000, or 13 per cent. of the total, and business buildings, $4,236,000, or 10 per cent.

During the first eleven months of this year, New York City's building contracts have amounted to $488,012,700, which shows an increase of approximately 28 per cent. over the corresponding period of last year.

Housing the Dominant Factor in Building Situation

Nearly Seventy Per Cent. of Recent Contracts Awarded in Metropolis for Residential Building, According to F. W. Dodge Co. Survey

RESIDENTIAL building activity in the Metropolitan District was responsible for upholding the construction record during the past week. According to statistics tabulated by the F. W. Dodge Company, covering the territory including all of New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, the gross volume of new construction reported during the week of December 2 to 8 inclusive, involved 658 projects at an estimated total valuation of about $21,235,600. The contracts awarded in this territory during the same period were for 416 separate operations at a total cost of $12,095,900.

The record of contracts awarded for this week shows that approximately one-half of the commitments were for projects located in Greater New York, there being 122 jobs at an estimated total valuation of $6,361,600. The newly-reported projects in New York City for the forty-ninth week of this year included 294 operations at an aggregate cost of $12,666,100.

Nearly two-thirds of the contemplated projects in New York City were residential buildings of various types and among the contracts awarded for the week residential construction represented nearly seventy per cent.

The list of 294 contemplated building and engineering operations reported in New York City during the week of December 2 to 8 included 39 business projects such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $1,396,500; 3 educational buildings, $770,000; 1 hospital, $15,000; 10 factories and industrial plants, $841,400; 1 public building, $250,000; 5 public works and public utilities, $124,500; 3 religious and memorial buildings, $190,000; 228 residential operations including apartments, flats and tenements and one- and two-family dwellings, $8,953,700 and 4 social and recreational projects, $125,000.

Among the 122 operations for which contracts were awarded during the week were 19 business projects of various types, $1,199,700; 1 industrial building, $5,000; 6 public works and public utilities, $180,100; 1 religious edifice, $65,000; 94 residential projects, such as multi-family buildings and one- and two-family dwellings, $4,791,800, and 1 recreational building, $20,000.

Building Prospects Bright for 1923.

An exhaustive survey of the national building situation, prepared by S. W. Straus & Co., shows a most favorable outlook for the building industry during the coming year.

"Another month of the most successful year in the history of the building industry of the United States," says the report of this survey, "has added new accomplishments to the records. With material and labor costs still holding firm, in fact, revealing an upward trend in many localities, the volume of building operations for the whole country, during November, has maintained substantially the same percentage of increase over the corresponding period of 1921 as was shown in October, approximately 20 per cent.

"The figures indicate the increase for November over last year to be about $38,000,000 for the entire country. Based on the most accurate information obtainable at this time total building operations for the month were approximately $278,000,000, making a total for the eleven months period, January 1 to December 1, of about $3,578,000,000.

"With a continuation of building operations at the rate which now seems probable, the year 1922 will stand as the greatest period in the annals of the building industry, having to its credit a total of about three and three-quarter billion dollars or more than twice as much as the year 1916, generally accepted as the pre-war normal period.

"Practically every state and city of importance in the country has, during the eleven months of the present year, surpassed its total of building for the entire year of 1921. The seasonal decline, which is usually pronounced in November, has this year been exceptionally light throughout the country.

"Despite some apprehension in other industries as regards approaching shortage of labor, with a possible increase of wages, reports on the labor situation in the building industry indicate that conditions generally became decidedly more stabilized during November, excepting in New York City.

"While building costs are high, in comparison with pre-war levels, it is worthy of special note that these conditions have neither retarded present activities, in the aggregate, nor, to any serious extent, influenced building plans for the immediate future. Conservative forecasts reveal an enormous prospective volume of construction in nearly every section of the country.

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

LOCAL building is surprisingly active, considering the late season of the year. During the past week there has been a steady increase in the amount of apartment house work undertaken and although there is a slight decrease apparent in commercial building the improvement in speculative activity more than offsets the insignificant loss. Builders are generally confident that the construction industry will be particularly favored during the coming year. All current signs point to a steady volume of high class building activity in 1923, and unless a shortage of materials or increased difficulties in the supply of materials prevents there is no reason why the record of this year should not be equalled if not surpassed.

During the past week the market for building materials has been unusually active. Demand for practically all materials is strong and prices in some lines are exhibiting a marked tendency to advance. The market for common brick is a notable example, as this commodity has sharply advanced during the past week, and the demand is seemingly increasing. Lumber, steel, cement, lime and other building essentials are all being ordered in good volume and local dealers anticipate a steady flow of business while the good weather continues.

Common Brick—The outstanding feature of the New York wholesale brick market this week was the sharp advance in price. Common brick prices went up about $2 a thousand and the demand seems to be increasing. Brooklyn, with its renewal of apartment house activity on a large scale, is the greatest source of buying activity and likely to continue its present position for some time to come. Practically all of the Hudson River manufacturers have a fair quantity of common brick on hand, ready for shipment, while others are somewhat pinched for coal to burn their remaining green brick. It was reported this week that there is considerable ice in the river above Kingston, and as a consequence manufacturers are making haste to get their product into the market before navigation is closed for the winter.

Summary—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Thursday, December 14, 1922. Condition of market: Demand increasing; prices advancing sharply. Quotations: Hudson River, $17 to $18 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 50; sales, 36. Distribution: Manhattan, 11; Bronx, 2; Brooklyn, 18; New Jersey points, 5. Remaining unsold in the New York wholesale market, 28.

Lumber—Although the last month of the year is generally an exceedingly dull season in the lumber market the current month has been unusually active in both wholesale and retail departments of trade. Demand from building sources is holding up remarkably and there is every indication that buyers will continue making heavy demands upon local retail stocks throughout the winter months. The New York wholesale lumber market is reflecting the demands from the retail trade and dealers have had very little to complain of regarding the volume of business booked. Manufacturers of lumber are slowly catching up with their orders and although railroad freight transportation is still responsible for serious delays lumber is coming into this district in adequate volume to supply all immediate requirements. The dealers have not been able to regulate stocks to any extent, but this is not important at present as the market is nearing the annual inventory season and it is not desirable to have too much on hand. Prices are very firm.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES

Structural Steel—The market for structural steel is showing considerable strength for this season of the year. Due largely to the large amount of new construction which continues to be released from day to day. Several important operations have been placed on the active list within the past week and the plans for others, that will be announced shortly, are nearing completion. New inquiry has been excellent and fabricators are generally well satisfied with the prospects for the early part of 1923. Shape prices are slightly easier than they have been when quotations are being made on future shipments but immediate deliveries still call for a slight premium over the market. There is a corresponding softening in prices on fabricated material but not to an extent that will affect construction costs in any marked degree.

Builders' Hardware—Although the season is late the demand for builders' hardware continues and there is little indication of a drop in buying activity while the prevailing activity in the construction industry is maintained. The most important factor in the demand at present is the large volume of apartment house construction in progress and the prospects for a considerable amount in addition soon to be started. Local stocks are somewhat better than they were, but at that are far from complete and some delays are being experienced by purchasers. Prices are well sustained and not likely to be reduced for a while.

Electrical Supplies—Business in the electrical line has been excellent all autumn, and both manufacturers and dealers are confident that the demand for electrical goods will continue for some time to come. Sales of wiring materials are good and there are strong indications of increased demand within the next few months, as there is such a large volume of active building construction. Several important power projects and considerable alteration and repair work for large industrial corporations has created a feeling of confidence in the electrical trade. The holiday demand for appliances and radio equipment is another important market factor at the present time and one of the outstanding reasons for the current buying activity. Prices are steady and stocks are adequate.

Cast Iron Pipe—Only unimportant changes have occurred in the market for this commodity. Demand continues brisk and there is every current indication of an exceptionally busy season ahead for pipe manufacturers. During the past week several large buyers have come into the market with their early spring requirements and there is a prospect of a large volume of business next year from municipal sources. Deliveries are still considerable delayed owing to the railroad freight congestion and car shortage, but early improvement is anticipated. Prices are very firm but unchanged.

Reinforcing Bars—The market for concrete reinforcing bars has been somewhat slow during the past week. Bookings have been light and although there is some new inquiry, it is not likely to develop into actual orders for some weeks to come. Plans are in progress for several jobs of good size in which concrete will be extensively used, but these may not be released for bids until after the first of the year.

Nails—Demand for nails continues active and there is considerable scarcity in the supply especially for wire nails in kegs. Prices vary somewhat due to the speculative tone of the market. New York quotations range from $3.75 to $3.90 base per keg, on wire nails and from $4.10 to $4.20 per keg on cut nails.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1 1/4c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use, WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

Where the Fault Lies

The supreme folly of the city in spending its money up to the last available dollar is well illustrated by the predicament in which the City Administration now finds itself as a result of the Court of Appeals' decision that the taxing of national bank shares by the state is illegal. Comptroller Craig estimates that for the years 1921, 1922 and 1923 the city will have to refund a total of possibly $20,000,000 under this decision. It is not difficult to realize the confusion involved.

All too long has it been the practice of city administrations to provide for spending, through the annual budget, almost every dollar upon which the city authorities can lay their hands. It may be that Mayor Hylan and his associates have been no more censurable in this respect than their predecessors, but the fact remains that the present officials have been appropriating the city's monies right up to the limit. With a budget running above $350,000,000 a year, it ought not to be difficult for the authorities to so reduce the total as to maintain a reasonable margin of safety, but it is evident that this has not been done and that the Administration will experience considerable difficulty in getting together the amounts necessary to refund the illegal bank stock taxes already collected.

In their present predicament the city authorities can hope for little sympathy from the public. No intelligent taxpayer will be fooled by the Mayor's demagogic talk that the taxpayers are to be mulcted for the benefit of the national banks. No good reason can be given why millions of dollars taken illegally from the national banks should not be returned to those institutions. A bank occupies a position no different from that of any other taxpayer, and it is a common thing for taxpayers to go to court to test the legality of various levies made against them. If individuals or organizations sustain the contention that they have been taxed illegally, no one sincerely raises the point that the money unjustly paid should not be refunded. What applies to an individual taxpayer or an organization applies equally to a bank, and the insidious suggestion made by the Mayor in connection with the recent Court of Appeals' decision calls for earnest condemnation.

The trouble at City Hall lies not in the effect of the recent court decision but rather in the policy of unlimited extravagance so constantly pursued by the city authorities. Our officials should give more thought to the problem of saving the taxpayers' money and less to hunting for every dollar which can be spent in any given year. The adoption of such a policy as this would ward off hereafter the serious complications now confronting the City Administration.

Inflexibility of Tenement House Law

In a recent communication to THE RECORD AND GUIDE Mr. Wm. Douglass Kilpatrick, a recognized expert in realty affairs, calls attention to the fact that one of the vital reasons for the continued scarcity of low-priced multi-family living accommodations in New York City is the inflexibility of the Tenement House Law. He pointed out that the Labor and Zoning laws, both of which have for their objective the conservation of public health, safety and convenience, have been satisfactory and successful from every standpoint, although containing provisions for their variation and modification under proper conditions, but that the Tenement House Law, designed with a similar object, is mandatory and arbitrary to a degree which frequently has come close to defeating its very purposes.

For many years the inflexibility of the Tenement House Law and the lack of provisions for its modification have been subjects of discussions among architects, builders and property owners who have found themselves confronted with its arbitrary provisions. Up to the present time, even throughout the recent housing crisis, this law has withstood all efforts to so amend it as to make possible compliance with its intent rather than its strict letter.

THE RECORD AND GUIDE would not favor any plan to sacrifice provisions of this law whereby public health, comfort or morals would be jeopardized. It does maintain, however, that this law as at present on the statute books is unnecessarily severe and arbitrary in its lack of provisions for appeal and modification, and that the next Legislature should enact changes making the law more elastic, upon the sanction of a competent board or committee charged with hearing appeals for modifications. The success of the Board of Standards and Appeals in solving the intricate problems coming under its jurisdiction, and the large measure of success which has attended those charged with the enforcement of the Labor Law has been possible because of the facilities provided in those statutes for hearings upon matters in question or dispute, and then, where advisable and possible, permitting the requisite modifications in favor of appellants when by such action the intent of the law can be conserved. Both of these laws have been successful largely because it has been possible to temper their strict interpretation with justice and common sense. It is desirable that the Tenement House Law should be amended similarly, so that details demanding special consideration may have it. Until this is done, little hope can be held of satisfactory progress in the construction of low-priced living quarters so greatly needed in the metropolis.

New York no Murderer's Paradise

The ancients used to class murder as a fine art and many present-day critics have asserted that New York City, which leads in so many artistic, scientific, educational, financial and commercial enterprises, is the "murderer's paradise," the place where he is less restricted in his bent than in other American cities. It is not characteristic of New York or its citizens to thrust away any record duly merited, but in this matter of premier-ship in shooting, stabbing and poisoning there is neither the desire to rank high, nor justification for the recurrent assertions of jealous knockers that the criminal doing away with human life has been brought to its most skillful and frequent achievement in the highways and byways of the metropolis.

Vital statistics having to do with the duration of life and the causes of death, compiled by the Prudential Insurance Company, give the average murder rate for 1921 in twenty-eight of the largest cities in the country as 9.3 for every 100,000 of population, while that for New York City is only 6.2 per 100,000. In nine of the smaller cities the rate ran from 1.4 in Hartford, Conn., to 5.1 in Philadelphia. In Memphis, Tenn., 56.8 out of every 100,000 inhabitants had their lives brutally shortened. Comparison of this rate with that of New York's 6.2 per 100,000 shows how unsupported are the strictures upon this city as the murderer's haven.

Eighteen cities in the country had more murders in proportion to the population than New York had in 1921, which properly leads the Merchants' Association to declare that the metropolis is "one of the safest cities in the world, both as to crimes of violence and as to dangers from disease." The latter part of this statement follows the announcement by Health Commissioner Copeland of our extraordinarily low death rate.

There are a good many murders in New York because it is the biggest city in the world, and some of the crimes committed here are so unusual as to merit the many columns of space the newspapers give to them. While New York has the finest police force in the world, there are too many ways of enjoying life in Little Old New York to leave much room for revenge and greed, unrequited love and iniquitous passion, to sway many from pleasant places into the path that leads to the Little Green Door up at Ossining, opening into an eternity of remorse. Detractors of New York are refuted by truth's infallible statistics.

Gives Basis for Fixing Values of City and Suburban Lots

By JOSEPH P. DAY

FIRST, because in the course of each real estate auction season I sell many thousands of lots to a multitude of investors, builders, speculators and home-seekers and, second, because any number of these buyers are not over-familiar with the principles underlying city and suburban lot values, it has occurred to me that a little educational campaign along these lines might not be amiss at the present time when population is shifting so rapidly to city and suburban regions.

First let us consider the lot that has rock upon it. The value of such a lot is reduced by some proportion to the cost of the rock removal. However, in some cases there may be sufficient demand for rock to render it possible for the owner of the lot to procure the removal of the rock for less than the usual cost of such removal. If the cost of rock removal is greater than the value of a standard lot at grade, the value of such a lot, with the rock on it, is less than the value of a lot at grade.

As regards a lot so much below grade as to require filling, I would say that while its value is ordinarily depreciated by the cost of filling, it yet may be so situated that its value is actually greater than that of a lot at grade, because payment may be obtained for the privilege of using the lot as a dumping place.

Corner lots are more valuable than inside, but the appreciation varies in accordance with the relative value of the intersecting streets and the character of the neighborhood. This appreciation in value ranges all the way from 25 to 50% in suburban sections where the appropriate developments is by the erection of detached houses, to from 33⅓ to 200% in the more congested city sections, where the corner is at the intersection of two streets in a residential section, or at the intersection of two good retail shopping thoroughfares. The appropriate increment value due to corner location must be considered with reference to the actual earning power and consequent selling value of corner lots in the particular section.

The distance from a corner to which extends the influence upon value of proximity of the corner depends upon the character of development appropriate to the neighborhood. By this I mean that where a lot 100 ft. square is the appropriate size for a plot, the corner influence extends to the whole 100 ft. But, where the vacant plot 100 ft. square at a corner would be best improved with four or more buildings, the corner influence extends but little further than the width of the first lot.

And, now, as to lots of varying width and depth: where the appropriate improvement of a section demands lots of standard size, a lot of greater width has little more relative value than a lot of standard size; however, where the building appropriate for that section requires a plot of greater depth, a larger plot has a greater relative value than the standard size plot.

The appropriate increase for plottage must be considered with reference to the actual conditions prevailing in the section where the lot is situated; and an addition for plottage may be as great as 10 to 12%, or even more.

New Bronze Traffic Towers on Fifth Avenue Installed

THE first of the seven new bronze police towers controlling traffic on Fifth Avenue was formally installed and dedicated with appropriate ceremonies at the corner of Forty-second Street last Monday. Preceding the unveiling of the tower the Fifth Avenue Association, which carried out the suggestions of Dr. John A. Harriss, Deputy Police Commissioner and originator of the tower system, gave a luncheon at the Biltmore Hotel to commemorate the event at which Mayor Hylan and other city officials, Joseph H. Freedlander, architect of the tower, and prominent citizens were guests. Following the luncheon these guests were escorted to the tower by detachments of marines and infantry and after Mr. Freedlander had turned the tower over to C. Stanley Mitchell, chairman of the Tower Committee of the Fifth Avenue Association, the latter drew aside the draperies about it while the Police Band played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Mayor Hylan accepted the tower in the name of the city, a policeman climbed up to the control station and at once began operating the signals which synchronize traffic along the city's most crowded thoroughfare. The six other towers will soon replace the four remaining temporary structures built at the expense of Deputy Police Commissioner Harriss, and two new ones at Twenty-sixth and Fourteenth streets. The new bronze towers cost approximately $100,000 raised by public subscription and were built by the John Polachek Bronze & Iron Company. They are twenty-four feet high, weight five tons each and are equipped with a large bronze bell striking the hours. The clock and signals are electrically controlled.

Transit Commission Submits More New Subway Plans

Sends to Board of Estimate Specifications for Eighth Avenue-Amsterdam Avenue Line and for Express Station at 33d Street and Fourth Avenue

THE Transit Commission submitted on December 14 to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment the general plans for the proposed trunk line subway known as the "Eighth Avenue-Amsterdam Avenue Line," running from Hudson and Chambers Streets to Overlook Terrace near 192d Street and Fort Washington Avenue, at a cost of $69,500,000.

The Commission has also submitted plans for the reconstruction of the subway station at 33d Street and Fourth Avenue into an express station, and for lengthening the local stations on the East-side subway between Brooklyn Bridge and Grand Central and on the West-side from Times Square to Ninety-sixth Street to allow room for ten-car instead of six-car local trains, at an estimated cost of $4,000,000.

The Board of Estimate must hold public hearings on these plans before December 26, and adjourned hearings at later dates, if necessary, but as the Board has rejected all the other plans proposed for new subways or extensions of old lines made by the present Transit Commission it is expected that the proposals now presented will also be disapproved. This action will not, however, prevent identical or similar plans being adopted if proposed to the Board of Estimate after January 1 by a Commission named by Governor Smith to succeed the present one, or made part of the program put forward by the Municipal Administration and generally known as Mayor Hylan's program. The Transit Commission, of which George McAneny is chairman, makes the following statement respecting its communication to the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on the Eighth Avenue-Amsterdam Avenue Subway:

The Eighth avenue line is one of the series of seven new subway lines included in the construction program put forward by the Transit Commission in May, last. As the Commission stated at the time, it is, in many respects, the most important and ambitious in scope. The route proposed extends for eleven miles north and south, and will employ thirty-eight miles of track. In order to provide adequately for the traffic that will be turned into it from the various branch lines and feeders, the structure will include for a part of its distance six separate tubes, and eventually eight, arranged so that each may be built separately to fit the time at which it will be required. There will be two levels of track through the parts of the route through which this maximum construction provision will be made.

When the plans submitted, which are the product of many months of work on the part of the Commission's engineering bureau, have the approval of the Board of Estimate, the drafting of contracts will proceed, and it is estimated that actual construction could be commenced within nine months. Ground will probably be first broken in the neighborhood of Eighth avenue and 42d street, where direct physical connection is to be made with the Queensboro Subway. From this point, the southerly section of the new route will proceed as a four track line through Eighth avenue to 14th street, as a two track line to Hudson and Chambers street. Northward from 42d street it will run as a four track subway up Eighth avenue and across 57th street—with underground access to the proposed general station at Columbus Circle—and up Amsterdam avenue to 103d street. From this point farther north it would run as a four track subway to 155th street, and thence still via Amsterdam avenue as a three track subway to 150th street and Fort Washington avenue, and along Fort Washington avenue to Overlook terrace, near 192d street.

(a) The first full section to be constructed after approval of the general route by the Board of Estimate, will run from 41st street to 14th street. This will carry four tracks, to be placed in a two deck subway, carrying two tracks each on the west side of the avenue. Eventually throughout this section a similar double decked structure carrying four additional tracks will be built upon the east side. At 41st street will be the connection with the Queensboro extension, and at the 14th street the connection with the 14th street-Eastern line to Brooklyn.

These two connections will afford a through loop service to the Queensboro and 14th street lines, incidentally opening up one of the most important sections of Manhattan to both.

(b) The second building stage south on Eighth avenue and Hudson street will carry the line from 14th street to the terminal at Chambers street, where passengers desiring to go further south in Manhattan, or across to Brooklyn, will transfer to the present Broadway-Seventh avenue line.

(c) The third step will cover the section north, again as a two deck four track subway on the westerly side of Eighth avenue to 57th street, and thence by way of Amsterdam avenue to 103d street. At this point the traffic of the present Lenox avenue branch of the Interborough Subway can be diverted to the new line, and only the traffic of the Van Cortlandt Park branch north of 96th street would be carried on the present line downtown south of 96th street. This will provide a very great measure of immediate relief for the upper west side of Manhattan through the reservation of the existing Broadway-Seventh avenue line wholly for its service.

(d) As the fourth and final stage in the work of construction, the line will be continued on a four track single level up Amsterdam avenue to 155th street, thence with three tracks up Fort Washington avenue to Overlook terrace. This unit will provide the wholly new facilities so badly needed for the densely populated territory that has developed in upper Manhattan since the building of the first subway. It would provide this territory with a new express service beginning at 155th street and running the full distance south to 14th street.

The estimated cost of the Eighth avenue line by sections would be: (a) $12,000,000; (b) $7,500,000; (c) $24,000,000; (d) $26,000,000—a total of $69,500,000. This would represent approximately one-third of the cost of the entire five year building program the Commission has in view, which was stated in May to be for construction alone $218,000,000. Sections (a) and (b) of the proposed new line would require a little over three years to build, and sections (c) and (d) four years.

The Commission in its announcement emphasized the fact that the Eighth Avenue Line will provide for the Borough of Manhattan and indirectly for The Bronx the next logical relief the necessities of these two boroughs require. It will also add greatly in giving the proper flexibility to traffic proceeding from the Borough of Queens and across 42d and 41st streets to points north and south and to the traffic flowing from Brooklyn by way of the new subway across 14th Street, Manhattan, and under the East River to the Williamsburg section now nearing completion.

The Commission also points out that the new line coupled with the proposed extension of the B. R. T. Broadway Route up Central Park West and through 155th Street, St. Nicholas Avenue to 168th Street, will give an exceptional degree of relief to Washington Heights and provide a great impetus for the future development of that section. Points of transfer will be provided between the projected B. R. T. Extension and both the new Eighth Avenue Line and the existing Broadway Subway, so that the passenger from Washington Heights will have a choice of three routes south, any one of which he would be able to take for a single five cent fare.

Under the provisions of the Rapid Transit Act, the Board of Estimate is required to fix dates for public hearings upon any new route or routes submitted by the Transit Commission within ten days of their presentation, and it must act finally upon the question of approval of such routes within sixty days.

In announcing its plans for the reconstruction of the subway station at 33d Street and Fourth Avenue into an express station, the Transit Commission announced that the change had been under consideration for some time to provide better facilities for the increased traffic in that neighborhood; as a measure of relief for the congestion at Grand Central Station and as another step in the working out of the proposed centering of suburban traffic at a terminal on the site of the old car barns on Fourth Avenue and 32d Street.

"It is believed," states the Transit Commission, "that much of the transfer of passengers from local to express trains will be removed from Grand Central to 33d street under the new arrangement, and the Grand Central Station will then have only its own two peculiar problems, namely, the handling of transference between the north and south express trains and the Queensboro Subway and the shuttle, and the traffic to and from the New York Central and New Haven roads. When the Queensboro Subway extension now building through West 42d and 41st streets, from Grand Central to the west side subway is completed, it will also greatly decrease the transferring at Grand Central.

"The making of 33d street an express station will also fit in, it is believed, with plans now only beginning to take shape in order to bring about an improved method of handling the vast and daily growing commuter traffic between the suburbs and the city. Mention of the fact that the Transit Commission had such plans under consideration was made by Chairman McAneny at one of the hearings before the Commission last summer, at which time he suggested that the old car barn site at Fourth avenue and 32d street possessed, potentially, some of the qualifications required for a central site for a new terminal for suburban traffic. Since that time the Commission has devoted some consideration to the matter and studies have been made by its engineers, but no definite conclusions have been reached.

"With the suburban traffic center located near 33d street, the new express station may be expected to develop a great increase in traffic, similar to that which has come to the Pennsylvania station on the West Side subway, which last year was used by more than 25,000,000 passengers, an increase of nearly 3,000,000 for the year. The making of an express stop at Pennsylvania station was opposed when the plans were under consideration, but the results justified it. While the traffic at 33d street, 6,181,000, was 2,300,000 less than at 23d street last year, nevertheless the engineers are agreed that for tactical reasons related to the dispersal of traffic, the express station should be located at 33d street balancing, in a sense, that at the Pennsylvania.

"An objection which has been advanced against the establishment of an express station at 33d street is that an additional stop would slow down the running time of express trains. It is believed, however, that the small delay thus accruing will be compensated for by the reduction of congestion at Grand Central Station, which will permit trains to get in and out of the station in the rush hour periods of traffic with greater celerity. Due to the difficulty of handling the crowds at present, following trains are frequently held up at the approaches to the station, waiting for the train ahead to move out. In fact in some quarters it has been suggested that, with the re-arrangement it may be that better running time could be made than is now possible.

"Of the proposed expenditure of $4,000,000, about $3,000,000 will be involved in the local station lengthening. These stations, which are on the line of the subway as originally operated by the Interborough, before the Lexington avenue and Seventh avenue subways were constructed under the dual contracts, are shorter by more than 200 feet than the local stations on those two lines. There are fourteen stations to be altered—eight on the east side subway and six on the west side subway. They are as follows:

"West Side Line—50th street, 59th street (Columbus Circle), 66th street, 79th street, 86th street and 91st street.

"The platforms of the fourteen stations will be increased from their present length of 225 feet to 433 feet. When originally constructed these local stations were only 200 feet long, providing capacity for four-car trains only. They were later lengthened by 25 feet, making possible the addition of two cars to the trains. Local platforms on the new subway lines are 480 feet long."

The following figures show the ticket sales or fare collections at the stations affected during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1922, as compared with those of the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921:

91st street.....	2,277,074	2,342,100

While in some instances these figures show decreases from the last year, the traffic reduction is regarded as only temporary and the stations are expected to show increases in traffic in the future. The Commission in its order to the Interborough last Spring, requiring in addition to many service improvements the purchase of 350 additional subway cars, has provided for at least part of the additional equipment which will be required for the increase in length of local trains.

A new subway under Third Avenue, to take the place of the Third Avenue Elevated line, was advocated by Mayor Hylan at a luncheon by the Fifth Avenue Association to the Mayor and other city officials at the Hotel Biltmore in connection with the unveiling of the first permanent bronze traffic tower erected in Fifth Avenue at Forty-second Street. The Mayor said that he would scrap the Third Avenue Elevated Railway to make way for municipal buses. The Mayor's advocacy of a subway through Third Avenue was the

Lower Rents Only Possible By Reducing Building Costs

Construction Trend Outlined by W. J. Moore, President of the American Bond & Mortgage Company, at Convention of Organization's Salesmen

IN connection with the removal of the American Bond & Mortgage Company to its new twelve-story office building on Madison avenue, between Forty-fourth and Forty-fifth streets, a convention of the company's salesmen from many states was held at which nearly two hundred field representatives of this organization were present. The program of the convention was varied and, in addition to stated business sessions, included a theatre party and banquet and trips about the city, so that those who had never before visited the metropolis might have an opportunity of "seeing the sights."

The Friday afternoon business session of the convention was addressed by W. P. Tienken, Vice-President of the Record and Guide Company, on the subject of "The Construction Outlook and Its Probable Effect on Rental Values."

"This tremendous amount of construction," said Mr. Tienken, "naturally affects the local real estate situation in a most significant manner, and we may therefore expect a movement in the real estate field closely allied to that in building. According to all current indications the real estate situation in 1923 will be very similar to that which has marked the year now closing."

"There is every reason to anticipate that within the coming months real estate activity, not only in New York, but in other important communities, will be a reflection of the movements during the past year, as there is still a remarkably strong demand for unimproved properties for development and active requirements in the housing field which cannot possibly be fully supplied for several years to come, no matter how great the building program."

"It is the consensus of opinion of real estate experts in New York City that lower rents cannot be expected for some time to come. Last summer, during the height of the apartment house and small dwelling building boom in the metropolitan district, many predictions were made that, coincident with the approach of the October renting season, there would be a decided slackening of rental values, and that owners who were unwilling to make reduction would be forced to witness their property standing in idleness. This history of the past renting season, however, belied all of these predictions. They were certain readjustments in rentals in several districts where the building had been erected without sufficient thought as to neighborhood characteristics, rapid transit, shopping, amusement facilities, etc. This is quite noticeable in one and two-family dwellings erected in several suburban communities and some of the outlying districts of New York City, and it is also true of modern apartment house construction, which dealt chiefly with units of one or two rooms and kitchenette."

"The demand for apartments of four to six rooms in well located buildings where rental values will range from $20 to $40 per room per month is far from supplied, and it is in buildings of this class that there will be a vast amount of activity during the coming year. In the Borough of Manhattan there is still a very lively demand for living units in modern apartment houses, and it is only in those buildings which were designed and constructed on a palatial scale, with correspondingly exorbitant rentals, that any softening of values has been experienced during the past year."

The convention was concluded Saturday evening with a banquet at the Hotel Astor. The speakers included Hon. Simeon W. Fess, United States Senator-elect from Ohio, who spoke at length upon several of the nation's important economic problems; William Fox, vaudeville producer, and Raymond Hitchcock and Will Rogers, the two latter talking in humorous vein.

The speaking program of the evening concluded with an address by W. J. Moore, President of the American Bond & Mortgage Company, in which he outlined the firm's activities during the past year and announced some of the plans for future development. He gave interesting statistics in connection with the growth of the organization and then briefly outlined his conception of the building situation and the outlook for progress in the national construction field during the months to come.

"It is my belief that if an over-production of housing accommodations occurs it will only produce a temporary reduction in rents," said Mr. Moore. "The direct result of over-production would be a stoppage of building construction and in a comparatively short time the surplus would be taken up and a shortage would again exist, followed later by an upward trend in rents. The only way that a permanent reduction in rents can come about is through reduction in building costs."

"It is my opinion that to produce a permanent reduction in building costs four fundamental things must occur, to wit:

"First: There must be a substantial reduction in the wages of all mechanics employed in producing building materials and the erection of buildings as 75% of the cost of materials entering into buildings is for labor, the raw material costing not over 25%."

"Second: The price of coal must be reduced, as coal is an important factor in the production of many building materials, and in their transportation."

"Third: Freight rates must be reduced, as the transportation of building materials represents a large and important part of their cost."

"Fourth: There must be a reduction in income taxes. Every penny of income tax collected from the building industry is added to building costs."

"Now let us analyze the prospects for these reductions being made:

"First: As to reduction in wages, it is my opinion that this will not be possible of easy accomplishment, for the reason that labor is too well organized in every department of the building industry."

"Second: We are just beginning to feel the effects of rules which the building trades unions have had in force for a number of years, prohibiting or limiting the employment of apprentices."

"Third: A more recent rule, with reference to limiting the number of new members going into their organizations. The result is that many of the men now in the respective organizations are growing older and are less energetic than they were some years ago. Thru death of their members, prohibition of apprentices, the restrictions on taking in new members and the withdrawal of members to enter other trades, there has been a reduction in the total number of mechanics in the building trades of more than 25% during the past five years."

"There is now a shortage in the number of building mechanics required to handle the normal building activities of the country. All things considered, the prospects for reducing the cost of building construction thru the reduction of wages in the building trades is very remote, and if there is to be a reduction it will be very gradual and will, in my opinion, be spread over a great many years."

"The Price of Coal: The cost of coal is also largely a question of wages and transportation. The coal miners have just defeated the operators in the hardest fought labor contest in years, lasting five months. They were able to do this, largely for the reason that it was absolutely impossible for the operators to replace them with other skilled labor, as practically all miners belong to the union. Therefore, a strike in the coal industry is largely an endurance contest. The operators could undoubtedly win a strike in this field, if the country could get along without coal. But the trouble is that coal is such a fundamental necessity that the public cannot await the results of an endurance contest of this kind. A conference of operators and miners is now on to fix wages from April 1st next, and the miners are demanding an increase in wages, with six hours a day labor, and five days work a week, and it is my opinion that they will win their demands. Therefore, the prospects of a reduction in the basic cost of coal through reducing wages is not at all promising, and from the present outlook one might safely predict that the prospects are that labor costs will be increased rather than decreased. Over-production of coal might result in some reduction in middle men's profits and a lower price than prevails at present, but a substantial reduction to consumers does not seem possible."

"Freight Rates: Freight rates are largely dependent upon the cost of two things—labor and coal. About two-thirds of a railroad's income goes for these two purposes, and unless the cost of these two items can be largely decreased, there are little prospects for the reduction of freight rates. We have just considered, at length, the prospect of reducing the price of coal with the conclusion that it is not immediately possible. This brings us to the question of the prospects of reducing the cost of railroad labor. The railroad unions are, without question, the strongest labor organizations in the country especially the four major railroad unions, and the prospect for forcing a reduction in railroad wages is, in my opinion, not promising, and will not be attempted. In fact, it would be perfectly safe to predict that a reduction in railroad wages will not occur in the near future. A strong movement is now on foot to reduce freight rates on grain and farm products, in order to help the farmers and there is every indication that this request will be granted; and, in view of the fact that railroad earnings are now inadequate for the railroad companies' needs, any reduction in freight or farm products will have to be added to the cost of other commodities and building materials will have to bear their proportion. Therefore, it seems to me that it is a logical conclusion that the cost of transporting building materials will be increased rather than decreased, and any increase on freight rates on building materials will be added to building costs."

"Income Taxes: Every manufacturer of building material adds to the selling price of his commodity the cost of his income tax payments to the government. The results of the recent national election would seem to indicate that a Soldiers' Bonus Bill will be passed in the near future, and this will necessitate a large increase in taxes to meet the expenses of these payments, and, so far as building materials are concerned, will be reflected by increased costs."

"From this brief examination of the fundamental requisites

George B. Rickaby Tells Members of Real Estate Board How His Plan Works and Urges Them to Adopt It in New York

THE December dinner meeting of the Real Estate Board of New York, at Delmonico's on Thursday evening, Dec. 14, was featured by a lengthy discussion of a proposition to have the Board adopt the new method of transacting real estate sales and leases that has come out of Toledo, O., known as the Multiple Listing System. The principal champion of it was George B. Rickaby, a Toledo real estate broker, who is the father of the system. He was enthusiastic in his recital of its workings. President Charles G. Edwards, of the Board, strongly endorsed the proposition, saying that he believed it would work as well in New York as it has worked elsewhere in the country.

Mr. Rickaby's address aroused great interest. After he had finished he was bombarded with questions from nearly every member present as to the practicability of the system. They were not opposed to the plan if it could be found to be workable in a city as large as New York. They wanted to be thoroughly shown. It was pointed out that New York stands in a class by itself as to real estate transactions.

The multiple listing system consists of listing with a real estate board, through co-operation of all the active or broker members, or by groups of such members, the property which each has for sale, generally on the exclusive agency plan. Information so listed, Mr. Rickaby explained, is broadcasted to all the members or to such of them as have elected to come into the group. The board creates the machinery for receiving and distributing the information. The broker actually selling the property gets almost the entire earned commission and the broker who listed it a fair and fixed part of the whole commission. In either case the board gets a small percentage of the commission.

Some boards have adopted the system for the entire membership. Some confine it to such groups as may desire to use it. It is not compulsory to list all properties. A property listed may be withdrawn under proper conditions. For the listing broker it is claimed that the percentage of commission given up is compensated for by the fact that sales are greatly facilitated. For the seller it is claimed that his property has at one time the widest market and a quicker sale. It is claimed that it means greater co-operation and work beyond the sphere of an individual broker. The results in other cities have surpassed expectations.

"I know of a real estate man in a distant city who contemplated going out of business because of a dearth of activity," Mr. Rickaby said. "After adopting the multiple listing system his business increased appreciably in less than ninety days. The system is bound to solidify membership of real estate boards and prove self-sustaining at the same time. The city of Louisville is a notable example of the success of the system. The Real Estate Board there was dying of dry rot. After nine months under the system there the real estate situation has greatly improved. Seventy-seven of the ninety leading brokers there are receiving the multiple listing system service. More than $12,000,000 worth of business has been the result.

"We are working on the basis of a decade hence as regards the entire country. Eighty-five real estate boards in as many cities are now using the system. Is it not another way to increase commissions? The rate of commission here is lower than anywhere else in the United States. The rate is as high as five per cent. in some cities. The system is not planned to drive the curbstoner out of business. Your new license law will dispose of him. The great virtue of the system is that it would regulate and control real estate brokerage conditions here and thereby you could do much more business.

"The idea prevails in some quarters that the system would create a sort of a trust. It is not so. Far from it. There can be no real estate trust because there is no uniform standard of real estate values. I do know, however, that multiple listing will tend to stabilize values here in New York. It will increase business for the large and small brokerage offices, which will counteract to a certain extent the fact that the commission rates here are almost the lowest, if not the lowest, in the country.

"If it has worked well elsewhere it certainly will work well here. The system is organization highly developed. Real estate profits will in the aggregate be greater than any individual can make. If chain stores, banks, insurance companies can develop larger business by co-operation with the public, why cannot real estate men do the same?

"Real estate has always had its proper place as an investment. The rest is salesmanship. Multiple listing is a high form of salesmanship. Real estate will never be as liquid as stocks and other securities, but multiple listing will tend to make it more liquid. There is not one member of the multiple listing system who is dissatisfied with it. Chicago has adopted the system. Why should New York hesitate? The system applies to the sale of unimproved as well as improved property and to leases. If you can expedite the turnover of a parcel of real estate and shorten the route to the buyer you will find that there will be four times as many investors in the field as there are now without it.

"I have realized for some time that the brokers of this city were not prepared to take up multiple listing, but I am confident that no city in the country is better prepared or qualified to adopt it. The fact that you brokers here in New York are in competition with five, six and seven per cent. mortgages, bonds and stocks tends to discourage many from buying real estate for the reason they believe that if they invest they will have difficulty in getting their money out. Everywhere that the multiple listing system has been tried it has stimulated the sale of real estate and as a result has made it more liquid.

"On the other hand, every city that has adopted the system has solidified the membership of its real estate board, increased co-operation, improved the standard of its ethics and finally placed the local board on a sounder financial basis. In New York you have the largest real estate board in the country and the country feels that you are contemplating adopting the multiple listing system. The greatest thing you can do, therefore is to have the courage to recognize the fact that the Real Estate Board of New York is greater and more to be considered than any single individual."

for a reduction of building costs," Mr. Moore said in conclusion, "it is quite apparent that no substantial reduction is possible at the present time, and that if a reduction does occur it will be spread over a long period of time. If there is no large reduction in building costs, there will be no substantial permanent reductions in rents."

After the banquet the visiting salesmen departed on a special train for Boston, where they planned to inspect a number of new structures financed by the American Bond & Mortgage Co.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

The Upper Parts of Town Contributed So Heavily to the Dealing as to Make This a Banner Christmas Week for Participants

THIS has been a remarkable week in real estate for this time of the year. Probably no previous week so close to Christmas Day has had greater market activity than this one has had. It would seem as if the investing public had made the brokers a Christmas present, so heavy has been the dealing in large properties and so varied has been the dealing in medium sized parcels. Vacant plots on Washington Heights and in the Bronx were in good demand, even block fronts and tracts of lots changing hands for improvement. It looks as if the builders in the upper reaches of the city intend to start the New Year with the construction of apartment houses. Brooklyn and Queens were also more than usually active, the former borough contributing several large transactions to the total business of the year.

Frederick Brown and Max Natanson were the outstanding figures of the real estate market this week. The Stratford-on-Avon, a large Riverside Drive corner apartment house, was bought and resold by Mr. Brown and another resale of it is pending. Twelve years ago, Mr. Brown bought this property and resold it, only to buy it back again more than a decade later, at a much higher price, and again resell it, at a profit. This deal strongly illustrates the drawing power of well situated Manhattan real estate. The transaction was in the million dollar class. Mr. Brown also resold the mercantile building, 8-10 East 49th street, opposite the site of the projected Fifth avenue store building of Saks & Co. The buyer immediately leased the property for reimprovement, for a term of 63 years, the aggregate rental being $1,500,000. There were other interesting transactions in which Mr. Brown figured.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week was 137, as against 94 last week and 74 a year ago.

The number of sales south of 59th st was 41, as compared with 41 last week and 31 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th st was 96, as compared with 55 last week and 43 a year ago.

From the Bronx 49 sales at private contract were reported, as against 46 last week and 41 a year ago.

Statistical tables, including the number of recorded instruments, will be found on pages 818.

Bonus to New York Title Employees

According to announcement made by President Harry A. Kahler of the New York Title & Mortgage Co., a 10 per cent. bonus will be paid to the employees of the company at Christmas time.

This company has a profit-sharing system on which three payments for the year have already been made. The present 10 per cent. bonus is in place of the fourth of the quarterly profit-sharing payments, making the total profit shared by the employees approximately 15 per cent.

Hood Wright Estate Sells Tract

The largest transaction involving vacant property in upper Manhattan which has been reported in recent years was closed this week, when the J. Hood Wright estate sold to Ennis & Sinnott, operators, 60 lots fronting on Broadway 17th, 173d, 174th and 175th sts and Fort Washington av. The buyers will offer the land in building plots to apartment house builders. It was held at about $1,000,000. J. Romaine Brown Co. was the broker.

To the north of the property just sold the Clark estate has recently sold a great part of its Broadway frontages, and with the completion of contemplated improvements of the Wright estate property the west side of Broadway from 168th to 181st st will have been completely built up.

The Wright property is the last of the large holdings of the philanthropist, who died in 1894. The family, however, still retains its old homestead and large plot at Haven av and 174th st. The lots sold comprise the entire easterly frontage of 329 feet on Fort Washington av, from 173d to 175th st, and the blocks on the west side of Broadway, between 172d and 175th sts, excepting that between 173 and 174th sts, which was bought last June by the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Rev. Christian F. Reiser, pastor for a palatial church and community building.

The Broadway block between 172d and 173d sts has a frontage of 206 feet and measures 159 and 125 feet, respectively, on the streets. The northerly Broadway block, between 174th and 175th sts, has a frontage of 228 feet.

Seely Estate Sells in West 14th Street

Duross Co. sold for the estate of George B. Seely to a buyer who will reimprove, 315-321 West 14th st, running through to 324-326 West 15th st, a total of four 4-story brick buildings on a plot 50x206.6. They were owned by the Seely family more than 30 years.

New Theatre for Times Square Zone

A new playhouse in the Times Square theatrical district is forecast as a result of a resale of a former holding of Baron William Astor at 238-270 West 44th st, between Broadway and Eighth av. The property comprising seven 4-story brownstone buildings, was purchased by the 239 West Forty-fifth Street Corporation from L. A. Pines and S. H. Stone. They cover a plot 113x100.5.

The site will be improved by the buyers with a theatre and office building from plans by Herbert Krapp at a reported cost of $400,000. Mr. Krapp designed many of the newer theatres in the district. The new structure will, it is said, contain stores and offices.

Option on Vanderbilt Mansion

The famous Gothic mansion at the north-west corner of Fifth av and 52d st, built by the late William K. Vanderbilt, has been taken over by the Mandel-Ehrlich Corporation on an option to purchase from the Empire Investors Corp., a subsidiary of the Empire Trust Co. Cushman & Wakefield, Inc., were the brokers. According to Henry Mandel, senior member of the new controlling interests the property, together with the home of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., adjoining on the north, which may also be acquired, may be torn down and replaced by an office building or by an apartment hotel with fine shops on the grade floor.

The option includes the vacant 50 feet on the western end of the 175-foot plot on 52d st which carries a restriction against business. The house fronts 100.5 feet on Fifth av. It has not been occupied since Mr. Vanderbilt's death, about 3 years ago. In the fall of 1920 Mrs. Vanderbilt bought a house in the new

Mr. Natanson resold, at a good profit, two 12-story apartment houses in West Harlem, the aggregate value of both being about $1,350,000. He, too, participated in other dealings of the week. The Fowler estate sold a valuable mercantile property in West 125th street, running through to West 124th street, in the heart of Harlem's great business thoroughfare. There was heavy dealing in tenement houses in East 110th street and in East 86th street, group dealing prevailing.

Numerous fine elevator apartment houses, both on corner and inside sites changed hands, notably on Riverside Drive, West End avenue and on intersecting streets. George Ehret sold to a builder a group of old frame dwellings at the north-west corner of Park avenue and 86th street that he had owned for fifty years. A large plot at the southeast corner of Park avenue and 90th street was resold to a builder, for improvement. Large elevator apartment houses will cover both of these plots early next year. Lexington avenue, Third avenue and Second avenue still continue active.

A group of seven old buildings in 46th street, between Broadway and Eighth avenue, were bought, to be supplanted by a theatre and office building. Fine private dwellings were in good demand. Downtown James S. Coward, shoe merchant, completed the purchase of all the property, except one parcel, on the Greenwich street block where his business is established. A Vesey street parcel was bought by an investor. On Washington Heights the J. Hood Wright estate disposed of a choice tract of sixty vacant lots for about $1,000,000. The Seely estate sold a group of buildings on West 14th street and running through to West 15th street. Cooperative apartments sold well.

and unique Sutton Square Colony, overlooking the East River north of 57th st.

The Empire Trust Co. after it purchased the property, made an advantageous lease on its old quarters at Fifth av and 47th st, and decided to utilize the Vanderbilt house for its up-town headquarters.

Mr. Mandel states that he believes the old Vanderbilt mansion should be taken down and restored on some fine country estate, as it is much too valuable and artistic to be consigned to a house wrecker's scrap heap. The house was designed by the late Richard Morris Hunt. Mr. Vanderbilt bought the site about 40 years ago.

Approves School Sites

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment has approved the following sites for new schools, as recommended by the Board of Education:

The two blocks bounded by East 172d and 173d sts, Boynton and Manor avs, the Bronx.

A property on Vyse and Bryant avs, south of Tremont av, adjoining P. S. 6 the Bronx.

American Bond & Mortgage Co. Moves

The offices of the American Bond & Mortgage Company in the company's twelve-story building at 315 Madison Avenue, near Forty-fourth street, were occupied for the first time Monday December 18. The American Bond & Mortgage Company, offering real estate first mortgage bonds upon improved property in Manhattan, has occupied quarters at 562 Fifth avenue, corner of 46th street, and the move to its new building was necessitated by the great increase in the number of the company's offerings and the generally larger demand for real estate bonds by investors.

The new building of the American Bond & Mortgage Company has a facade of black and gold marble and bronze, with pressed brick above the third floor. The entrance is at the northwest corner of the building and is of unique workmanship and design. In the main floor offices of the company is the Italian Renaissance style, which makes this one of the most unusual business offices in the city. The ceiling is taken from one by Paolo Veronese, in the Ducal Palace at Venice, and in the panels are many Latin quotations pertaining to thrift. Exceeding the panels which are of walnut, the ceiling is entirely of gold leaf.

The floors of this room are of white marble and the wall of brown Hanover marble, relieved by pilasters of black Italian marble with bronze bases and capitals. At the front of the lobby is the main salesroom, and at the rear is the cashier's department set off by an elaborate marble and bronze partition, the upper part of which is of glass and bronze. The room has been designed with the convenience and comfort of the customer as the principal idea. Specially designed elevators for use of customers and compressed air conveyors for the transfer of records and securities connect the first four floors of the building.

The second floor will be entirely a customers' room and the third floor contains the private offices of W. J. Moore, president of the company, and C. C. Moore, vice-president, in charge of the New York office. Several of the floors above this will be used for the transaction of the company's business.

With the opening of the new building it was announced that most of the offices of the upper floors have been rented on long-term leases, indicating a good demand for office space in the locality.

The American Bond & Mortgage Company was organized in Chicago and has now developed a nation-wide organization. Buildings have been financed in most of the principal cities of the east and middle west, in the fields of apartment houses and apartment hotels, industrial plants, theatres and hotels.

Real Estate Club Elects Officers

At the organization meeting of the Real Estate Salesmen's Club recently held at the West Side Y. M. C. A., the following officers were unanimously elected for the year 1923: Honorary President, Charles G. Edwards, president of the Real Estate Board of New York; President, William H. Wyckoff of Pease & Elliman; vice-president, Joseph P. Day and Harry Hall, the latter of William A. White & Sons; secretary, David Kemper; corresponding secretary, Lee T. Horan, and treasurer, John L. Too Many "Perhapses"

IF you DO NOT make a WILL the LAW will dispose of your estate, perhaps as you would have wished—perhaps not.

If you make a WILL and name an individual executor, perhaps he may be able to spare enough time from his own business to handle the many and intricate problems that are sure to arise—perhaps he may not.

It follows that if you have a decided preference as to where your money shall go, you must make a WILL. And if you would safeguard your heirs from the natural limitations of an individual executor, by naming this Trust Company as co-executor with him, you will furnish the needed protection.

Activity in Co-operative Apartments

Douglas L. Elliman & Co. announce that owing to the great increase in the volume of their sales of co-operative or tenant-owned apartments, they have elected one of their directors, Keitt P. Walker, General Manager of the Co-operative Sales Department.

Their activity in this field, specializing exclusively as they do in the residential sections east and south of Central Park, is further borne out by the fact that the aggregate sales of co-operative owned buildings made by them in the last three years is in excess of $10,000,000.

The Co-operative Sales Department is entirely devoted to the selling of co-operative stock in new and old buildings. Prospective purchasers will be able to secure all details, such as floor plans, sales prices, methods of financing, proprietary leases, etc., relating to each separate proposition. Comparative values of various co-operative buildings can also be ascertained.

Prosperous Year for Prudence Bonds

The Prudence-Bond Corporation has closed a prosperous fiscal year, having more than tripled its sales of bonds over the record of 1921, and is now aligning itself to repeat this record in the coming year, according to William M. Greve, vice-president of the company. "The prospect is good for big business," said Mr. Greve, "and while we pursue a conservative policy, especially in view of the abnormal conditions as reflected in high building costs and money inflation, we have been able to select from the multitude of applications coming to us, the most substantial of mortgage securities upon which our bonds are issued.

"While our official board has been one of the strongest of any financial institution in the country, it has been further strengthened by two well-known veterans of the financial and business world—Irving T. Bush, president of the Bush Terminal Company and president and director of the Chamber of Commerce of the State of New York, and William H. English, vice-president and director of the Empire Trust Co. Mr. Bush has been made a director, and Mr. English, already a director, has become a member of our executive committee."

The board of directors and executive committee of the Prudence Company now stands as follows:

Big Industrial Plant for Queens

That the Latham Litho and Printing Co., now at 32 West 42d st., Manhattan, intends to establish in Long Island City an industrial colony became known when Ray Palmer, representing the Queensboro Chamber of Commerce, and representatives of the company applied to Borough President Connolly for the installation of local improvements in the district where the company's plant is to be built. The site is on Woodside av. from Middleburgh av. to Barnet av. and includes several city blocks. President Connolly directed that petitions for the necessary sewers, streets and other improvements be prepared at once for action by the Newtown local board early in January.

The company will erect a printing establishment covering more than a city block. Adjacent to the plant will be erected several homes for the occupancy of working people connected with the plant. The plant and the cottages are to be surrounded by a park owned by the company in which will be established recreation grounds for the use of employees and their families. The cost of the plant will be more than $1,000,000. Work upon it will be started as soon as the plans are approved by the Queens Building Bureau.

Life Insurance and Real Estate

E. C. Wier, Field Manager of the Union Central Life Insurance Company of New York, addressed the staff of the M. Morgenthau, Jr. Co. on the twelfth instant. Mr. Wier pointed out some of the newer developments of life insurance as related to real estate. He showed that for a very small additional charge, averaging about one per cent. per annum, a home owner can insure the payment of the mortgage on his home in case of his death with a privilege to convert this insurance at any time into other insurance of a permanent nature without examination. He also pointed out that a real estate investor should set aside a portion of his income each year for the purchase of an annuity, thus insuring an income in old age beyond peradventure. Mr. Wier also showed the advantages of income insurance against ordinary forms of insurance from an income tax standpoint.

The M. Morgenthau Jr. Co. will hold weekly meetings at its office, at which experts in various lines of real estate and insurance will be heard.

$2,000,000 Leases Sold

Richard L. Lee sold for the Silver Lurch Co. and Nathan Daniels their leases with the renewals at 1662 66 Broadway 792-96 Seventh av. a 2-sty building, on a plot 60x170, to "Schrafft's."

This plot, which was leased two years ago from George Fearing, of Boston has been held by the Fearing family since 1800, at which time this entire square block was purchased by Mr. Fearing's grandfather for $60,000. It is a curious coincidence that Nathan Daniels' lease, which covers probably one-third of the block, called for an annual net rental of the same amount.

"Schrafft's" contemplate in the near future the erection of a new building on this site, which will house another of their chain of candy stores and tea rooms. The securing of this lease by "Schrafft's" marks their entrance into the Times Square district. Another very important transaction is being actively negotiated in the immediate neighborhood.

Board of Education to Reorganize Its Building Bureau President Ryan Outlines Plan to Increase Efficiency of Construction Department and Speed Up the Production of New Schools

EARLY this week George J. Ryan, President of the Board of Education, announced plans for a reorganization of the Building Bureau of the Department of Education in an effort to eradicate the inefficiency which has resulted from the antiquated methods now employed. This announcement was made simultaneously with that of the resignation of C. B. J. Snyder, Superintendent of School Buildings, to take effect January 1. Mr. Ryan stated that although approximately $80,000,000 is immediately available for the construction of additional school facilities, the Building Bureau as operating at present is failing to supply plans to an inexcusable degree.

The outstanding feature of the plan to reorganize this bureau will be the division of the two hundred and twenty-five architectural draftsmen now employed by the Department of Education into groups of five and employment of about two hundred more draftsmen to increase the output of plans for new schools. Besides the new superintendent, whom Mr. Ryan says has not yet been decided upon, a number of assistants will be appointed.

According to the proposed rearrangement within the Building Bureau it is expected that plans will be produced for one hundred and twenty-five new schools and that these structures may be erected within the next three years. It is estimated that the completion of these buildings will provide all the part time schools with a seat for every pupil. Plans for nearly thirty buildings are now under way. By dividing the draftsmen into groups, each group of five men will be able to produce a school plan, using the standardized architectural scheme, on an average of every three months. If this idea is carried into practice Mr. Ryan is of the opinion that all building records of the Board of Education for the past twenty years can be eclipsed.

"There has been a lack of co-operation and the Board of Education is being criticized," said Mr. Ryan. "School building in New York City has been hampered by a lot of tradition and the department has got to be put on an absolutely businesslike basis."

A short time ago a radical modification of that part of the charter governing the building of schools, which would cut red tape and permit the Board of Education to allot contracts to the ablest builders so that buildings might be put up by the dozen and not one at a time, was recommended by William L. Ettinger, Superintendent of Schools, in reviewing the school situation at the beginning of Education Week.

Mr. Ettinger's plan advocated the elimination of the fifty sequential steps necessary at present in awarding a contract, to one, offer bonuses to contractors, accept bids from responsible bidders rather than the lowest and expedite payments, so that it would not be necessary as now to crowd children into unhygienic, part-time classes, where there is no chance for a happy school experience and accomplishment is retarded.

"The conditions in our schools as of October, 1922," said Dr. Ettinger, "were as follows:

"In the elementary schools, although there were 536,836 pupils on full time, regular session, there were 197,906 on double session and 94,640 on short-time instruction; in our high schools, although there were 32,168 on full time, regular session, there were 9,685 on double session and 58,770 on short time. Moreover, the evils of double session and short-time instruction are further augmented by over-large classes. Experience has shown that under ordinary conditions registers in excess of forty are too large to insure good discipline and efficient instruction.

"What were the conditions in our schools as of last March? There were 66 classes with registers of 55 or over, in which were enrolled 3,755 pupils; 541 classes with registers from 51 to 54, in which were enrolled 28,050 pupils; 518 classes, or a total of 28,900 pupils, in classes with registers of 50; 4,165 classes with a total of 194,740 pupils in classes with registers from 45 to 50; 5,699 classes, numbering 239,310 pupils, in classes with registers from 40 to 45. Despite the earnest, continuous and skilful efforts of superintendents, principals and teachers, children are crowded into school buildings in which conditions necessary for hygienic, happy school experiences, full-time instruction and effective accomplishment are absolutely lacking.

"What is being done to remedy such conditions? Much has been done and much more is projected. Thus, between September, 1921, and the close of October, 1922, 35,276 additional sittings were provided in elementary schools, 4,556 in high schools and 300 in continuation schools. In other words, additional sittings to the extent of 40,132—after several years' struggle—were finally made available at a cost of approximately $22,000,000. Moreover, more money is immediately available and additional money is promised by the city authorities.

"But the evils that have retarded our building program are of long standing and must be peremptorily removed if the present crisis is to be met. At present the elapsed time between the approval of plans by the Board of Education and the completion of a given school building is from two to three years. The procedure followed, in accordance with law and custom in requesting funds, making plans and letting contracts, is most involved and time-consuming. For example, there are fifty distinctly marked steps that must be taken before the contractor is finally notified to begin work on a new school building.

"In my opinion, the award of contracts to the lowest bidder, who is not necessarily the lowest responsible bidder, does not operate to induce contractors of extensive experience, large working organizations, and ample financial ability to become bidders for school contracts. If this provision could be modified great building concerns which have never attempted to build a public school in this city might be induced to bid and might succeed in securing contracts, not for one, but for a dozen schools. The need of a radical change is urgent, because the net total of the 1922-1923 program calls for an expenditure of approximately $80,000,000 for the construction of buildings. These contracts must be apportioned among responsible builders, other than those who now compete, and therefore we must take measures to interest them. Otherwise financial ability will mean nothing except a certain paper credit.

"Despite the fact that we have succeeded fairly well in our earnest efforts to speed the building program, I think that frankness compels us to admit that an emergent condition exists. I suggest that the Board of Education confer with the Board of Estimate as to the necessity of modifying present procedure and especially as to the necessity of accepting bids other than the lowest in order to secure an equitable distribution of contracts among firms capable of carrying projects to speedy completion. In addition, I strongly recommend that the Board of Education consider the advisability of initiating legislation to free itself of certain statutory requirements that experience abundantly proves tend to delay construction."

Since men and women know that electricity adds so much convenience to their homes, it is reasonable for them to insist upon getting it

No!—my house must have modern wiring

MANY a builder has wished he had given more thought to the final touches of convenience which he might very easily have put into a house—the little touches which mean a great deal to home-buyers, especially women.

In these days when women do so much of their housework electrically, many a house has been sold on its wiring alone.

G-E Wiring devices are the outgrowth of years of intimate knowledge of the requirements of house-owners. There are over 3000 G-E devices, covering every possible requirement.

All of them are good-looking, blending well with the architectural motif. They are so sturdy that they will last as long as the house itself.

Rush Plans for New Construction as Year Nears Close

Weekly Statistical Report of F. W. Dodge Company Shows Intense Activity in Residential Building Operations Throughout Local Territory

CONSTRUCTION activity in the New York territory was well-sustained during the fiftieth week of this year when the totals are compared with those of previous weeks. Despite the lateness of the season there is a vast amount of building now in progress and every day brings its announcements of additional operations either actually started or scheduled for commencement within the next few weeks. The newly reported construction is diversified in character, and although there is still a predominance of residential building in practically all districts comprising the Metropolitan territory there is sufficient work of other types to balance the local program fairly well.

According to statistics compiled by the F. W. Dodge Company for the week of December 9 to 15 inclusive, architects and engineers reported progress on plans for 707 new structural projects scheduled for New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, at an estimated total value of $41,813,900. During the same week there were contracts awarded in this territory for 438 new construction projects at a total value of $20,134,700.

There has been no decline in construction activity throughout

New York City during the past few weeks. The statistical report shows 321 new building and engineering operations announced during the fiftieth week scheduled for locations in New York City. This work will involve an outlay of about $29,253,600. There were contracts awarded in New York City for 151 building projects valued at $14,456,600.

Among the 321 operations reported planning were 44 commercial projects such as stores, offices, lofts, garages, etc., $6,346,000; 6 educational buildings, $494,200; 2 hospitals, $205,000; 7 industrial buildings of various types, $302,500; 1 public building, $3,000; 10 public works and public utilities, $149,000; 2 religious and memorial buildings, $105,000; 254 residential operations, $21,518,900, and 5 social and recreational projects, $130,000.

The list of 151 projects for which contracts were announced in New York City during the fiftieth week of this year included 19 business structures of various types, $1,208,500; 3 educational projects, $362,200; 2 hospitals, $420,000; 2 industrial plants, $140,000; 2 military and naval structures, $4,900; 1 public building, $100,000; 6 public works and public utilities, $108,900; 115 residential operations such as apartments, flats and tenements and one- and two-family dwellings, $12,107,100 and 1 recreational project, $5,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Metropolitan Hardware Association will hold its annual banquet at the Hotel Commodore, Wednesday evening, January 17.

Joseph Benzing & Co., prominent Brooklyn lumber dealers, recently purchased half the block in Williams place, between East New York avenue and Fulton street. This plot has a frontage of 240 feet on Fulton street, and will be used for lumber storage in connection with the present yard in Williams place.

J. A. Adamson, formerly district engineer in the New York office of Lockwood, Greene & Co., engineers, has been appointed manager for the New York office of the John W. Ferguson Co., United Bank Building, Paterson, N. J., contracting engineers, specializing in industrial building construction.

Theodore E. Burger has joined the general staff of the Western Electric Company at the headquarters office, New York. For the past year and a half Mr. Burger has been secretary of the Society for Electrical Development, Inc. In making this change Mr. Burger will be again connecting himself with the organization in which he obtained his first electrical experience, he having started with the Western Electric Company at Los Angeles in 1905. He was manager of the branch in that city from 1907 to 1917. He was one of the early presidents of the Los Angeles Electric League.

Brooklyn Builders Elect Officers

Abraham Rockmore, one of the best known builders of multi-family houses in Brooklyn, was elected president of the Associated Builders of Kings County, at the recent annual meeting of this organization which was held in the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. The annual meeting was preceded by a banquet at which about sixty members were present. President-elect Rockmore succeeds Joseph L. Aaron, who held this office for the past nine years. Upon his retirement as the head of this organization, Mr. Aaron was presented with a handsome silver loving cup and unanimously elected its honorary president. Other officers elected at the annual meeting were Harry Strong, first vice-president; Robert Eisenstein, second vice-president; A. Cantor, third vice-president; Samuel Seiderman, treasurer, and Zachariah Balton, secretary. The two latter officials were re-elected.

Housing Expert Sails for Europe

E. A. MacDougall, president of the Queensboro Corporation, which has created at Jackson Heights the renowned garden apartment residential section, sailed last Saturday on the Majestic for an extensive European trip. The object of his trip is to visit the principal housing centers. Another purpose of the trip is to give him an opportunity to confer with European housing commissions representatives of which inspected Jackson Heights during the past year.

On the eve of his departure, Mr. MacDougall said: "The erection of hotels, shops, loft and office buildings during the last ten years in the district between Twenty-third and Fifty-ninth streets represents the greatest improvement known to real estate history. This development of an active business section in the midtown area has in turn set in motion forces which have produced a movement of the residential population to the outlying districts of New York. This movement as a matter of course has followed along the lines of transit constructed during the last ten years.

"As the business section has developed traffic congestion, both transit and vehicular, has constantly increased; this has further driven home to those residing in this area the necessity of seeking elsewhere for living quarters.

"It is significant to note that the largest increase in housing in the last three years has been in Brooklyn and Queens, showing that it is to these boroughs that this shifting population is turning for homes. The chief reason for this choice is the accessibility of home centers in these boroughs to mid-town and downtown Manhattan, and because of the lower costs there found.

"In the district directly east of the central part of Manhattan there has been developed the restricted community of Garden Apartment Homes known as Jackson Heights. Here, where more than $14,000,000 has been invested in the construction of garden apartments, approximately 1,000 families have purchased apartments under the Jackson Heights plan of tenant ownership. These purchasers have become their own landlords, enjoying their apartments at the actual cost of maintenance instead of bulging the pockets of speculators."

CURRENT BUILDING OPERATIONS

METROPOLITAN building conditions have not changed to any marked degree during the past week. There is a continuation of construction activity throughout the local district along well defined lines. Probably the most important as well as interesting phase of the situation is the pronounced revival of interest in the multi-family house building field. During the past few weeks a large number of high class apartment projects have been announced and others are contemplated. Brooklyn and the Bronx are particularly popular as locations for these new operations and Manhattan is also fairly active in this line of work.

Reports from local dealers in building materials and supplies show a continued activity in the demand for these commodities. Although there was a slight lull a week or so ago, inquiry is picking up rapidly and a number of substantial orders are being booked. The extremely slow deliveries on structural steel are responsible for holding back quite a number of important building operations in all parts of the Metropolitan District, and just as soon as the prompt supply of steel is assured, there is every probability that demand for all other materials will greatly increase.

Building material prices in the local markets have not changed to any extent during the past week. For the most part levels are fairly stabilized, and while there is an upward movement to common brick and some lumber items, there is no indication of a concerted price advance that will affect construction costs radically.

Common Brick—Trade was quite brisk this week in the New York wholesale market for common brick. Demand is holding up strong and considerable new inquiry is developing so that both manufacturers and dealers are looking forward to the early part of the coming year with considerable optimism. Arrivals of brick from up-river points were exceptionally heavy during the past week, largely because manufacturers are desirous of getting as many cargoes down river as possible before navigation is closed for the winter. There is considerable ice in the river north of Kingston and the extreme cold of the past few days is rapidly closing the boxes. Hudson River common brick prices sharply advanced again this week and at present the quotations range from $19 to $20 a thousand.

Summary—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Thursday, December 20, 1922. Condition of market: Demand strong; prices advancing. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $19 to $20 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 58; sales, 34. Distribution: Manhattan, 14; Bronx, 2; Brooklyn, 11; New Jersey points, 6; Astoria, 1. Remaining unsold in the New York wholesale market, 52.

Lumber—The demand for lumber continues to hold up in practically all sections of the local district. Both wholesale and retail dealers report satisfactory sales for this period of the year, in fact the volume of business is considerably better than it normally is at this season. The large volume of active building throughout the city and adjacent suburbs is keeping the lumber retailers busy, and as rail shipments from production points are still far behind, the local stocks are anything but complete. Prices are strong and the trend toward higher levels continues.

Structural Steel—Although bookings of fabricated material during the past week have been relatively light as compared with those of the few previous weeks.

there is a healthy tone to the market, and both steel manufacturers and fabricators are viewing the future favorably because there is a volume of new inquiry developing that should result in definite orders early in the coming year. Several important new building projects have been announced for the metropolis recently, and their plans are rapidly maturing. A considerable seasonal decline occurred in the sales of fabricated structural steel in November, according to reports received by the Department of Commerce through the Bureau of the Census. November sales amounted to 46.8 per cent. of the entire shop capacity of the country, as against 57.3 per cent. reported for the previous month. These percentages are based on a uniform capacity rating recently reported to the Bureau of the Census by almost all the reporting fabricators. Through these new ratings, the total monthly capacity of the 140 identical firms reporting each month from April through November has been reduced from 233,685 tons to 211,510 tons. A considerable increase in the capacity of the structural steel fabricating shops of the United States since 1913 is shown in a special survey made by the Department of Commerce. A preliminary report, based upon data received from 143 firms with a total revised capacity rating of 208,440 tons per month, shows an increase since 1913 of 45,025 tons in monthly capacity, or about 22 per cent.

Window Glass—Conditions in the local glass market are practically unchanged. The demand is quite strong considering the season, but as there is a large amount of active construction and a reviving interest in apartment house building the requirements will undoubtedly be heavy for some months to come. Local stocks, while adequate, are not up to normal, and jobbers are almost entirely out of some sizes. Shipments from factories are slow. Prices are firm and likely to advance.

Nails—The supply situation has not improved to any extent as far as nails are concerned. There is a considerable scarcity in certain sizes, and the outlook for increased deliveries is not optimistic. Demand continues strong, and as a result prices are very firm and somewhat speculative in character. Jobbers' quotations on nails, f.o.b. New York, are as follows: Wire nails, $3.75 to $3.90 base per keg, and cut nails, $4.10 to $4.20 base per keg.

Electrical Supplies Business in the electrical supply line is remarkably good, and there is every current indication that trade will be brisk throughout the coming months. There is a heavy and consistent demand from construction sources for armored cable, conduit, fixtures, etc., and a strong likelihood that these requirements will increase rapidly early next spring, as there is a vast amount of new building to be undertaken. Stocks are in better position than they were several weeks ago, and prices are firm, with an advancing trend.

Cast Iron Pipe—There is considerable activity in the demand for this commodity despite the lateness of the season, and the prevailing market situation leads manufacturers to the opinion that the coming year will establish new production records. Numerous inquiries and orders have been reported by manufacturers during the past week, and a large percentage of the plants are booked up for some time to come. Although the railroad freight situation is improving, pipe manufacturers are still hampered by the car shortage, and as a result shipments are being delayed and deliveries from foundries considerably extended. Prices are firm and unchanged.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1½c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use. WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, nonporous, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.

Some Bright Spots in the Dying Year

At hand is the time for looking back over another finished year, for reviewing its outstanding features and considering whether it has been a good year or a bad year. Keen observers are now engaged in retrospect, some viewing 1922 from one angle, some from another. After all of the observers have set down their conclusions, after the good and the bad features of the last twelve months have been analyzed, the Average Citizen will have an opportunity to consider the composite view and to decide for himself what characterization best fits the departing 1922. But, without waiting for these developments, it may be assumed that the Average Citizen already has formed a general opinion of the record made by the dying year, that he feels disappointment because no greater progress has been made toward real world peace, that the dissensions in Europe have not been more nearly adjusted, that great domestic problems still remain unsolved in Washington, and that taxes, which we have always with us, continue burdensome to a staggering degree. Those fortunate individuals whose business has prospered during the last twelve months no doubt will pronounce 1922 a good year, but those whose business has been held prostrate by railroad strikes and other untoward developments undoubtedly hold a different view.

Taken all in all, however, it is quite evident that those interested in real estate and building here in the metropolis can look back upon 1922 with reasonable satisfaction. THE RECORD AND GUIDE presents in this issue reviews of the year's developments in real estate and in building construction, in both of which fields various outstanding features are to be found. In realty transactions it is shown that 1922 has recorded greater activity than 1921, and that this activity has been widespread and diversified. Developments of prime importance have taken place in Manhattan, the Bronx, Brooklyn and the other boroughs. In Manhattan the year has witnessed new activities in Madison and Lexington Avenues, in Third Avenue, in Greenwich Village and on Washington Heights which foreshadow great future advantages for those sections. On the lower West Side and even far down town much reason for optimism is to be found in the year's developments.

Early predictions that 1922 would break all records for volume of construction activity in New York City have been justified. Although the final building totals for the year are not yet available, it is definitely known that the construction work placed under contract and started during the past twelve months has been approximately forty per cent. greater than that of 1921, heretofore the record year. The housing crisis has been met, and still there has come no let-down in the great volume of construction under way.

Thus it is apparent that in many respects 1922 has been a good year, especially in Father Knickerbocker's realm, and perhaps the brightest feature of all is seen in the prospect that the realty and building activities of the year now ending will continue unretarded during 1923.

Playing Politics with the Subways

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment lost little time in rejecting the plan of the Transit Commission for a new trunk-line subway under Eighth and Amsterdam Avenues. Not only Mayor Hylan but every other member of the Board went on record at the first opportunity as being against this $69,500,000 project, thereby heading for the scrap-heap one of the most important of the Transit Commission's suggestions for relieving the transportation crush in Manhattan.

It can hardly be assumed, of course, that the city authorities took this action after careful consideration of the new plan, for they had had neither the time nor the opportunity to give it real consideration. Rather must the Board's immediate rejection of the proposal be attributed to political motives. It does not necessarily follow, therefore, that the construction of the Eighth-Amsterdam subway will be delayed indefinitely by this action. Soon after Governor-elect Smith takes office and the new Legislature meets, it will be possible to get a line on what Albany proposes to allow New York City to do in the matter of new subways, and then the City Administration may be expected to get busy promptly on plans of its own.

The chances are that when authority to build new subways is revised to accord with the results of the last two elections here in the metropolis a new program will be launched without delay under new auspices. The city authorities doubtless will promulgate plans calculated to minimize the work of the Transit Commission appointed by Governor Miller, so that credit for future accomplishments may go to other quarters. It is to be doubted, however, if the new subway planners will get far in their work without adopting, at least in a general way, the most important of the proposals thus far submitted by the McAneny Commission. A little change here and a little change there must be expected, with a new name to be credited with authorship. But the chances are that the new plans will adhere pretty closely to what already has been proposed, not only for the West Side of Manhattan and for Brooklyn, but for other important sections of the city. Engineers are apt to be engineers first and politicians afterward, so election results may not make so much difference, after all, in the choosing of the most desirable routes for future subways. The problem which must be solved by Hylan engineers, like the problem which McAneny engineers have been trying to solve, is how best to afford proper transit facilities for the metropolis. Basically, it is a problem which has nothing to do with politics, and it is a problem with which politics should have as little to do as is possible in a community of the character of New York. Means of rapid transit must be provided for the city's ever-growing population, and the average citizen cares much less about who builds the needed subways than he or she does about how promptly they are built.

One vital question of policy is involved in the matter, however—a question in which the entire city has grave concern. That is as to the plan under which the new subways shall be operated. It will be a sad day for the metropolis if the new regime at Albany yields to Mayor Hylan's demand that the new subways be operated by the municipality. If such a condition should come to pass, not merely subway plans but the subways themselves would be thrown into politics, with resultant evils that might prove staggering.

Operations of Joseph P. Day Organization in 1922 Total $30,000,000

By JOSEPH P. DAY.

WITH my auction sales of vacant land totaling 20,000 lots, 7,000 more than my best previous year, and my other real estate operations contributing to a grand volume of $30,000,000, I cannot help but regard 1922 as a remarkable year. Ten million of that $30,000,000 volume of 1922 business represents operations in industrial properties, waterfront and general manufacturing sites, as well as factories. My Out-of-Town auction sales in the big cities, from coast to coast, contributed another million of dollars to the grand volume; while my Special Sales Day auctions in the Vesey Street Salesrooms, of private dwellings, tenements, apartment houses, theatres, office and loft buildings, and unimproved parcels, accounted for $4,000,000. Private sales of estates and dwellings, not to mention my sales of houses for the United States Shipping Board, and United States War Department warehouses, equipment and industrial sites, also contributed their share to my greatest year.

In selling 20,000 lots during the year 1922, I had to have my hand on the public buying pulse every minute. From this intimate knowledge, I have reached the conviction that the outstanding feature of the last year's lot market was the predominance of the small lot buyer.

This may not sound very startling to those who have not maintained a careful check on the character of the New York real estate buying public. I can remember the time when my buying audiences were made up, in the main, of the large investor and speculator. Even as late as last year the small lot buyer was in the minority. This year he was in the majority by a big margin. Of course, in saying this, I am disregarding some of my sales which were distinctly "Builders' Buys"—apartment house, business and high-class dwelling sites, such as the Montgomery Estate, Featherbed Lane sale and the Hoboken United States War Department industrial sites, which naturally attracted the large speculators and investors.

When I speak of the homesite seekers, I refer more particularly to their presence at my big sales in the Bronx, such as the Lorillard Spencer Estate, which I sold for the New York Public Library and the United States Trust Company of New York, Morris, Wissmann, Ebling, William Waldorf Astor, Ruhl, Ludlow, Henry R. Hoyt and Simpson Estates; Columbia Oval, which I liquidated for the Trustees of Columbia College, and the East Bay Land Company property, which I sold for London, Eng., interests. These auctions accounted for sales of over 8,000 lots. It wasn't so long ago that 3,000 lots represented all the vacant land that New York could absorb in a whole year.

The small lot buyer was also prominently represented at my sale of 3,136 Forest Hills West lots. This tremendous disposal was made in six days. This is a world's record for lot auction sales. The best previous mark was my Morris Park sale of 3,000 lots, made in two weeks' time. Other Long Island sales were those of the Jamaica Estates, Duell, Sturgis and Porter Estates; Sir Frederick Mirrielees and Peck Estates at Bay-side; Baisley Park, Elmhurst, Astoria, Long Island City and other sales show the Queens County total to over 6,000 lots. Westchester County and Brooklyn also contributed their share of small lot buyers. I refrain from mentioning here my many New Jersey sales, as I wish to substantiate the statement about the dominance of the homesite seeker in what can be termed truly the metropolitan market.

the finest and soundest evidence of the healthy condition of the New York lot market. All the splendid education the newspapers have been giving the public on the advantages of "owning your own home," plus the irresistible force of my big advertising campaigns encouraging and selling the people the idea of putting their money in the soundest of all investments—land, all this constructive work bore rich fruit in 1922, and I believe the real bumper harvest will mature in 1923. For, as splendid as has been the aid extended by Emergency Tax Exemption law, New York's housing shortage is far from being relieved. In support of this contention, permit me to insert a portion of an able article by Charles W. Wood, quoting John J. Murphy, Secretary of the Tenement House Committee of Greater New York. This article was recently featured in a New York newspaper. Mr. Murphy's views on the housing situation follow:

"The most agonizing problem before the average New Yorker is the problem of where to find a suitable home—a place where the rent is reasonably within his income and which is still a fit place for a family to live in. Almost everybody is feeling deeply on this subject. Very few are thinking deeply upon it. That's the trouble. For in another year New York may again face a crisis which will require something more than intelligent planning on the part of those who have usually concerned themselves with this problem. It will require extraordinary statesmanship. It will require a lot of public education. It will require a degree of co-operation on the part of many conflicting elements in the community—such a degree of co-operation, in fact, as can hardly be looked for except in the event of a sudden social catastrophe."

I also quite agree with Mr. Murphy's vision on the best possible way out of a housing shortage situation that may well become desperate, i. e., community building co-operation. The unfortunate complications in the building trades situation will hardly make for a lowering of construction prices, which had been confidently hoped for. The only answer, then, is community building, the worth of which has had a fine exemplification in the Throgg's Neck district of the Bronx, where I have held seven big auction sales.

The builder of apartments in the city outskirts will have an easier time, I believe, securing loans for operations in 1923. Already there is a distinct easing in the mortgage money market, a sign of a returning faith in the land by moneyed interests.

There is a generous proportion of the 200,000 yearly increase in New York City's population that is able and eager to buy or rent homes—newly constructed dwellings or apartments. The building of his own home naturally created a fine satisfaction for the owner, and heightened the splendid co-operative community spirit which is the backbone of civic advancement and America's hope for the future.

The newness has irresistible appeal, together with the modern conveniences which accompany it. This demand will always maintain a market for the larger building investor and lot speculator, and I am quite confident that 1923 will see a sustained want on the part of the buyer of this type.

As a matter of fact, I look for a building boom in the Spring that will make similar events of other years look like flurries.

So, I should say that the outstanding feature of the 1922 season was the domination of the market by the small lot buyer, the homesite seeker. The small buyer overshadowed the big investor and speculator not so much because this type of buyer decreased, but because of the tremendous increase of the homesite seeker. There is every indication that this increased buying of the small lot buyer will be carried over into 1923 with even greater vigor, and this movement mirrors a substantial, sound economic expansion of the Greater City.

REAL ESTATE SECTION

During the Year Now Ending the Realty Market Also Has Been More Diversified and Its Activities More Widespread

THE year 1922 has witnessed a larger volume of real estate transactions than 1921, although during 1921 some larger individual sales were made, sales that ran well into the millions. The market in 1922, however, has been more diversified and its activities more widespread.

Every kind of property, from an old building in the Battery neighborhood to a large tract of land in extreme northerly Manhattan, has changed hands. Old cold-water tenement houses in the East and West sides of town share honors with the so-called new-law houses so far as the demand for real estate is concerned.

Operator and investor alike indulged in varied pickings. The smaller investors were more numerous than the year before. Fine private dwellings sold well this year. The demand for them was good, wherever situated. Many of these buildings have felt the influence of trade invasion in residential blocks and they were accordingly sold either to operators or investors who contemplate remodeling them into medium-sized business buildings. Others among them will retain their residential character. There was less remodeling of dwellings into small apartment houses with stores in the ground floor than during the preceding year. Why this is so is not clearly discernible, unless it be the fact that new apartments in the Bronx and in Brooklyn have attracted many tenants who heretofore looked for small suites in the premier borough. The rule this year was to make over residences that were passé into mercantile and office buildings. Especially is this evident in some of the residential blocks of the West Side and the Upper West Side, and even more noticeably still in the Fifth-Avenue section south of Fifty-ninth Street and in Lexington and Madison Avenues as well as in many of the numbered streets contiguous to those avenues. As a result their earning power has increased, with a consequent enhancement of their fee values.

The outstanding features of the market this year were great activity in the sale of all kinds of property on Lexington Avenue, where investors and operators alike have participated; the almost daily purchase of parcels on Third Avenue by operators primarily and by tenants of stores who wished to escape increasing rentals and be assured of continuity in their business locations by purchase of the property; the demand for apartment house and business building sites on Madison Avenue; the sale of numerous sites on Park Avenue for the best types of apartment houses; the sale of many large elevator apartment-houses and vacant plots on Washington Heights and the sale of many large vacant plots and walk-up apartment houses in the Bronx. The outlook now is that Lexington Avenue and Madison Avenue will, to a marked degree, become henceforth rivals of Park Avenue as apartment-house centers. They will, however, have this differentiation: they will have more apartment houses with stores in them than have the apartment houses on Park Avenue. Madison Avenue is becoming a center of small smart shops.

The year 1923 will see the beginning of extensive structural changes. Park Avenue itself will be the scene of more fine apartment-house building, numerous old buildings there having been bought within recent months to be replaced with the most modern kind of buildings. Especially is this true in the region of the Seventies and Eighties and in the fine old resi-

Third Avenue real estate, which is now so active, was for two generations held closely by old and conservatively-managed estates which would not take the initiative in arousing investment interest in their holdings. The operator has availed himself of the possibilities there, consequent on the close contact of new rapid transit routes, to arouse new investment interest. The operator usually bears the same relation to an old and densely-populated district or thoroughfare as the speculative builder does to the sparsely-settled and vacant-land sections. Second Avenue has felt the influence of activity in Third Avenue to an appreciable degree, but it lacks the element to move it quite as rapidly that Third Avenue possesses. Besides, Third Avenue is inherently a thoroughfare. It is destined to witness considerable structural improvement and betterment. Some of this may take place in 1923, now that new investment blood is coursing through it. The operators have gone through Third Avenue pretty well this year and have taken substantial profits. They may continue there for a while. Then will come the investor who will make of the avenue a new structural entity. Third Avenue is pulling strong and seems bound to win new glory.

The extensive sale of multi-family houses on Washington Heights this year reflects the northward trend of population. Rapid transit and the construction of the most modern kind of buildings have had much to do with it, as they also have had to do with the sale of multi-family houses in the Bronx. If the amount of vacant land bought on Washington Heights and in the Bronx during recent months is any criterion, then 1923 will be an era of more apartment house construction in those areas. Certain parts of the Bronx will be improved with two-family houses.

There was considerable buying of properties in Manhattan by tenants this year. While there also was a certain amount of purchasing of dwellings by their occupants, most of the sales to tenants were business properties. Never before probably, was there such extensive buying by tenants of large properties. Immense loft buildings, medium-sized business buildings and even vacant plots occupied as stone yards and rendering establishments were bought by those formerly leasing them. This all indicates a strong investment tone and is looked upon as a tonic to real estate values. This situation gives promise of lasting through the coming year as well.

Marking a distinctive movement of city property was the steady selling on the West Side during 1922. It reached from the Battery to Fifty-ninth Street. The Seventh-Avenue rapid-transit routes has had something to do with it. More controlling though is the beginning of the construction of the vehicular tunnel from Canal Street under the North River to Jersey City. The completion of this tunnel may cause a readjustment of commercial neighborhoods throughout the West Side. Especially is this true of the region north of Canal Street. Greenwich Street, Hudson Street, West Broadway, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Eleventh Avenues and the extreme western parts of the Thirties and Forties are even now feeling the impulse. The purchases of large building sites by the New York Times, by the soap manufacturing firm known as the John T. Stanley Company, the Pictorial Review, the National Biscuit Company and many other large concerns in the extreme West Side shows which way the real estate wind is blowing. It was not so long ago that a sale of any kind of property in this region was a rarity. The present movement means a structural remaking of this section of the city. The effect of the vehicular tunnel was first felt in the immediate neighborhood of it. A single parcel here and there was bought. As the advantage of the tunnel to receivers of shipping and to shippers became more apparent the real estate movement became stronger and assumed a wider scope.

The movement of the garment working industries to the middle West Side has had a far-reaching effect on property values there as well. The most notable seller of groups of property on the West Side this year was the William Waldorf Astor estate, which sold entire blocks of old tenement houses, many of which will make way for modern buildings of various kinds. Conservative estates often block extensive improvements without that being their purpose. The steady sale of Astor holdings throughout the city was a real estate event of the year.

The operation of the Seventh-Avenue rapid-transit line through the lower West Side also evidently has had much to do with James S. Coward, an old and prominent shoe merchant, remaining in Greenwich Street, between Warren and Murray Streets, in face of the northward movement of retail trade. Mr. Coward has bought the block front on Greenwich Street where his business is situated and he has even bought recently on Washington Street, the abutting thoroughfare. That this shoe merchant is not thinking of leaving his old stand, but is also adding to his holdings, is a commentary on the business strength of the section. The Syrian quarter, bounded by Rector and West Streets, the Battery and Trinity Place, showed little of the activity this year that characterized it in 1920 and 1921. It is believed, however, that there will yet be an even more extensive realty movement there.

The beneficial effect of the operation of the West-Side rapid-transit road also was apparent this year throughout Greenwich Village. Especially is it noticeable in the neighborhood adjacent to and immediately west of Jefferson Market Court and west of Seventh Avenue south of Fourteenth Street. Many old brick dwellings there which marked the growth of the city north of Canal Street, and which were passé, have found new owners, who have restored them to their original condition and are occupying them. Another circumstance that has helped the region is the sale by Trinity Church Corporation of many ancient parcels there.

Reflecting the general spread of business through Manhattan was the purchase by numerous banks and trust companies of properties in various parts of town for the purpose of establishing branches. The coming of a bank into a section is a tonic to real estate conditions. Behind such coming there is always a substantial cause.

The movement of many large firms and corporations from the lower reaches of the city to the Madison Avenue, Forty-second Street, Grand Central, Pennsylvania and Times Square zones was strong during the year. Practically all of the large Pershing Square Building, which occupies the site of the old Grand Union Hotel at Park Avenue and Forty-second Street, was leased on the plans to some of the largest concerns in the city. Extensive office and floor space in the large buildings on and contiguous to Madison Avenue and north of Forty-second Street was taken by business and professional firms previously downtown. The Columbus Circle region and the section of Broadway between it and Times Square benefitted greatly by the uptown movement during the year. As a result of the construction of the new building of Saks & Company on the east side of Fifth Avenue, from Forty-ninth to Fiftieth Streets, the neighborhood of St. Patrick's Cathedral is feeling a stronger commercial impulse. Less than two decades ago it was freely predicted that trade would not approach the Cathedral because churches, armories and parks were regarded as barriers. It looks now as if the great edifice will soon be as completely surrounded by trade, as is Old Trinity Church downtown.

For a private investor, William R. Hearst was an extensive buyer of real estate this year. He bought loft buildings in Frankfort Street and Ferry Street, as well as adding to large plots he has assembled uptown. He also largely increased leased space. Col. Jacob Ruppert concentrated on one big investment by purchasing from Max N. Natanson the 16-story loft building at the northwest corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-ninth Street for about $1,500,000. He paid for it largely in medium-sized holdings scattered throughout the East and West Sides. And the value of these was well demonstrated by Mr. Natanson soon reselling most of them at a profit. Incidentally, the increasing value of Col. Ruppert's new holding was illustrated by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company increasing the mortgage on it from $600,000 to $725,000. The Ruppert purchase marked the second outstanding sale by Mr. Natanson during the year, he having previously sold the 14-story office and bank building at the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street, to another investor, for about $3,250,000. Another notable sale of the year was that of the 11-story mercantile building at the southwest corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-third Street, together with the Adams-O'Neil buildings on the west side of Sixth Avenue, from Twentieth to Twenty-first Streets. These aggregated $4,250,000 in value. The Robert E. Dowling interests bought Astor Court apartment house, on the block bounded by Broadway, Amsterdam Avenue, Eighty-ninth and Ninetieth Streets, for about $3,000,000. Fred T. Ley Company indulged in a large operation when it acquired from the Guaranty Trust Company and the Wendel estate the group of old office buildings at the northeast corner of Broadway and Liberty Street. It is understood that the buyer will reimprove the site with a large modern office building. The fee to the immediate corner—150 Broadway—is owned by the Wendel estate, the Ley Company having only a leasehold thereof.

An option of purchase has been given on the William K. Vanderbilt mansion at the northwest corner of Fifty-second Street and Fifth Avenue, with a possibility of the adjoining mansion of William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., also being sold. The southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Fifty-ninth Street, whereon the Hotel Savoy stands, was recently sold for a figure well into the millions. For about $3,500,000 the Alamac Hotel Company recently bought, on the plans, the new 19-story hotel at the southeast corner of Broadway and Seventy-first Street. It will be ready for use next summer. Another hotel that figured large in the dealing was the Esplanade, a 14-story structure, at the northwest corner of West End Avenue and Seventy-fourth Street. It brought more than $2,000,000, and in November it was resold for about $2,500,000. A climax of the big transactions of the year was the recent sale of the so-called Spanish flats, covering a block front on the east side of Seventh Avenue and running along Fifty-eighth and Fifty-ninth Streets. The price was about $6,000,000. A lease of the properties was made on June 21 last for 21 years, at an aggregate rental of $5,000,000, with option of purchase. The option being exercised, a modern hotel will be built on the site which, together with the land, will cost about $20,000,000.

Considerable scattered buying of old single buildings in the section of the city east of William Street and south of Ann Street took place during 1922. These purchases were made mostly for investment by business firms who will or do occupy them. The same situation was extant in the region west of Broadway and south of Canal Street. Some of the extreme East Side avenues, such as Avenues A and B, witnessed a fair amount of dealing during the year.

Fifth Avenue and the region adjacent contributed some big items to the year's business. The estate of Michael Dreicer sold 6-8 West Fifty-seventh Street, adjoining the Heckscher Building, for $1,500,000. The Hotel Grosvenor, at Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street, changed hands. A parcel that was long a bone of contention and which was finally sold for $1,010,000, was the home of the National Democratic Club, at 517 Fifth Avenue, which had barred the construction of the new Saks' building on the rest of the block front. Other notable sales in this section were two 6-story buildings, at the southwest corner

Relief Near for Traffic Congestion at Grand Central

Mayor Hylan Approves Borough President Miller's Plans on Depew Place Improvement at Public Hearing Where No Objections Are Raised

PLANS for relieving traffic congestion in the mid-town section were advanced by the reception given to Borough President Miller's proposal to build an additional driveway on the east side of Grand Central Station, at a public hearing before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment on Wednesday of last week, when Mayor Hylan voiced consent to the making of what is known as the Depew Place improvement. Representatives of the Fifth Avenue Association, the City Club, the Board of Trade and Transportation, the Chamber of Commerce

Depew Place, is to construct a new roadway, beginning at about Forty-third Street, and rising on an up grade to the next level above Depew Place, and above Forty-fifth Street, after which it will turn to the west on the north side of Forty-fifth Street and down Park Avenue to connect with the existing grade at Forty-sixth Street. Similar treatment is contemplated for eliminating the grade crossing at Forty-fifth Street and Vanderbilt Avenue by also building a roadway on the present upper level of Vanderbilt Avenue, so as to cross Forty-fifth Street overhead, after which the roadway will turn to the east and then to the north in Park Avenue to the existing grade at Forty-sixth Street. Easements on railroad property on the north side of Forty-fifth Street, between Vanderbilt Avenue and Depew Place, must be acquired of the State of New York and numerous other organizations appeared and approved the plans. There were no objections.

The Depew Place improvement is the first and most important of a number of suggestions made by Borough President Miller for maintaining the city's streets at their highest capacity and for opening up new traffic arteries. Now that the Mayor and other city officials have approved the general scheme for the Grand Central improvement, it is expected that the details will be worked out and the necessary work started without further delay. The other plans put forward by President Miller, he says, are tentative, requiring consideration on the part of the public and responsible city officials, and can only be accomplished by the expenditure of large sums of money which must be provided before the improvements can be made.

The Depew Place plans come before the Board of Estimate and Apportionment in the form of a memorandum from Borough President Miller, which recited the history of the negotiations with the New York Central Railroad leading up to the agreement now reached. The memorandum outlines the plan as follows:

"The plan which has been worked out to provide this additional roadway, without interfering with the present use of

for this purpose. By this plan the crosstown traffic will be separated entirely from the north and south bound traffic, both at Depew Place and at Vanderbilt Avenue and Forty-fifth Street."

In connection with these changes it is also proposed to open Vanderbilt Avenue, between Forty-fifth Street and Forty-sixth Street, to public traffic, so that southbound traffic on Park Avenue which is bound for points west of the Grand Central Station can leave Park Avenue at Forty-sixth Street and continue south on Vanderbilt Avenue. Borough President Miller continues:

"On the plan to close Park Avenue as suggested by the railroad company, the latter now offers to sell all the necessary easements to the city, including Vanderbilt Avenue from Forty-fifth Street to Forty-sixth Street, for $1,207,928 and to buy from the city the remaining air rights in Park Avenue and additional store space on Vanderbilt Avenue south of Forty-fifth Street for $1,288,928, leaving a credit to the city of $81,000. The cost of construction is estimated at $2,240,626. The whole improvement will therefore cost the city $2,159,626.

"The value of the land and easements is based on the valuation placed upon it for purposes of taxation by the city, which has been assumed to be 80 per cent. of the fee value.

"The advantages accruing to the City as the result of the negotiations are the preservation of perpetual air rights over all the roadways north of Forty-sixth Street, a clear headroom of 80 feet over both roadways through Park Avenue, which is about the height of the arch through the Municipal Building on Chambers Street, the purchase of the easement for Vanderbilt Avenue from Forty-fifth Street to Forty-sixth Street for $1 and the construction of this portion of Vanderbilt Avenue at the expense of the company. This easement was originally estimated as worth $414,000 and the cost of construction of $392,000 or a total of $806,000, all of which is now assumed by the company."

It is understood that if the plan outlined by President Miller is accepted by the City the New York Central Railroad Company will arrange to build a 16-story office building between Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth Streets bridging Park Avenue, having an area of approximately 400 x 200 feet, plans for which have not been made.

In urging the adoption of the plan, the City Club, in a communication from Nelson S. Spencer, the President, offered the following suggestions:

"There is a detail of the plan which, we understand, is not final and whose revision we strongly recommend. The roadways through the proposed building should be made at least twenty-seven feet wide, instead of twenty-five feet, so as to allow comfortably for three lines of traffic. If possible also the twenty-foot width along a portion of Depew place should be increased to a like width. The most immediate and essential point, however, is greater width through the building, because the building will be final. It may well be that a width of twenty-five feet would accommodate all the traffic that can now pass over the viaduct south of Forty-second Street. The point is that some time in the future traffic conditions may be such as to warrant the complete reconstruction of the viaduct from Forty-second Street to Fortieth Street so as to secure increased capacity."

A survey made by the Fifth Avenue Association of traffic conditions on some of the most prominent thoroughfares in Manhattan revealed the fact that the greatest density of traffic was found on the viaduct. Figuring the density of traffic by presuming that the theoretical unit of one represents the use of the thoroughfare to its full theoretical capacity, the percentage of density on the viaduct was .95 while that of Fifth Avenue during the same period was .91, on Broadway .36, on Sixth Avenue .50 and on Seventh Avenue .33.

Vanderbilt and others of 647 Fifth Avenue, a 5-story dwelling, 37.6x100, to an operator; the purchase of the 13-story hotel at 12-14 East Sixtieth Street, for $1,500,000; the re-sale of the Arena building at 38-40 West Thirty-second Street, for $1,500,000; the sale of the 12-story loft building, 61-67 West Thirty-eighth Street, running through to West Thirty-ninth Street, for $1,250,000; the fine dwelling at the north corner of Fifth Avenue and Sixty-first Street, bought by Mrs. Marcellus H. Dodge, daughter of William Rockefeller; the Amos R. Eno mansion, at the southwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Tenth Street, for $500,000; the 12-story loft building at 53-57 West Thirty-sixth Street, for $700,000; the leasing from the estate of Louisa M. Gerry, to Walter J. Salmon, of the Bristol and adjoining buildings at the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street at ten times the annual rental he paid under a previous long-term lease; and the sale of some large vacant plots on upper Fifth Avenue, opposite Central Park.

Among the large transactions in other parts of Manhattan were the sale of the Morris building at 68 Broad Street, for about $1,000,000; the Merchants building, at the southwest corner of Broadway and Fourth Street, for $1,000,000; the purchase by George F. Baker, for $700,000, of the 26-acre tract fronting on Harlem Ship Canal, which he gave to Columbia University as a site for its new stadium; the site of the Church of the Blessed Sacrament, at the southeast corner of Broadway and Seventy-first Street; the Clark mansion, at the north corner of Riverside Drive and Eighty-ninth Street, for $1,250,000; the Lexington Avenue Opera House, bought by Frederick Brown; the Forest Chambers apartment house, on upper Broadway, for $2,000,000; the Studebaker building, at the northwest corner of Broadway and Seventieth Street, for about $1,250,000; the Mills & Gibb building, at the northwest corner of Fourth Avenue and Twenty-second Street, for about $1,000,000; many large apartment houses on West End Avenue, for sums ranging from $750,000 to more than $1,000,000; the sale of 34-38 Wall Street, adjoining the Assay Office; and numerous apartment houses on Broadway at prices ranging from a little less than $1,000,000 to considerably more than $1,000,000 each.

Numerous old church edifices in various parts of the city were sold to operators, their sites to be re-improved with either commercial or apartment buildings, according to their location. The estate of Mrs. Louisa M. Gerry, embracing her realty holdings, was incorporated for $17,800,000. The buying in the Sutton Square Colony, on the East Side, was not extensive. The Masonic Order of the Mystic Shrine bought a large plot, for improvement with a Temple, in the Times Square section, and the Scottish Rite Masons bought the Manhattan Opera House, in West Thirty-fourth Street, to be remodeled and occupied as a Temple. The National Bible Institute bought the ten old dwellings at 330-348 West Fifty-fifth Street as the site for its new 17-story headquarters building. The lessees of the old Grand Hotel, at Broadway and Thirty-first Street, bought the property for more than $1,000,000. Max N. Natanson re-sold two 12-story apartment houses at 509-515 West 110th Street, for $1,350,000. The Young Men's Christian Association added considerably to its holdings in various parts of the city.

Marked activity in mercantile and office properties adjacent to the Brooklyn Borough Hall has prevailed during 1922. On Remsen, Montague, Court and Fulton Streets transactions have been closed which show that the busiest part of Brooklyn is enhancing in fee values. A large plot at Court and Schermerhorn Streets was leased for a long term of years, for re-improvement with a modern office building which will supplant some old four-story buildings. The year also witnessed important deals in the shipping centers along Newtown Creek and the Wallabout Canal, indicating that sites along those busy waterways are in strong demand.

Brooklyn aided in the relief of the housing problem this year by the construction of $200,000,000 worth of new living quarters. The sale of the Hotel St. George, on Brooklyn heights, was the year's largest sale in Brooklyn. Another large sale was one at Fulton Street and Hanover Place, in the heart of the shopping center.

Queens loomed large in the real estate world this year, because of its many sales of industrial and manufacturing sites, as well as manufacturing buildings, mostly in the Long Island City section. The section along the Long Island Railroad has become one of the greatest industrial regions in the country, with modern concrete buildings, and fee values are steadily advancing because of the constant demand for sites. In the Jackson Heights section of Queens is taking place the most extensive co-operative apartment-house movement in the country. Jamaica is the center of one of the greatest general real estate markets in the city's history. The growth of values there and the structural improvements under way constitute a repetition of what took place in Harlem and on the Upper West Side a generation or more ago.

Richmond Borough experienced a good demand for private dwellings during the year. More apartment houses were built there than ever before in the borough's history. Essentially a private-house borough, the demand for homes in Richmond exceeds the supply.

Review of Real Estate Market for the Current Week

End of Year Dull by the Holiday Season and Lack of Large Transactions, a Fifth Avenue Corner Redeeming the Situation

THE real estate market, following the Christmas holiday and the dull week end that preceded it, was of comparatively little account. Most of the dealing was in ordinary-sized apartment houses scattered through Washington Heights, Harlem and the Bronx. There was one sale of business property that added to the total considerably, while the strong feature of the week was the sale of the southeast corner of Fifth Avenue and Eleventh Street, an old mansion that stands on a 54-foot front plot of good depth. It will likely be reimproved with a fine apartment house. That Lexington Avenue real estate is still interesting the operator was revealed in the resale, for $250,000, of the northeast corner of Lexington Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street. After owning the southwest corner of Broadway and One Hundred and Fifth Street for twenty years, the Sheaffer estate sold it for about $300,000, the property being a 6-story apartment house. The Broad View apartment house, in West One Hundred and Sixteenth Street, and valued at more than $500,000, passed into the hands of a well-known operator.

Giving slight variety to the dealing was the sale of a Riverside Drive dwelling and a vacant irregularly-shaped corner plot. An estate sold to an operator an elevator apartment house on a Central Park West corner, it being the first sale of the corner in thirteen years. The Raymond apartment house, on an Eighth Avenue corner in Harlem, brought about $200,000. The activity that has for some time characterized the lower section of this avenue appears to be stirring the Harlem section of it. A parcel in West Twenty-third Street changed hands. Arrowhead Court, a modern elevator apartment house on Washington Heights, was bought by an operator. Mrs. Andrew Carnegie sold a vacant lot in East Ninetieth Street near her residence. A firm of operators resold part of the tract on Washington Heights that it recently bought from the J. Hood Wright estate.

That the boom in the Jamaica section of Queens borough has not subsided was evidenced by the sale of the VanSiclen farm, of 155 acres, at about $3,000 an acre. The Far Rockaway section of Queens witnessed the sale of some choice large parcels situated not far from the ocean. Brooklyn contributed a variety of sales that reflect strong investment interest.

PRIVATE REALTY SALES.

THE total number of sales reported, but not recorded in Manhattan this week, was 37, as against 137 last week and 69 a year ago.

The number of sales north of 59th st was 70, as compared with 96 last week and 40 a year ago.

From the Bronx 36 sales at private contract were reported, as against 49 last week and 32 a year ago.

The properties include one building, 25x75; one building, 25x150, from street to street, and one building, 50x75. The transaction represented about $400,000. The brokers have arranged 5 per cent. mortgages for Mr. Aronson on the various parcels.

Manhattan-Westchester Trade

Frederick Brown, operator, exchanged the 12-story apartment house at the southwest corner of West End av and 78th st for 24 modern suburban dwellings, 14 of which are in Corcoran Manor, Mount Vernon, and 10 in Pelham. The houses were owned by Herkimer, Inc., which in taking over the West End av property will convert it into a co-operative tenant owned house. The entire transaction involved about $1,600,000. George Howe and George Levy, brokers, negotiated the transaction.

The Corcoran Manor houses are situated on Ellwood, Oakland and Lexington avs and Hawthorne Terrace. The Pelham houses are on the famous Iden estate and are located on Wolf's lane and the Esplanade.

Mr. Brown will offer the suburban properties for resale to buyers for occupancy or for speculation. Some of the houses are occupied at present by monthly tenants.

The West End av building occupies a plot 100 feet on the avenue and 75 feet on the street and is rented for about $100,000 a year. George Howe will co-operate with the new owners in selling the suites to the tenant owners. Bert S. Herkimer represented Herkimer, Inc., in the deal.

The other two will be walkups. Morris I. Strunsky was the broker. The lots were held at $275,000.

There are 6 stories in the property, and the apartments are laid out in suites of 3, 5 and 6 rooms.

CORK TILE TALKS

No. 7—Low Cost

The most expensive thing in the world is the cheap, flashy substitute which scuffs and crumbles to pieces by the time the genuine article is just getting into its stride. No one, in all our long experience, has ever had occasion to complain of the first or the final cost of a BE-VER Tile Floor—for it wears almost indefinitely.

Executor or Co-Executor

IF your property consists, in part, of real estate, this Trust Company can be of exceptional service to your heirs, as executor under your WILL.

For over thirty years this Trust Company has been appraising real estate values. It has loaned hundreds of millions of dollars on real estate and has sold hundreds of millions of dollars of mortgages. It is a recognized authority on real estate matters. But if you have reasons for wanting an individual as executor, consider carefully how helpful this Trust Company's knowledge and experience could be to that individual, as co-executor with him. Remember, too, that the executor's fees are the same for a Trust Company as for an individual, being governed by law.

BUILDING SECTION

Construction Industry Established New Records in 1922

Retrospect of Year Now Ending Shows Notable Progress in All Phases of Building Activity and Solution of Many Difficult Problems

NEW high records for national construction were established during 1922. The year now closing passes into history as the most active period known in the building industry, with a record of achievement likely to stand for some time to come. There is every indication that the final totals for this year will show a volume of new construction in excess of $3,500,000,000 started in the United States, a figure truly amazing when it is realized that the previous year, with its grand total of commitments for national building and construction amounting to $3,142,000,000, was looked upon as a record total which would stand indefinitely.

Twelve months ago architects, builders and others affiliated with construction were inclined to believe, because of the intense activity which prevailed in the industry throughout the year then closing, that 1922 would probably develop into a period of routine progress more nearly approaching the normal. There had been several phases of the building situation during 1921 that seemed unlikely of repetition, yet a retrospective view of the year now ending shows trends in the national and local fields which in many respects are remarkably similar to those of the previous year. The year 1921 was a historic period for residential development. Construction of this type was the predominating factor in every part of the country. During that year the critical national housing shortage was greatly relieved and it was generally thought that residential activity would materially decline or at least drop back to a rate only slightly above normal. This was not the case, however, as the history of the past months show. The year now ending, which upon analysis shows a wider variety as to type of projects conceived and finished, still stands out as a period in which the construction of housing accommodations for all classes of the population was the transcending objective of the industry.

The high record established by the building industry during 1922 is due entirely to the phenomenal amount of residential construction that has been undertaken not only in the metropolitan district but practically throughout the country. In Greater New York and vicinity the construction of high-class, multi-family houses has been an outstanding feature of the building situation during the past twelve months, and, according to the way new projects of this type are now being planned, there is every likelihood that the first quarter of the coming year will establish further new records.

Although there has been a fair amount of small-house construction during 1922, its volume was slightly less than that of a year ago. At the close of 1921 speculative builders found themselves confronted with a serious problem in disposing of the large number of small houses they had erected during the active season. The supply was apparently greater than the demand, and, as a consequence, these builders have been not so enthusiastic this year as they were during the housing crisis of 1921. One phase of the residential building situation in 1922, however, is worthy of special comment. It has been a number of years since there was as much activity on the part of private owners in the erection of high-class residences for their own occupancy. Although there was a decided slackening in demand for speculative-built homes, there was a decided improvement in the situation as it applied to the construction of residences for owners' occupancy. All through the year the outlying boroughs of New York City and the suburbs of Long Island, Westchester and New Jersey have been exceptionally busy and hundreds of houses, costing from $25,000 upward, have been constructed or are now in progress. The change noted is an extremely good indication of the favorable trend of general business throughout the country, as it is a matter of history that private dwellings of this type are only constructed in any real volume during a period in which general business conditions are showing a steady and consistent improvement.

The year 1922 closes with the housing problems of the Metropolitan District practically solved, excepting as to low-priced quarters. The vast amount of residential construction started and completed during the past twelve months, plus that work which is already assured for the coming year, leaves no room for complaint about a scarcity of adequate living accommodations of the most modern type and character. With the single exception of a large number of living accommodations at low, or at least very moderate, rentals, the city has now caught up to its housing demands. There has been a very distinct shift in population during the past year, with many families moving from old-fashioned apartments to the newer structures throughout the city, or to the garden apartments which have become so popular in certain suburbs, and there is now a sufficient number of these accommodations available for every reasonable demand.

This improvement in the housing situation has not been without its effect on rentals. It may now be said that rental values throughout the Metropolitan District are fairly well stabilized and there is every probability of their remaining so, at least for two or three years to come. Recent investigation of the rental situation shows a firmness in practically every type of residential building and it is only in certain cases, in districts where the supply was greater than the demand, that there is any evidence of a softening in rental values.

The revival of activity in commercial and industrial building also has been one of the notable characteristics of the past year in the construction field. Early in the year there was a very marked trend along commercial building lines, with the majority of this work centered in the mid-town section of Manhattan. The district bounded by Thirty-fourth Street, Madison Avenue, Forty-second Street and Eighth Avenue will undoubtedly go on record for the large amount of office, loft and miscellaneous construction undertaken during the past year. The construction of high-class loft and show-room buildings has been particularly active and numerous buildings have been erected which are destined to become landmarks for the mid-town section.

Another very important phase of the year's construction activity has been the exceedingly large amount of high-class bank construction undertaken in the Metropolitan District. Literally millions of dollars have been expended by savings banks, national banks and trust companies for new buildings or extensive alterations in New York City, and there is hardly a community of any size among the suburban towns contiguous to New York that has not had one or more fine bank building projects costing from $25,000 to $500,000.

Builders of all kinds have been exceptionally fortunate during 1922 in having at their command an almost inexhaustible supply of money for new construction. Mortgage money has not been so plentiful for many years as it was during the past twelve months or is at present and the terms and rates are extremely favorable to the borrower. Interest rates on borrowed money for building or permanent loans have been generally reduced from 6% to 5½% and even lower in specific instances according to type of loans, and fiduciary institutions making a specialty of financing building projects have frequently during the past year had more money available than they were able to put out.

Early in the year it was thought possible that the continued high level of construction costs would be responsible for materially slowing down building activity in the Metropolitan District, but the record of the year shows that despite the continued high construction costs and the steadily upward trend of commodity price levels construction has actually increased rather than decreased. Building material prices have moved steadily upward since February, 1922, and there is every indication that the prevailing trend will continue at least throughout the first half of 1923.

In addition to steadily mounting material prices the construction industry this year has been forced to contend with continued high wages for both skilled and unskilled building labor, and during the height of the residential building movement last summer the cost of this work was greatly augmented by the bonus wages demanded and obtained in a large number of skilled trades. There was a decided scarcity in the ranks of bricklayers, plasterers, tile and marble setters and other trades and because of this situation considerable competition resulted among the speculative builders for mechanics to complete their jobs. This competition led to the payment of bonuses ranging from $4 to $9 per day above the union scale, and it was but natural that these exorbitant wages should have greatly increased building costs.

One of the most important events of the past building year was the success of the New York Building Congress in launching its program for the development of apprentices so urgently needed in the building industry. After six months of untiring labor the committee charged with the development of the apprenticeship training plan submitted a very favorable report. The building industry as a unit, including labor leaders, employers and affiliated interests, all went on record as thoroughly endorsing the idea, and the year closes with a large number of apprentices already enrolled and in training to become skilled carpenters, with plans completed for an immediate start in training young men as mechanics in other trades. Organizations, firms and individuals have rallied to the support of this important movement and have supplied not only the moral backing but money in sums sufficient to guarantee its ultimate success.

As a consequence of the enormous volume of new construction undertaken this year the markets for building materials and supplies have experienced a steadily increasing demand for construction essentials. In a number of instances this demand has strained the plant facilities of manufacturers almost to the breaking point and has caused some anxiety on the part of the industry as a whole as to the continuation of a steady flow from producers to points of consumption. Added to the intensity of the demand, those charged with the supply have had to contend with serious problems resulting from the coal strike and the freight-car shortage. Fortunately for the industry both manufacturers and dealers, by almost superhuman effort, have maintained a flow of materials to the jobs in quantities adequate to keep all projects active. There have been some instances where work was suspended for a limited time because of the failure of material supplies but, by careful allocation of materials coming into the Metropolitan District, almost all active construction was kept moving throughout the past season. As the year closes there is a decided shortage of fabricated steel and a developing scarcity in other lines, but the situation is not regarded as hopeless by either manufacturers, dealers or builders, and all interested in material supply are looking forward to improved conditions during the early months of next year.

Early in 1922, as soon as it became apparent that the intensity of local building activity was increasing rather than decreasing, the construction industry expressed its fears that insufficient supplies of materials would greatly hamper the anticipated progress. Metropolitan builders, and some architects as well, were chiefly concerned about the supply of common brick. For several years past, in fact since pre-war times, the common brick industry had been slowing down production in the face of a declining demand and constantly increasing manufacturing costs. Manufacturers of this commodity, particularly those along the Hudson River, the district supplying the Metropolitan territory, had been confronted with serious problems of production and there was grave doubt throughout the local industry as to the certainty of sufficient brick for all requirements. The manufacturers of this commodity, however, started production earlier this year than usual and worked steadily throughout the season, with the result that the industry has been adequately supplied with brick, although it does not fully realize the effort it cost manufacturers in combating coal scarcity, labor shortage and inefficiency and mounting production costs.

The difficulties of the brickmakers also were the problems of practically every other manufacturer of building commodities. Lumbermen, steelmakers, and producers of finished articles, such as hardware, lighting fixtures and the hundreds of other items which go into the completed buildings, were hampered throughout the past year, first, by the restricted fuel supplies which later amounted to a famine and necessitated a suspension of production in some lines, notably steel, and later by the railway freight transportation problems resulting from the car shortage and embargoes in favor of coal shipments.

The delays in production and shipment and the consequent curtailment of plant efficiency naturally resulted in a steadily-mounting trend in building commodity prices. The gradual decline in building material prices which marked the closing months of 1921 early this year changed about and levels commenced to advance. The upward movement, however, was not a sharp advance, but a gradual increase of a point or two at a time in the various commodity lines and as such was insufficient to slow down building activity in any degree. In fact, the volume of new construction already under contract by the time the advancing trend first became noticeable made it impossible to halt building progress. At that time nothing short of a complete demoralization of the national financial situation or an utter failure of material and labor supply could have prevented 1922 from establishing new construction records, not only in the Metropolitan District but for the entire nation.

The building industry has been particularly fortunate during the past year in the fact that there has been remarkably little labor difficulty to contend with. During the previous twelve months building trade wages were slightly reduced from their war-time levels, and nationally the construction labor situation was practically stabilized. Although no reduction in wage rates had been established in New York City, there was a general readjustment in other large communities and mechanics as a rule accepted fair reductions in order to improve their own prospects for continued employment.

The outlook for building-labor peace in New York City is generally considered as favorable. While practically all of the skilled trades are continuing to work without definite agreements between the unions and the employers, there is every present indication that the coming year will develop into a period of harmony between workers and employers and that a satisfactory solution of the outstanding difficulties will be found. The local industry this year has been remarkably free from strikes or threats of trouble. Only one serious situation occurred, that only a few weeks ago when an inter-union problem threatened for a time to stop bricklaying on a number of jobs and, consequently, hinder general progress. This difficulty was promptly adjusted and the building industry of the Metropolitan District will look forward to the coming months with assurance of peace in labor circles but with some anxiety as to the supply of both skilled and unskilled mechanics to man the vast amount of work already contemplated or under contract for the coming year.

Residential Building Gains Throughout the Metropolis

Steady Increase in Construction Activity During Closing Days of the Year Indicated by Weekly Statistical Report of F. W. Dodge Company

CONTRARY to a recent popular opinion the closing days of this year are witnessing no important decline in the rate of construction activity in the Metropolitan District. The chief reason for the rapid progress noted in the construction field is the great volume of high class residential work that is coming out, and according to the reports from architects who specialize in projects of this character there is likely to be no recession in this form of building for some time to come.

Building statistics as tabulated by the F. W. Dodge Company for the fifty-first week of this year, covering the territory including all of New York State and New Jersey, north of Trenton, show a slight decline in the volume of new construction actually placed under contract, but the figures for the week indicate a decided improvement in the outlook for contemplated construction, the major part of which involves residential structures of one type or another.

According to the statistical totals for the week of December 16 to 22 inclusive, contracts were awarded in this territory for 329 operations at an estimated valuation of $12,852,700. The newly projected building and engineering jobs numbered 571 and represent an outlay of about $38,323,300.

Construction activity in Greater New York continues unabated. The past week has been an exceedingly active period and although there is also a slight decline in the volume of new work placed under contract there is an increase in projected construction. The record for the week involves 282 proposed jobs at a total cost of $21,975,000 and 125 projects placed under contract at a cost of $8,511,600.

The list of 282 contemplated operations for New York City included 32 business buildings such as stores, offices, lofts, commercial garages, etc., $1,040,000; 1 educational building, $10,000; 1 hospital, $800,000; 5 factories, $335,000; 1 military structure, $95,000; 1 public building, $2,900; 9 public works and public utilities, $2,967,200; 228 residential operations, including apartments, flats and tenements and one- and two-family dwellings, $16,587,900, and 4 social and recreational buildings, $137,000.

Among the 125 operations for which contracts were awarded during the fifty-first week of this year were 23 commercial projects of various types, $1,123,500; 1 educational building, $25,000; 4 factories and industrial plants, $317,000; 3 public works and public utilities, $17,400; 93 residential operations, $6,948,700, and 1 recreational project, $75,000.

PERSONAL AND TRADE NOTES.

Jas. McBride Flooring Co., following the fire which damaged their mill at 160 Lincoln avenue, early in October, have remodeled their plant at that location and have transferred their office to their warehouse at 291 East 134th street.

Gano Dunn, who has been president of the J. G. White Engineering Corporation since 1913, was recently appointed by the council of the Institution of Electrical Engineers, the British association, as local honorary secretary of that institution for the United States.

J. Rose & Co., prominent distributors of the nationally known A. B. Gas Range and Frostair Refrigerator lines, have discontinued their downtown branch and have moved their service branch to the same address as their general headquarters, 114 West 39th street, in which convenient location builders, real estate managers and owners will find in the spacious new show-rooms a complete display of the company's ranges and refrigerators.

John Mead Howells, a prominent New York architect, was awarded the $50,000 prize for the best design for the new $7,000,000 building for the Chicago Tribune to be erected on North Michigan Boulevard. Raymond I. Hund, also of New York City, was associated with Mr. Howells in developing the design for this monumental structure. The winning design is a Gothic structure with twenty stories in the lower 260 feet, the height permitted by the Chicago Building Code, and an added 140 feet of buttressed tower, bringing the total height to 400 feet. The tower, flanked by tall arched buttresses, culminates in an open parapet about a circular platform.

American Institute of Steel Construction

After a year of active organizing work since its formation in 1921, the National Steel Fabricators' Association, at its meeting in Pittsburgh, November 23, changed its name to American Institute of Steel Construction in order to give better expression to the range of activities which the organization proposes to take up. Its present membership is 113 fabricating shops. J. L. Kimbrough was elected president.

M. B. Lane, of the Census Bureau, requested the institute to co-operate with the Census Bureau in collecting data and statistics relating to the structural steel fabricating industry.

The principal work to be undertaken by the institute during the next year is the formulation of standard working stresses for structural work and for tanks, and the preparation of design tables for all steel sections based on these stresses; agitation for the adoption of uniform building law provisions relating to steel; extension of the uses of steel, and the discussion of questions arising between steel users and fabricators, such as uniform calculation of contract weights of steel.

A total producing capacity of about 2,000,000 tons of steel per year is represented in the institute, with an average of nearly 16,000 tons per shop. Records gathered by the managing director indicate that despite a steady growth in the country's fabricating capacity there has been 50 per cent decrease in the use of structural steel in the nine years from 1912 to 1921. Much of this decrease is believed chargeable to restrictive conditions unrelated to efficient building, which the institute will aim to change.

Class in Electric Truck Maintenance.

So great has been the interest on the part of users of motor trucks in the proposed course of instruction in electric vehicle care and maintenance that the Electric Motor Truck Association has been obliged to schedule double courses and to limit the number of enrollments. The first lecture was given on December 8 at the Electric Garage, Central Park West and Sixty-second street, with E. L. Clark of the Commercial Truck Company explaining the principles of chassis design and construction. Three different types of electric vehicle construction were analyzed. There were forty students present and the lecture was repeated this week for the second section of the class.

When this course was first discussed it was hoped that forty enrollments could be secured. Within two weeks after the announcement, more than two hundred applications had been received, some firms asking to enroll twenty of their delivery force. By restricting the quotas, two classes of forty each were formed and each class will meet on alternate Friday evenings.

The course is given under the direction of F. C. Henderschott, manager of the Bureau of Education of the New York Edison Company, and Charles R. Skinner, Jr., chairman of the Electric Vehicle Bureau of the National Electric Light Association.

THE final days of the year are normally a quiet period in the building industry, and the last week of 1922 has been no exception as far as the local situation is concerned. Although there has been considerable activity during the past few days in the award of contracts for new operations, the interruption of the Christmas holidays and the preparations for inventories has slowed down progress to some extent, and as a general thing the industry is making its preparations for welcoming the new year with a splendid schedule of proposed construction and an optimistic attitude toward the future.

Although it is still too early to predict what the coming year will bring to the industry, the outlook is generally regarded as favorable to a duplication of the satisfactory progress recorded during the past twelve months. Certainly there will be no dearth of opportunity if the existing schedule is carried out. It has been many years since a new year has started with such a large program of contemplated work in addition to the volume of construction already under contract, and while there is likely to be a recession of activity in some lines, notably residential building, there is a marked indication of increasing interest in the erection of commercial and industrial projects and a wide variety of recreational and community structures, that will give a better balance to the industry than was the case during the year now ending.

The demand for building materials remains fairly active and local dealers are quite well satisfied with the situation. Supplies, while not large, are generally adequate for all requirements, and although there is great delay in getting structural steel and other similar products, the situation is not as serious as it was several weeks ago. Prices are very firm and the advancing trend continues.

Common Brick—Despite the holiday interruption the New York wholesale market for common brick maintained an excellent rate of activity during the past week. The demand is strong and averages well with that of the three or four weeks previous. Arrivals of cargoes from up-river plants were quite heavy, but that was largely because manufacturers desired to get their product shipped before the river becomes closed to navigation. According to both manufacturers and dealers the demand for brick is likely to be more than usually active throughout the coming winter, and already some inquiry has developed as to probable supplies for early next spring. Common brick prices advanced slightly again during the past week, and at the present writing the market is very firm at $20 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock and a strong likelihood of a further increase soon.

Summary—Transactions in the North River brick market for the week ending Thursday, December 28, 1922. Condition of market: Demand fairly active; prices, higher and with an advancing trend. Quotations: Hudson Rivers, $20 a thousand to dealers in cargo lots alongside dock. Number of cargoes arrived, 54; sales, 36. Distribution: Manhattan, 12; Bronx, 2; Brooklyn, 14; New Jersey points, 7; Astoria, 1. Remaining unsold in the New York wholesale market, 70.

Structural Steel—Although several tonnage orders of good size have been reported lately, there is an apparent tendency on the part of prospective buyers of fabricated steel to hold off until after the first of the new year. As a result of this condition the market exhibited a slight dullness during the past week, but there is every probability that within a week or so this condition will change for the better, as there is a vast amount of prospective work in sight and commitments under general contracts have maintained at the average rate. A number of plans for large operations which will require important steel tonnages are now in preparation, and it is thought that the major portion of this work will be released for bids shortly after January 1. Structural steel prices are firm and practically unchanged.

Electrical Supplies—Trade conditions are generally satisfactory with a steady and consistent demand for wiring materials and a number of substantial orders for electrical equipment from large industrial concerns. The vast amount of construction now in progress and the splendid prospects for a continuation of busy times in the building field is a satisfactory evidence of continued good demand for electrical materials, and as a result both manufacturers and dealers are optimistically inclined. Prices are fairly steady and stocks, while not plentiful, are adequate for all immediate requirements and steadily improving in volume.

Cast Iron Pipe—There has been an unusually active demand for this commodity, considering the lateness of the season, with private buyers the most important factors in the market at present. Some municipal business is stirring, but its volume is relatively small as compared with orders from private sources. Considerable new inquiry has come out within the past week or so, and as a result manufacturers are extremely optimistic about the prospects for the coming year. Deliveries are still somewhat behind because of the railroad freight congestion and the car shortage, but shipments are improving slightly and the mills are catching up with their orders. Prices are very firm and unchanged.

Reinforcing Bars—Demand for concrete reinforcing bars has dropped off to some extent during the past week, but several large projects are being planned and their early release will do much to tone up the market. The outlook for early spring business is generally considered favorable, as there is quite some important industrial construction scheduled for a start shortly after the beginning of the new year. Prices are firm, with a tendency toward higher levels.

Window Glass—There has been but little change in the local market for glass. Although demand has fallen off to some extent during the past week or so there is still considerable active business in sight and jobbers are complaining that their stocks are far from satisfactory. With the large volume of apartment house work in sight for the coming year there is likely to be some difficulty in the supply unless the factories can materially increase production next year. Prices are very firm but unchanged.

Linseed Oil—The local market tone has improved slightly. Demand is fair and an increasing number of inquiries indicates better business early next year. Current buying is in relatively small lots and carload orders are almost negligible. There is apparently a revival of interest on the part of manufacturing consumers, however, which should develop into tangible business within a short time. Prices are fairly steady.

Nails—A slight decline in demand characterized the market for nails during the past week, but despite this there is a continued shortage, which is limiting business to some extent. The car shortage is given as the outstanding factor in the difficulty of local jobbers to secure stocks adequate to the demand.

BLACKMAR'S ASBESTOS LIQUID ROOFING

Standard Leak-proof Roof Covering of the World. Not a roof paint. It is a new roof. One application will make old leaky roofs just like new at a cost of about 1 1/2 c. sq. ft. Prepared in containers ready for use. WE CHALLENGE any manufacturer to a comparison of materials by analysis, test of durability and process of manufacturing. There is not a better Asbestos Liquid or Plastic Cement Roofing at any price. Not affected by the coldest winter weather or the hottest blazing sun; resilient, elastic, expands and contracts with the surface on which it is applied. Will never crack. Air, rain or moisture cannot penetrate the material, absolutely impervious to water, noncorrosive, permitting no passage of moisture in any degree into or through the material.
